Tillamook Beaches Are Popular With Salem Vacationists

Rockaway, Or., July 7.—(Special.)—The three-day celebration of independence day at Rockaway, which drew hundreds of people to the coast town and neighboring points on the Tillamook beaches also proved a drawing card to several groups of Salem people. Perhaps the feature of the celebration which was the most enjoyed, was a huge clam bake on the beach at Rockaway park, at noon of the fourth, when over a thousand people were served with the delicious sea food.

Among the people who were on the beach to witness the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Robinson and daughters, the Misses Loreta, Melba and Lolita Robinson, who were guests of Mrs. Robinson's daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Robinson of Salem, who with her two daughters, Doris, one of the most popular young misses on the beach, are installed in Heppner cottage of the Russell group for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. James Albert, of 562 Mill street, are sojourning for the month at Rockaway.

Guests for this week at the Heppner cottage are: Mrs. N. I. Fout and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Patterson of Portland, who are visiting their sister and daughter, Mrs. C. A. Robinson of Salem.

Mrs. B. R. Patton of Raleigh, Oregon, in enjoying two weeks at her cottage Koppet Mammoth in Elmore park.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Dehally of Salem are registered at the Elmore hotel and will spend a week's vacation in Rockaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Brien of Sheridan were Rockaway visitors over the week-end of the fourth. While at the beach they were registered at the Elmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Booth and children of Salem enjoyed an outing at Rockaway over the fourth. Guests of Noa Noa cottage over the week-end were Miss Constance Cartwright, Miss Evelyn Probert, Brazier Small and James McCalland of Salem, who motored down.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Humphrey and family, who are touring the Tillamook beaches by motor, spent a couple of days at Elmore park camp grounds.

Miss Nina Stallcope of Yamhill was awarded first prize, consisting of a handsome wool bathing suit, as the best entry out of 30, in the bathing beauty parade on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Jones of Newberg and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones of Whiteson are camping at Rockaway.

Three Pay With Lives. Three men have now paid for the murder of Sheriff Taylor with their lives, and two others are serving life terms in the penitentiary. Neil Hart, who confessed to having fired the shot which killed Sheriff Taylor, was hanged here November 5, 1920. Floyd L. Henderson and Irving L. Stoop are the two men serving life terms.

The two men executed this morning were first sentenced to be hanged on December 5, 1920, but a stay of execution was had when an appeal was taken to the supreme court from the decree of the trial court. The supreme court sustained the decree of the lower court and Rathie and Kirby were sentenced to hang on December 2, 1921. Habeas corpus action filed by attorneys for the condemned men won a reprieve of thirty days pending action on the proceedings by the supreme court, from Governor Elliott, and the reprieve was extended to today when the supreme court failed to decide the habeas corpus action within the thirty days.

Long Fight in Vain. Denial of the habeas corpus proceedings, a futile attempt of attorneys for Kirby to carry the case to the federal supreme court, and the denial yesterday by Federal Judge Wolverton in Portland of a petition for an injunction to halt the execution were other chapters in the two-year fight of Rathie and Kirby for their lives, a fight which challenged the constitutionality of the Oregon capital punishment law and failed.
