Klan Appeal To Fanaticism

By Harry N. Crain
Throughout the latter part of the summer and through the fall and early winter of 1921 the Medford Klan was practically dormant. Meetings, some of them of the cow pasture variety around fiery crosses, were held from time to time, but interest lagged and a large part of the men who had signed up for membership with well never attended another meeting despite the efforts of their more enthusiastic brothers who went so far as to send out messengers to round them up on meeting nights.
Soon after its organization the Medford Klan got into the hands of a few radicals and their programs did not appeal to some of the sane members who had become Kluxers in the belief that the order was purely patriotic. At them the cow pasture sessions and their appeal and the growing sense of the organization for personal purposes was disgusting. Some of these men even went so far as to defy the Klansmen to make them attend meetings.
The revival of the Klan in Medford and its extension through Jackson county came simultaneously with the launching of the Ku Klux state wide political campaign in January of this year, was accomplished by stirring up the anti-Catholic sentiment and prejudices in the community to which the Kluxers always take refuge when all other methods of raising enthusiasm for the night

OREGON DEFEATS IDAHO STANFORD CRUSHES AGGIES

During the predictions of the Oregon football team today afternoon at Portland the thirteenth victory over the University of Idaho, this year won by Mathews, former Willamette mentor. The score was 20 to nothing, and to the tally of "Hal" Chapman, Oregon's star, is due the credit of a 100-yard victory.
The Oregon Agricultural college team, which at Corvallis, met up with the Stanford team, lost to the southerners by a score of six to nothing. O. A. C., outplayed by the tables in the first period, turned the tables in the second half and was unable to score.
Despite the defeat suffered by the Aggies Saturday, Salem men saw the contest expressed the view that this year's O. A. C. team is superior to that of 1921. They say that the Corvallis school is a potentially powerful machine and may cause considerable trouble for its rivals later in the season.

Participation of all Oregon National Guardsmen in the Armistice celebration to be staged in the cities in the state November 11 was ordered by Adjutant General White today. The various commanders have been asked to confer with the local National Guard in arranging for the celebration of guardsmen in parades and other features of the festivities.
National guard troops in Portland are required to wear steel helmets in public parades on Armistice day, the order sets out, a feature of these headpieces having been received recently from the states arsenal in San Francisco.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 29.—Some 500 spectators were permitted an outdoor initiation of the Ku Klux Klan in the Contra Costa county hills Saturday. They were allowed to witness the death of the organization.

USE APPLES, PLEA OF CLUB SPEAKER

There is an oversupply of apples in this vicinity. There is a car shortage. Therefore every man in Salem—every housewife in Salem—should buy and use as many apples as possible in order to assist the orchardist, according to Robert McNary of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association, who spoke at the Salem chamber of commerce today noon. He pointed out that Governor Olcott has requested the people of the state to assist in handling the apples.
Hal Wiggins, traffic man for the chamber, spoke for a few minutes concerning the proposed merger of the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific lines. He urged caution in making any move.
A dinner of unusual excellence was offered by John Rundberg, in charge of the chamber's social department. Pork, mashed potatoes, gravy, squash, pickles, olives, pumpkin pie, cheese, coffee and apples made up the menu. The apples were donated by the Roth company.

SCOUTING FOR ELEVENTH HOUR DOPE

BYRD, AIRCRAFT PROMOTER, NOT KNOWN LOCALLY

J. F. Byrd who, according to press dispatches, occupies the president's chair in the magnificent New York offices of the Aircraft Construction Transportation corporation, of Delaware, capitalized at $100,000,000, and who claims to be a former resident of Salem, is not known as far as could be learned today.
Mr. Byrd, talking from a background of mahogany, told newspapermen he formerly "bought and sold theaters in Salem, Oregon." Salem financiers and former theater men said today they had never had the pleasure of making Mr. Byrd's acquaintance.
According to dispatches, the backbone of the selling argument back in the hands of the salesman for the corporation is the assurance that the company, sometime—when it sells enough stock—will build and operate three monster airships, each 300 feet longer than the longest Zeppelin of record, to operate a passenger, mail and express carrying service between New York and Chicago.
Hal Patton, Salem stationer and pioneer theater man here, said this afternoon he was not acquainted with Mr. Byrd. Frank Bligh who, with his father, T. G. Bligh, has been in the theater business here for 14 years, did not know Mr. Byrd. Salem bankers also said they had no knowledge of the New Yorker.

Entire Village Thanks God For Plenteous Crops

New England, N. D., Oct. 30.—The wheels of time turned backward 300 years here yesterday when an entire village forgot the dizzy pace of the modern world and knelt as did their Puritan fathers to give thanks to the Divine favor that granted them a bountiful harvest.
For four years farmers of this community watched their crops wither and die. Last spring the community joined in a common prayer.
Pastors of the Catholic, Congregational and Lutheran churches led the thanksgiving services when 600 farmers and their households, who are not "too busy to believe in modern days in miracles" turned their faces upward in the old hymn of harvest and thanksgiving, "Come, ye thankful people."
The harvest of the last season has been the most bountiful in the history of this community.

