Class Has Hallowe'en Afternoon

A faint yellow light and a few flickering candles reflected the outlines of black cats, witches, owls and weird shapes of no distinguishable character, about the rooms of the T. W. Davies home Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Davies was hostess to a Hallowe'en party.

Clever were the decorations, and clever and enjoyable was the following program planned for the afternoon by Mrs. O. B. Neptune:

Delegates Chosen For Federation

Delegates have been elected, committees appointed, the program planned and announced, and all is ready for the meeting of the county federation of woman's clubs which will meet in the first Christian church beginning at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning. Mrs. W. E. Kirk, president of the county federation is very anxious now that the women of Salem attend the all day session and help to make this club gathering a decided success.

An unusually interesting program has been planned with musical numbers and talks as announced and then there will be a business session which will be of interest to all women who are active in club work. The federation meeting in the spring was held in Aurora where Mrs. W. E. Kirk was elected president, Mrs. H. B. Latham, Silverton, vice president; Mrs. J. G. Fontaine, Jefferson, secretary; Mrs. Hiram Overton, Woodburn, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Currie, Willard, auditor; Mrs. J. W. Sadler, Aurora and Mrs. Scholz, Shaw, directors. It was at this meeting which was very pleasantly spent that it was decided to have the October meeting in Salem.

It is expected that there will be a large number of delegates from out of town, with an unusually large number of women from here in attendance. Great interest is being shown in this meeting thru the activities of the clubs here in furthering the plans for it.

Eleven clubs from the Marion County Federation and each are entitled to five delegates. The clubs included are Hubbard, Shaw, Silverton, Woodburn, Woodburn Rural, Aurora, Jefferson, Willard, Salem Heights, Etokta and Salem Woman's club.

Delegates from the Salem Woman's club chosen at the last meeting are Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. W. C. Dibble, Mrs. La Moine Clark and Mrs. N. C. Kafoury.

Etokta delegates to the fall meeting are Mrs. R. C. Arpke, Mrs. Alfred Vick, Mrs. P. N. Toothacre, Mrs. F. W. Fargo and Mrs. Guy O. Smith.

Salem Heights club delegates are Mrs. B. F. Helkes, president; Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Charles Lawyer, Mrs. A. M. Chapman and Mrs. J. Bartlett.

The Woman's republican study class will meet Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bishop. George Brown will explain the amendments to the constitution which will be voted on at the election in November. The meeting will be very instructive for the women and it is hoped that a large number attend the Monday afternoon meeting.

Lindsay To Be Here Next Week

Word was received yesterday that Vachel Lindsay, celebrated American poet, who was to come to Salem sometime in November, would appear here Friday of next week, this change being brought about by alterations in the poet's itinerary. Mr. Lindsay, who will read from his own works, will be presented by the Salem Arts League, in cooperation with a committee from Willamette university.

The evening of readings will be held in Waller hall, which has a seating capacity of five hundred, and which, owing to the tremendous popularity and wide fame of the poet, is expected to be taxed to the fullest extent.

"I am particularly happy to have the Salem Arts League identified with the movement to bring Vachel Lindsay to Salem," said Mrs. John Wallace Harbison, president of the organization. "From inquiries that have already come in about him, and because of the general interest shown, I am certain that his appearance here will prove one of the most popular offerings of the winter season."

"The Arts League makes it a point to veer from things of a musical character, leaving that activity for various individuals and musical clubs. It is the aim of the league, to be representative of every other art, and as an exponent of modern verse Lindsay has no peer."

Several Salem folk have had the privilege of hearing Mr. Lindsay elsewhere, and they are particularly pleased to have a second opportunity offered. They describe him as reading his lines with a chanting accent that gives a new and virile flavor to his works. He reads as no one else.

"The Congo" is Mr. Lindsay's most popular book, with his "Chinese Nightingale" his most famous individual poem.

Tickets will be on sale the first of the week, and may be procurable from any member of the league or at some of the downtown places of business, the names of which will be announced later.

The Past Noble Grand's association met Tuesday for a delightful social afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hattie Cameron, with joint hostesses, Mrs. Alma Henderson, Mrs. Mary Lickie. It was decided to have the next meeting November 21 at the home of Gertrude Cummings. Those enjoying the afternoon were: Miss Ethel Fletcher, Miss Bennie Hammer, Mrs. Jennie Yates, Mrs. Carrie Chaffee, Mrs. Gertrude Cummings, Mrs. Lena Peoples, Mrs. Hattie Patterson, Mrs. Ida Traglio, Mrs. Sally Curtis, Mrs. Pearl Nicholas, Mrs. Luella Engstrom, Mrs. Myra Reed, Mrs. Etta Hodge, Mrs. Minnie Grege, Mrs. Sarah Hutton, Mrs. Elsie Townsend, Mrs. Alma Henderson, Mrs. Hattie Cameron, Mrs. Mary Lickie.

