Organized in 1900.

The Willamette Valley Prune association was organized in Salem in 1900. It was born out of a real necessity which existed at that time, a condition so serious that there was a grave question whether the prune industry would survive or would die for the lack of a market for the finished product," states H. S. Gile, one of the organizers. "During the 22 years which have elapsed this association which is a semi-cooperative association has gone quietly and steadily forward transacting its business in a business-like manner from the first year, aiming to put out a pack equal in appearance and quality to any other pack put up in any part of the wide world."

"This association," continued Mr. Gile, "has built up a world-wide line of customers and has and is consistently doing a certain amount of advertising each year. It may safely be said that no other concern in the northwest has done so much to standardize and to develop this great industry. Any person who grows dried fruit who desires to become affiliated must first secure at least one share of the company's common stock."

Stock Good Investment.

"This stock in itself has been a good investment and is not very easily obtained, but possessing a share of stock he may then have the privilege of entering the association to dried fruit pool which is usually formed during the months of January and February, and so long as he remains a stockholder he has the privilege of determining during these two months in any year whether he choose to pool his prunes or not. Under the terms of his contract if he desires financial assistance he is financed to the extent of 75 per cent of the estimated value of his crop as soon as it is delivered. The balance is paid as rapidly as possible under the direction of a board of directors."

Wallowa County Real Vacation Paradise Is Zimmerman's Report

By Fred Zimmerman

Tucked away in the most northerly part of the state lies one of the most beautiful counties of the west—Wallowa.

For rugged, picturesque mountains, sky-blue lakes, high rolling plateaus, deep rugged canyons, and park-like yellow pine forests, Wallowa has no equal in the opinion of the writer who has just completed a two weeks' stay in this wonderful land of the northwest.

The surprise of it all is that more people have not visited this vacation land supreme. Perhaps it is on account of the supposed inaccessibility of the region, or lack of advertising on the part of the prosperous residents of the district.

Easy of Access

As a matter of fact Wallowa county is easily reached, either by the Union Pacific railroad or by a highway that by next year will be nearly as easily traversed as the Pacific highway. At the present time construction crews are busily at work reducing the stiff climbs and smoothing the roads into a state of near perfection.

It is advisable to go as soon as possible, for when the possibilities of the region become known, there's going to be a rush.

Both the Grand Ronde and Wallowa valleys, which are traveled on a trip into the lake region, are veritable paradises of large irrigated farms. Huge fields of grain and alfalfa with fat herds of cattle are to be seen on every hand.

Good hotel accommodations may be had at Enterprise, the county seat of Wallowa county or at Wallowa lake. Enterprise is a bustling little city with substantial business and public blocks and well kept homes.

Side Trips Many

A variety of trips can be arranged at Wallowa lake. A string of pack and saddle animals can be procured for a trip of from one day or two weeks into the high mountain meadows and lakes.

There are something like 64 lakes in the Wallowa mountain region and a great number of them are stocked with fish. The elevation of Wallowa lake is around 4200 feet and the surrounding mountains run up to an altitude of close to ten thousand feet.

A hiking trip to Aneroid lake, or Ice lake may be made in one day and a climb to the summit of Aneroid peak or Pete's peak thrown in for good measure. From the summit of either of these granite peaks one has a view that is seldom equalled. But it isn't advisable for those who are inclined to be light headed at high altitudes to climb the peaks for most of them are rough and precipitous. They are covered with snow the year around and make a lovely picture with the numerous lakes nestling around them. One can fish in Aneroid lake and place his catch in cold storage in a fifteen foot thick snow bank near at hand.

Canyon Trips Interesting

Tiring of mountain climbing and lake fishing one can take an automobile ride of 35 miles across a high rolling plateau, barren of trees and with an occasional corral or

Gen. Dickman Heads "Plucking Board"

Major-General Joseph A. Dickman, retired, who commanded the American Third Field Army in France, is head of the Board of General Officers convened to supervise the reduction in the number of officers, 1,700 of whom must be dropped to conform to the order of Congress reducing the size of the army.

deserted homesteaders cabin breaking the monotony of the long distances. From this plateau there is a road that drops 3000 feet in nine miles into the Imnaha canyon. Here are raised apricots, peaches, watermelons and other fruits that cannot be raised in the country "above." They say a few rattlesnakes are raised too, but we failed to see any.

The Snake river canyon can be easily reached in three or four hours from Enterprise and for thrills it can hardly be surpassed by the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

By standing on a point above where the Imnaha flows into the Snake one has a fine view of the Snake canyon and although approximately a mile above the bed of the river it is visible in several places. From this point also can be seen the Seven Devils range of Idaho and the Salmon river and Imnaha canyons.

Nights are Cool

Paralleling the Snake canyon for about forty miles and to a depth of fifteen miles lies a stand of yellow pine timber that to one who has never seen anything of the kind, its well worth a long trip to see. There is scarcely any underbrush and the woods has the appearance of a well kept park. An occasional deer or elk is to be seen in the more heavily timbered canyons and the grouse walk about like chickens. (That is before the season opens.)

