

NEW PEACE MOVE TO END RAIL STRIKE

Threats of Big Four Stir President to Action—Congress Takes a Hand—Jewell is Summoned.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(By Associated Press.)—New peace conferences were pending in Washington today in connection with the six weeks' old shop walkout, while new strike threats came from maintenance of way men and other union workers and a conference with President Harding concerning the situation was sought by the big four brotherhoods.

Congress indirectly came into the negotiations, eastern railroads sent detachments of shop workers to the relief of roads in coal mining districts in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky and outbreaks of violence were reported from new points.

Jewell at Capital.

B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor, the shop crafts leader, was in Washington, where he was summoned by President Harding. Union chiefs here looked upon Mr. Jewell's presence at the capital as indicative of further settlement parleys. Officials of the southern railway and representatives of its shopmen were in Washington to confer on a possible separate peace.

William Roberts, vice-president of the maintenance men's union, and E. L. Enke, member of the brotherhood executive board, telegraphed President E. F. Grabill last night recommending a sympathetic strike.

A bill introduced in the United States senate by Senator Spencer of Missouri would establish a new federal court of conciliation for settlement of disputes between employers and employes.

Not Effectuated Food.

A statement by the federal department of agriculture yesterday said that the railroad strike had not affected shipment of perishable food supplies. Shipments of 14 leading fruits and vegetables were nearly 30,000 cars ahead of last season, the report added.

In asking their legislative representatives in Washington to arrange a conference with President Harding, the heads of three of the big four brotherhoods said dangers of their occupation were increasing because of the strike to such an extent they feared a continuation of these conditions would result in their unions being drawn into the controversy.

REBUILT LUMBER PLANT OPENS AT SPRING VALLEY

Dallas, Or., Aug. 5.—With a crew of 5 men the planning mill of the Foster Lumber company has started operations. This mill is located at Spring Valley and was destroyed by fire some time ago, and since then the work of reconstruction has been rushed as fast as possible. The work was started on the new plant July 6. The plant is equipped with three fast feed American machines, a resaw and edger and will have a running capacity of 150,000 feet per day. The new plant is located on the site of the old one, the only part of the old equipment that was not destroyed by the fire being the three boilers. One of these boilers is being used in the new planning mill. At present the Foster Lumber company has about 19,000,000 feet of lumber in the yard and shipments to the east will be started at once.

It is probable that the sawmill will be rebuilt, although the company has not as yet made any definite announcement to that effect. The company has a large amount of timber near the mill and in all likelihood the new mill will be built near the old one.

WOMAN "ROBIN HOOD" SENTENCED BY COURT

Bodapest—If Robin Hood reappeared on earth today he would be sent to a sanitarium. This Robin Hood was a girl, daughter of a wealthy family impoverished by the war, she stole from the rich and gave to the poor. They call her "Angel of the Slums." Under various names, she obtained employment as servant in the homes of rich but stingy families. There she fished valuables, sold them and gave the proceeds to needy friends. "My conscience was numbed by the misery I saw," she told the Magistrate, who committed her to an institution for nervous cases.

The Capital National Bank

"A Friendly Bank"

FARM MORTGAGE BANKING

The term "mortgage banker", as distinct from "broker" or "dealer", is deserving of special recognition and definition, because it denotes an established and important business function of distinct characteristics. The mortgage bankers of today conduct all of the operations of real estate financing, from the origin of the application for a loan to the final collection of the investment in behalf of the investor, at the maturity of the loan. As service of this character may extend over a period of several years, and involves the expert appraisal of the security and negotiation of the loan in the first instance, complete care of the investment throughout its term—including the collection of interest, the checking of taxes and insurance and watchful care of the security in general—and also involves, in the last stage, the final collection of the money due the investor and the placing of it in his hands, no investment banking business in the country assumes greater responsibility in behalf of its clients than does the mortgage banking business. Real estate mortgages not carrying such service are very likely to be inconvenient, not to say unsafe investments, whereas, accompanied by such service, real estate mortgages have an unrivaled record for safety and convenience. Since more brokers or dealers, who assume no responsibility while the loan is outstanding, are not in any sense mortgage bankers, the distinction should be clearly made, and the functions of the mortgage banker should be clearly understood by investors and borrowers, in order that they may avail themselves of this most valuable service.
