to bring callouses on the hands of those who heard him.

He lifted his voice when he denounced those who have sent Oregon taxes heavenward; it was lowered almost to a whisper when he spoke simply of "the soldier boys" who, through his help, had perhaps received some benefits. A hush came over the room when he mentioned little homes which he lost to those who have worked so hard to get them.

It was all very impressive. Then to the press.

It is, Mr. Pierce felt, the most potent factor in shaping public opinion and it ought to be more careful of what it says. If it ever loses its power, he warned, it will be because of its lack of authenticity. Abandoning, for the moment, generalities, Mr. Pierce explained that a great Portland paper had accused him of being against the state fair. His voiced boomed as he made the announcement, but in his next statement was pathetic.

"I never, never said it, friends," he confided. "Why—why, did this great paper say that?"

He paused, but nobody seemed to know the answer. At least no one explained.

"Whether I am governor or not, friends of the press, for God's sake try and interpret my words truthfully."

More applause. The applause business last night was carried on in no mean way. It was given frequently and in large quantities.

Mr. Pierce, wearing a frock coat, a black bow tie and a carnation in his left lapel, was introduced by Bert Moses of Ashland, "Sap and Salt" distributor. Mr. Moses last evening served as toastmaster and, during the banquet, possibly dispensed more sap than salt. He spoke with enthusiasm of Mr. Winburn and said many nice things of Mr. Pierce. Useless laws were scored and their elimination advocated. Then he introduced Mr. Pierce.

Cheers. Hand-clapping. Business of striking tables. The "plain old farmer" rose. A half-smile crossed his lips. His head was modestly bowed. A his-trionic note was struck in the pause which followed the cessation of cheering.

And Mr. Pierce began.

30 LIVES LOST IN FOREST FIRES NORTH ONTARIO

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 5.—Forest fire refugees who arrived here today from Haliburton reported that between 50 and 100 persons had been drowned when they were crowded from a dock where they were trying to board a rescue ship.

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 5.—Fear that upwards of thirty lives have been lost in the fire which is sweeping northern Ontario was expressed in the latest reports available from the affected area early today.

Soon after midnight George W. Lee, chairman of the Temiskaming and northern Ontario railway, issued this statement concerning the fire now raging in the north country:

"Over five thousand people have been rendered homeless. The loss of life is considerable and is mounting. The towns of Haliburton, 3500 people; North Cobalt, 1000; Charlton, 500, and Heaslip, 250, are totally destroyed and the town of Englehart has been partially destroyed. That part of New Liskeard west of the T. & N. O. tracks has been totally destroyed. "The situation at Cobalt is clear. There is a small fire burning one mile away with a mild southwest wind blowing. Three trains with 24 cars containing 1400 refugees have left Cobalt for North Bay. Other trains are being prepared as rapidly as possible.

"The property loss will obviously run into millions of dollars. The fire is still burning briskly, fanned by a subsiding wind. There is no prospect of rain and the fire will have to burn itself out."

STUDENTS LIST GRIEVANCES WITH SILVERTON BOARD

A statement of the actual facts concerning the recent orders of the Silverton school board were brought to The Journal office last evening by two young men representing the student body of the high school. The facts which form the basis of their grievance may be summed up as follows:

(1) The board has forbidden the collection of money on the school grounds for any purpose or from any source whatsoever;
(2) They have forbidden the use of lights in the gym for athletics;
(3) They have reduced the teaching force by two;
(4) They have cut out a number of subjects and plan to cut out all commercial courses, domestic science and art and manual training next year.

While not expressly forbidding the organization of the student body, the decree forbidding the collection of funds has rendered that body inactive for its means:

The discontinuance of the student body, as it is impossible to carry on their activities without funds;
No more athletics, because admission cannot be charged to games, and athletics cost money;
No more dramatics, because expenses, ever so small, cannot be met;

BANQUET WINBURN

Mr. Pierce denied that he had any intention, if elected governor, of placing the state institution on a starvation basis.

Citing the increase in the cost of state government from $1,000,000 in 1901 to $15,000,000 in 1922, Mr. Pierce declared his first act as governor would be to weed out some of the hundreds of state employees "who issue from the capital building at noon each day to eat their unearned lunch, and make them go to work."

First attacking the auto tax method of funding the state road bonds as a burden ultimately descending upon the shoulders of the ultimate consumer, Mr. Pierce endorsed the Minnesota system of levying a 5 per cent tax on gross earnings of all public utilities, which is, in turn, passed on to the ultimate consumer directly. He said that while he did not begrudge the money spent for Oregon's splendid system of highways, he wished that they might have been paid for as built and that a larger portion of the bond money might have been actually spent on the roads. However, he expressed his undying faith in the market roads bonding act, of which he was a joint author.

Position Is Set Forth.
Briefly, Mr. Pierce declared himself on other points as follows: Opposed to removing or modifying the present license tax on automobiles.

Favors graduated income tax, but will vote against flat tax proposal to be presented to voters in November.

In favor of general reduction of taxes.

Deviating from his previous policy of specifying the methods of retrenchment he proposed to practice, Mr. Pierce declined last night to state how he would cut taxes.

"I can see how we could curtail state expenses, but I am not going to specify how," he said.

Sam Garland of Lebanon spoke earlier in the evening, admitted that most of the tax burden had been voted by the people and not the legislature, while Senator Hunt asserted that the governor's control over taxation was negative rather than positive—that his only means of keeping taxes down was to veto additional tax measures passed by the legislators.

In explaining his desertion of the Grand Old Party, Senator Hunt also confessed that it was Charles Hall, the Ku Klux klan-didate, who injected the religious issue into the campaign.

Last night's gathering was highly cosmopolitan, with everyone present from Ku Kluxers to Catholics. Those present were: Bert Moses, Ashland; Dr. C. J. Smith, chairman of the state democratic central committee; Dr. J. W. Morrow, national democratic committeeman; Mrs. M. R. Belt, vice-chairman of the central committee; G. Y. Harry, Alex Sweek, Senator J. R. Hunt, C. C. Donagh, secretary of the Pierce-for-governor club at Portland; Charles W. Garland, representing the progressive party; Mrs. C. R. Wilson, Mrs. Lillie Harding, Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, W. C. Kaley of the Oregon Voter, Richard Shepard, Will Moore, J. R. Thompson, Edward J. Wirth, George Watson, George I. Smith, Mrs. E. J. Wood, Mrs. Bertha M. Cook, Fred Vogler, A. F. Flegel Sr., and Ed Wolf, all of Portland; Judge F. L. Tou Vette of Medford, Senator Sam Garland, H. Y. Kirkpatrick, Hugh Kirkpatrick, Byron Millsap and George Cruzon, all of Lebanon; Ben Dorris, W.
