People of Oregon Really On Trial
In Coming Election

(Continued from Oregon Pioneers.)

More and more people are under the illusion that the trial of the candidates is at the coming election.
They are under the illusion that it is the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the very heart of our political life. It is a matter of the future of our state and of the country.

The candidates are the leaders of the people, and they are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.

This is a serious matter, for it is at the
very heart of our political life. It is a matter of
the future of our state and of
the country.

The candidates are the
leaders of the people, and they
are under the illusion that it is
the election itself which is the trial.