The women of the A. A. O. U. met this noon for luncheon together at the Pied Piper tea room and are this afternoon having a business meeting with the idea of further perfecting the organization and putting it on a working basis. Qualifications have already been explained in regard to membership which include either college graduates or ex-students.

After this meeting which in a way is a beginning, at least of the winter activities more will be heard of the organization in a social and business way.

Salem Boy Teaches In University

Salem friends of Elmer Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Young, 925 north Twenty-first street, are rejoicing with him in the good fortune of his recent appointment as an art instructor in the University of Minnesota. This position, which carries with it a splendid salary, was accepted by Mr. Young the latter part of September.

Up until that time Mr. Young had made his headquarters in Chicago, where he went about eight years ago to take up his chosen line of work. Entering the Art Institute of that city, he applied himself for four years, and then branched out into independent study and production. A notable bit of work during this latter period, included magazine illustration, Wayside Tales, securing him for a series of six issues.

Each year, since his departure for Chicago, Mr. Young has been represented in the art display at the Oregon state fair, his work attracting the most enthusiastic commendation of critics. The Salem Arts League has also made one exhibit of his pictures. His mediums are oils, water colors, charcoal and India ink.

Local art lovers remember one of his first artistic attempts—a tiny canvas that hung in the art department out at the state fair about ten years ago. Simple, in line and composition, by this very simplicity and bold and original handling of colors, it at once arrested attention and inspired a good bit of discussion on the part of those who knew and appreciated things artistic. Even at that early date a future was predicted by friends of the young boy—predictions that have since proven accurate.

Altogether Mr. Young has about twenty four hours' work at the university each week. "Monday, Wednesday and Friday," he writes. "I have a class of freshmen. This class is called the freshman frehand drawing, and there are about forty in each division. Then on Tuesday and Saturdays I have a class of sophomores. This is a water color class, with an enrollment of about forty students."

The University of Minnesota is located in Minneapolis, and his life there promises to be most pleasant for Mr. Young, some of his relatives living nearby, and two of his friends, former classmates at the Chicago Art Institute, teaching in the Minneapolis Institute of Art.

A paper on Anna Karina, given by Mrs. Phillip J. Kuntz was the literary subject taken up at the meeting of chapter G. P. E. O., this week in connection with their program for the study of contemporary writers during the winter, with Mrs. Ellen Miller and Mrs. Ella Moody as additional guests for the afternoon. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. William McElchrist. While several plans were discussed and partially formulated, no definite new business was carried through.

The state board of the D. A. R. opened its meeting yesterday in The Dalles and will continue thru today. Mrs. U. G. Shipley, regent of the Chemeketa chapter, and Mrs. La Moine Clark and Mrs. Seymour Jones both chairmen of state committees are among the Salem women who are in attendance at the meetings.

PIMPLES OVER FACE AND SCALP

Itched and Burned. Lost Rest. Cuticura Heals.

"For about a year I was troubled with large, red pimples that were scattered over my face and scalp. They itched and burned, and my face was so badly disfigured that I was ashamed to go in company. My hair became very dry, and I lost half of it. At night I lost my rest on account of the irritation."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Duchin, 435 E. 83rd St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Thursday Club Has Afternoon

Mrs. B. C. Miles and Mrs. R. B. Fleming were joint hostesses for the Thursday afternoon club this week, at the Miles home. The rooms were very attractive in the favorite fall decorations of autumn leaves and flowers of a yellow hue, which provide such a gay background for the clubs and societies of the fall season.

The tea table was effective in its rich appointments and yellow decorations. Mrs. R. B. Fleming cut the ices and Mrs. C. P. Bishop poured during the tea hour. Special guests invited for the afternoon were Mrs. W. P. Lord and her house guest, Mrs. E. P. Murphy of Portland, formerly a resident of Salem, Mrs. B. E. Carrier and Mrs. W. G. Allen.

An additional pleasure during the afternoon were the three solos by thirteen year old Kenneth Allen, who appeared in the Whitney boys chorus in Portland last week when he received such a large ovation. Kenneth is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allen and a nephew of Mrs. B. C. Miles. While last week was Kenneth's first appearance he is now in great demand at social functions and musical affairs.