Innumerable other trips may be arranged.

The summer days are clear and warm with cool nights. There is an abundance of fine water, the temperature of which seldom rises above 50 degrees.

Next summer instead of going to Rainier, Yellowstone or Yosemite see some of Oregon. Oregon can duplicate or surpass almost anything in the line of scenery that is to be found in the United States. And go to Wallowa county and sit on the Devil's Roost at McClelland's Half Acre. Visit Charles Seeber at Aneroid lake. He will show you where the big trout are and serve you a fine meal, even if he does wear his hat at the breakfast table.

PLAY GROUND DEVELOPS EXCELLENT SWIMMERS

J. Fred McGrew is developing some excellent swimmers at the children playground swimming pool. He is holding three or four athletic events each day and is giving the boys and girls a chance to participate. Yesterday there were swimming under water for distance contests and diving contests. Today there will be diving contests and a bicycle race around the quarter-mile track.

The results of yesterday's contests were as follows:

Swim under water for distance—First, Floyd Daugherty; 2d, Paul Lewis; 3d, Bill East. Daugherty was stopped because he bumped into the dam and could not go any farther.

Straight dive for distance—First, Floyd Daugherty; 2d, Bob Needham; 3d, Paul Lewis.

Back dive from springboard—First, Bill East; 2d, Dorothy Hutchason; 3d, Paul Lewis.

High dive from platform form—First, Bill East; 2d, Bob Needham; 3d, Dorothy Hutchason.

EFFORT TO END STRIKE MONDAY

Chicago, Aug. 5.—With a possible peace in sight in the coal strike, federal and state officials today were withholding action calculated to bring about a speedy resumption of production, but continued preparations for such a contingency should the projected settlement plans fail.

The meeting Monday in Cleveland, Ohio, of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and other union chiefs with representatives of coal operators in the central competitive fields was looked upon as the final independent peace effort of the warring factions. It was believed generally that should the Cleveland conference fail, President Harding would take some drastic action toward ending the tie up of mines.

MR. TRIGG SEEKS DIVORCE

Charging that his wife, Mary Trigg, deserted him on July 29, of last year, P. H. Trigg has filed suit for divorce in the Marion county circuit court.

Mr. Trigg sets forth that he and his wife were married in 1918. They have no children.

We shall not grow enthusiastic until some statesman comes along with a scheme to make the world perfect without soaking the taxpayer.

S. D. Woodhuse, dancing master of Eugene, was fined $50 and his driver's license revoked for six months because of reckless driving on the city streets.

EXCLUSIVE NAHANT'S KICKS CAN'T STOP HIS CHARITY

MIKE DI CARLO'S GUESTS

When Mike Di Carlo made a fortune in his butcher shop at Lynn, Mass., he went over to exclusive Nahant and bought the fashionable residence shown in the lower picture. Then, Mike, having nothing of the selfish in his make up, he invited the poor of Lynn, regardless of creed, color or anything else, to be his guests and make merry in his home. They did, and the blue-bloods of the summer colony reported that his gatherings were disorderly. Mike was arrested and freed at once, with praise from the magistrate. The upper picture shows a wagonload of Lynn's poor on their way to Mike's home in Nahant.

Are You Properly Paid

for the time you spend at this?

Many housekeepers, right here in town, friends and neighbors of yours, are actually making wash-day pay them dividends by sending all their washing to us.

The time saved from washing is devoted by them to buying the week's household supplies at Monday's bargain prices. They have more time, too, for mending and sewing; for planning tasty but economical meals. They're finding a dozen new ways of saving, and, best of all, they're saving themselves—they haven't the dread of Blue Monday always before them.

Make this experiment in your home. Have us call for your bundle this week. We wash everything carefully; iron all the heavier pieces, fluff the bath towels, woollens and underwear ready for use, and leave to you the ironing of only the light pieces.

This service costs only a few cents a pound. Compare that cost with the value of your own time and the price you're paying now for fuel and supplies. Then phone us, and we'll have our representative call promptly.

The Penalty of Truth

The Publisher "wrote his own ticket"—he furnished his own figures to the advertiser before the Audit Bureau of Circulations was organized. Most publishers gave accurate data, but few who exaggerated their circulation put a penalty on Truth. The truthful publisher many times suffered because his actual circulation was less than a competitor's "claims."

Publishers themselves are the strongest supporters of the association formed to correct this evil. The Audit Bureau of Circulations is the only organization which verifies and authenticates the figures submitted by publishers. It was formed exclusively for that purpose, and the "A. B. C. Sterling Mark of Circulation" is the one seal of certainty standing for Above Board Circulation.

In placing your advertising, demand A. B. C. reports. They are now furnished by over 80 percent of all newspapers in the United States having a circulation of 5,000. This fact is evidence of the reliability and established standing of the A. B. C. in the business world.

Unsupported circulation claims cannot take the place of A. B. C. verified figures. No agency except the Audit Bureau of Circulations attempts to issue authenticated reports on circulation information.

You can procure a copy of the latest A. B. C. report on the Capital Journal at any time
