Author Is Featured Saturday

Miss Emma Lindsay-Squier, author of "The Wild Heart," "Adventures in Captivity," and "On Autumn Trails," series of animal stories that have appeared in Good Housekeeping Magazine, the former converted into book form, was a most appreciated visitor in Salem the latter part of the week. Coming with but a day's notice preceding her, the program for her entertainment was of necessity hurried. Arriving Saturday morning, she was motored about the city by Mrs. Louis Lachmund; at luncheon she was the guest of members of the Writer's section of the Salem Arts league, covers being laid around a table in the Rose room of the Spa for Miss Squier, Mrs. J. M. Clifford, Mrs. W. F. Fargo, Mrs. Byron F. Brunk, Mrs. Gertrude Robison Ross, Mrs. Edna L. Dally. Miss Squier was claimed as a dinner guest of Miss Julia Webster, preceding her talk in the evening in the lecture room of the Salem public library.

At the luncheon Miss Squier told of many things of interest concerning her work; of her debt of gratitude to Basil King, widely read author, who discovered her store of knowledge of the "wild heart," and her talent for writing a simple, delightful story. Miss Squier explained that all the tales recounted in her several series were founded upon an actual incident or experience; that the old woodman, who featured so conspicuously in "The Wild Heart," still lives in the Puget Sound country; that "brother," another character, was in reality her nephew, a son of Mrs. Etta Squier Seley, a former Salem resident, and also known to the literary world.

The children of the city were entertained by Miss Squier at two o'clock in the city library, and in her talk to adults in the evening, the author related the story of "Ski-gat, the Seagull," contributed the tragic tale of "Arnold, the Porcupine," which is to be published shortly, and also delighted the audience with the recital of incidents in the life of "Bill, the Elk," which story is likewise to be given to the public in the near future, one of a series that will be published in the collection known as "Brothers of the Sunset." This is the group of stories that Miss Squier will write this winter in Los Angeles, for which place she was leaving Saturday night, after completing a trip through the various national parks, where, with credentials from Good Housekeeping Magazine, she was escorted through the different sanctuaries of wild animals, there to learn at first hand the stories of bison, elk, bear and other frequenters of these government playgrounds.

Miss Squier demonstrated her versatility Saturday night, for she is a story teller of the highest rank, as well as an artist with the written word. Recounting story after story, she completely fascinated and captivated her listeners, weaving into her tales, tears and laughter, a subtle and delicate thread of suspense and her own naive personality.

"I came naturally by my love for animals," said Miss Squier, "for both my parents had the greatest sympathy with the wild things that inhabited the country about our home on Puget Sound. Often my father, going out to hunt quail, returned home with a flower, bit of moss or some unique natural formation, and the information that he had seen a covey of quail, but that they were so pretty, that somehow, he couldn't bring himself to shoot them." "My father," smiled Miss Squier, "was much like 'Mac' in my latest series."

It is the intention of Miss Squier to pass through Salem next March on her way to New York city. She has been secured to speak before the Salem Arts league at that time, and on the day following, will assist at the dedicatory ceremonies of the new J. K. Gill bookstore in Portland.

In a telegram just received, Mr. Armstrong, manager of Vachel Lindsay, says: "Vachel Lindsay is yours for November 27th." This means that the American poet, who was announced for October 27th, will come exactly one month later. Those who purchased tickets at the book stores or public library, are told to retain them, as they will be good at this later time.

In rooms weird with Halloween decorations and lighted only by flickering candle light the members of the Junior league of the First Methodist church enjoyed a real Halloween party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Eric Butler, Games and amusements suggestive of Halloween were played during the evening. Mrs. Butler was assisted in entertaining the young guests by Mrs. McIntyre, superintendent of the Junior league and Miss Genevieve Findley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stolz and children, Margaret and Richard, motored to Corvallis Saturday for the O. A. C.-Stanford football game.

The first Elk dance of the season will be November 8, Wednesday evening, and will start the dances which the Elks have every month. This first dance will probably be elaborate as an initial event. It is in charge of Ralph White, Roy Burton, Earl Anderson and Brazier Small.

The Story Telling section of the Salem Arts league will meet for the first time this fall Wednesday, November 1, at the library. Mrs. Susy Nicholson, chairman, will have charge of the meeting. Because this is the first one of the fall all members are especially urged to attend. Carl Gregg Doney is honorary president of the organization and Miss Lucille Crockett is secretary.

The War Mothers will hold a Halloween pumpkin pie sale tomorrow, beginning at 10 o'clock at Stiff's furniture store. The very best sort of Halloween food will be available and all War Mothers are expected to contribute.

The Three Links club met Friday afternoon in the I. O. O. F. hall for their regular meeting which this time was a Halloween party. The decorations were suggestive of Halloween and the afternoon was very pleasantly spent.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1858, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-purifiers and strength-givers ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.
