

JACKSON COUNTY WINS FIRST PLACE AT STATE FAIR

Jackson county carried off first honors in the state-wide competition in the agricultural pavilion at the state fair this year with a total of 1014 out of a possible 1100 points, according to announcement of the judges Tuesday night.

Jackson county's high score was made on a combination of the excellence of her products with the general representative character of the exhibits.

Polk county was awarded second place, with a score of 984. Tillamook county third, with a score of 967, and Benton fourth, with 943.

Other counties scored as follows:

Columbia, 968.2; Sherman, 592; Clackamas, 875; Washington, 875; Douglas, 794; Wasco, 688.5; Yamhill, 657; Malheur, 360.5.

Pears are Featured.

Jackson's display featured pears in a number of popular varieties. Tillamook featured cheese and other dairy products, while Polk and Benton counties featured grains, combined with products of the garden and orchard.

Judging of the agricultural exhibits was in charge of G. R. Hyslop, chief of farm crops at the Oregon Agricultural college; Clayton Long, horticultural extension specialist, and Professor E. B. Flitts, federal and college field representative in dairying.

Hans Rebb of Salem cleaned up with four firsts in the bee exhibit, winning blue ribbons in extracted honey, in beeswax and in vinegar. The comb honey honors were won by J. Scorbio of Hermiston, whose exhibit included a solid ton of comb and extract honey.

A meeting of the Oregon Beekeepers' association is to be held in the new auditorium at the fair grounds this morning with the annual meeting of the association for the election of officers scheduled for Portland, November 17 and 18.

Club Entries Featured.

The boys' and girls' club entries in the stock departments occupied a prominent place in Tuesday's judging program. Judges of the calf classes stated that they had never seen or placed better classes of animals exhibited by club members in any state of the union. The exhibit of club calves was double that of 1921 and the entries were exceptionally well fitted, a number placing in the open classes in competition with the entries of the adult exhibitors.

In the Jersey class alone 21 animals were exhibited. J. E. Reynolds of the state fair board doubled the prize awards being offered in the prize class and 15 rewards were made.

First honors in the various classes and divisions were announced as follows:

Jerseys—Division 1, Argie Ackley, Tillamook county; division 2, Mildred Glad, Tillamook county.

Guernseys—Division 1, Robert Williams; division 2, Earl Blackmore, Tillamook county.

Holsteins—Division 1, Ted McCarty, Linn county; division 2, John Fleming, Multnomah county; division 3, Percy Carlson, Multnomah county.

Guernseys—Division 1, Robert Williams; division 2, Earl Blackmore, Tillamook county.

Shorthorns—Division 4, Clair Cornutt, Linn county; division 5, Allen Gilkey, Linn county.

Shorthorns—Fat steer special, Karl anner, Linn county.

Sheep raising—Division 1, Mildard Shelton, Linn county; division 2, Dall Drinkard, Linn county; division 3, Eldon Fox, Marion county.

The machinery sheds with their displays of tractors, threshing outfits, plows, feed grinders and other necessary appurtenances to a well regulated modern farm drew their quota of visitors today, sharing honors in this respect with the stock barns, the agricultural pavilion and the educational building. In the educational building are housed the displays of various state institutions, including the schools for the deaf and blind, the state hospital, the school for feeble minded, the girls' industrial school and the training school for boys. The Oregon Agricultural college booth, also in this building, offers a number of interesting features which attracted visitors.

It is stated at Seaside that the Crown-Willamette camp south of that city will close about September 26 for an indefinite period.