He was accompanied by Fathers Beda, Barnabas and Anselm, the present Fathers Placidus, Maurus and Gall as seminarians, the professed Brother Theophil Wyrch and the present senior Brother Anthony Battig. The monastery was removed to Mount Angel in 1884.
The Benedictine Sisters came from Switzerland the same year and also established their residence at Gervais, where they remained until 1885 when they took up their residence at Mount Angel.

DESERTER SHOT IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE GUARDS

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 30.—Walter H. Samler, 32, today was granted his wish to be killed, and he carried with him to death a supposed secret crime. Samler was shot and instantly slain at Camp Lewis this morning when he attempted to escape from military guards. He was arrested here September 16 when two policemen were called to a field where he was sleeping. He put up a terrific fight with the officers and after he was subdued he asked them to kill him on the spot.
Samler was taken to jail, where he refused to confess the crime that he declared preyed on his mind. Ten days later he was charged with desertion from the army and sent to Camp Lewis. He was to have been brought back to the police station here today in the hope that further questioning would reveal the offense that led him to desert.
Samler was being conducted under guard from his breakfast table to the military stockade at camp when he made his break for liberty. He eluded his guards and sentries in the sentry houses about the camp were notified by telephone. Sergeant W. A. Coombs, Tenth field artillery, spied Samler running toward the woods. He called on the man to halt and upon refusal fired with his pistol. Though Samler was 160 paces distant, the bullet struck him in the head.
The customary military investigation will be held.

CITY MEASURES WILL BE ARGUED

Salem voters are to have an opportunity to hear discussions of the two city measures on which they will ballot November 7. At meetings to be held during the next four days the measures will be discussed by speakers to appear at local schools.
One of the measures provides that the city marshal shall be nominated by the mayor and elected by the council, rather than chosen by the people. The second one provides for the purchase of a triple combination fire truck which, city officials declare, is badly needed by the fire department.
Meetings are to be held at the Richmond school October 31; at the Highland school November 1; at the Englewood school November 2, and at the Lincoln school November 3. Mayor Halvorson, A. C. Barber, state fire marshal; Hal Patton, W. H. Dancy, Ralph Thompson and George Griffith will speak.

LOVE SPURNED MRS. CARLTON SHOT RECTOR

Havre, Mont., Oct. 30.—That Mrs. Margaret Carleton deliberately attempted to win the Rev. Leonard J. Christler, rector of St. Marks Episcopal church of this city, from his wife and that, failing, she shot the minister and then herself, is the belief of Bishop Frederick Faber, head of the diocese of Montana, according to a statement made by him today.
"I believe, as a result of the investigation I have made of the tragedy which occurred in the Christler home early Friday morning and after questioning those who know about it, that if this woman had been able to work her will on Mr. Christler he would be alive today, unfaithful to his wife but still living," the bishop's statement declared.
Regarding the investigation of accusations involving the names of Mr. Christler and Mrs. Carleton which he conducted a year and a half ago, Bishop Faber said:
"No formal charges were ever filed against Mr. Christler. Letters came to me containing statements detrimental to Mr. Christler's character. I came to Havre and insisted that the persons making the accusations present their testimony. When they learned that their evidence was to be taken down by a shorthand reporter, they would not testify.
"I set a second date for a later hearing when I could stay no longer in Havre for that purpose, the vestry of Mr. Christler's church fixed another date, but the testimony was never given.
"I found evidence which made me believe that the accusations were animosity on the part of the persons making them, due to activities of Mr. Christler which had nothing to do with Mrs. Carleton.
"Mr. Christler was a big man, physically and mentally, an outdoors man and he did many things in novel and unusual ways. He had many activities for the benefit of his fellow men which were outside ordinary church work and many people were to be found who were willing to find fault with him."
A closed incident.
So far as civic authorities in Havre are concerned, the double shooting is a closed case. The coroner's verdict has been brought in and Mrs. Carleton has left for Waterloo, N. Y., with her husband's body to bury him in his old home in Cayuga county.
A statement that the inquest over the bodies of Mr. Christler and Mrs. Carleton was not secret was made today by R. G. Lineberger, foreman of the jury.
"We only excluded the morbidly curious, who had no connection or interest in the case," he declared.

WOMAN WOULD CALL OFF CASE AGAINST H. STREET

After a jury had been drawn this morning for the case against Henry Street, charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Gertrude Fry, of Salem, Judge G. F. Uruah received a note from Mrs. Fry in which she requested that the case be dismissed. Mrs. Fry explained that she was "called out of town."
The street trial was to have been held this afternoon. The case will not be dismissed, Judge Uruah said.

THREE HUNTERS ARRESTED

Warrants charging three hunters with violating the game laws were sworn to this morning by Roy Bremner, deputy state game warden.
Otto Feldman and Conrad Riemsbeck were charged with the unlawful possession of native pheasants. They each pleaded guilty and were fined $25 and costs.
John Weix, charged with hunting game birds without a license, will be arraigned before Judge Uruah in the justice court Wednesday.

Klan To Raise $200,000 to Beat Tom Woolwine

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 29.—The Ku Klux Klan of southern California publicly initiated a large number of candidates in the hills near Montebello, 17 miles east of here, at midnight Saturday. Klansmen told inquiring newspapermen that there were two thousand candidates and ten thousand members present.
Thomas Lee Woolwine, now democratic candidate for governor of California and who as district attorney here recently prosecuted certain avowed Klansmen for various offenses, came in for attention at the meeting. A cash box was placed on a table, with a torch above it. Robert Klansmen stood nearby and called:
"Step up and take your crack at Woolwine. Two hundred thousand dollars to get Woolwine."
Witnesses said one coin box was filled and replaced by another.

PREACHER WHO ESCAPED JAIL AGAIN CAUGHT

McAlester, Okla., Oct. 30.—The Rev. C. J. Trotter, former pastor of the Halesville, Okla., Methodist church and financial secretary of Brooks institute at Hartsborne, who escaped from jail here last month while awaiting trial on a charge of embezzling church moneys and funds of institute has been arrested at Alameda, Cal., where he was working in the railroad shops under the name of Oscar Kinser, according to word received by authorities here today.
Alameda, Colo., Oct. 30.—Garbed in overalls and working as a day laborer in the railroad yards here, the Rev. C. J. Trotter, former pastor of the Halesville, Okla., Methodist church was arrested today on a charge of embezzling trial, admitted his identity and added that "others" were implicated in the case and that he was going to "spring a sensation" when he returned to Halesville.
"Some of the prominent and influential men in Halesville and Hartsborne know as much as I about this case," he said. "They are simply trying to make me the goat."
Rev. Mr. Trotter had been working here several days under the name of Oscar Kinser. Sheriff Benamster, who made the arrest, said he would hold the pastor in custody pending the arrival of a sheriff from Halesville. Rev. Trotter said he would not fight extradition.

CAR SHORTAGE IN NORTHWEST TO BE RELIEVED

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 30.—Relief for northwest shippers who have been handicapped by a car shortage is in sight and the situation will be greatly improved within ten days, according to J. M. Rapelle, vice-president of the Northern Pacific railway company, in charge of operation and maintenance, who is here today. The car shortage was not brought about by the shippers' strike, nor can its existence be blamed on the long deadlock between the company and its employees, Mr. Rapelle declared emphatically asserting that the situation arose because of a congestion of freight on eastern lines.
"We have the lowest number of bad order freight cars on our line today that we have had at any time in the last ten years," Mr. Rapelle said. "The reason that we have been unable to meet the demands of the shippers is that a large part of our cars are in the east, helping to move coal."
Informed that Senator Miles Poindexter and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis had appealed to Washington, D. C., in behalf of shippers of this state, Mr. Rapelle said this was unnecessary, as the railroads were doing everything possible to remedy the situation.

London, Oct. 30.—(By Associated Press.)—The triumphant forces of fascisti were ready today to take over the government of Italy, according to dispatches. Their leader, Dr. Benito Mussolini was to see the king and answer his call to create a new ministry to replace the Facta government, whose downfall was brought about by the growing tide of fascisti power and sympathy.
Outside the city thousands of Mussolini's black spired followers awaited the command that will send them marching with proud step of victorious army through the gates of Rome already gay with flags and bunting to celebrate their entry.
Communication lines to the Italian capital are reported in control of the fascisti.
No Alliances Wanted.
Mussolini declared "the fascisti must go into power without alliances with any other party but granting some portfolios outside the fascisti party."
The revolt against "the politicians" long ago begun by the fascisti, many of them vigorous young veterans of the world war, was crowned with success yesterday when King Victor Emmanuel greatly moved embraced Deputy Di Vecchio, one of the supreme auxiliary authorities of the fascisti, told him that he would get a government most suited to the new spirit pervading the country and then entrusted Mussolini with the task of forming a ministry.
In forming a new cabinet, Mussolini said he would retain to himself the portfolios of interior and foreign affairs and appoint General Thaon Di Revel, minister of finance, and include in the governing body the Catholic deputy, Cavazzoni, and the Liberal senator, Lusignol, now perfect of Milan, conferring the other portfolios upon fascisti.
