Knitted Fabrics Now For Children's Frocks

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

KNITTED fabrics are finding a new and delightful use in frocks for juniors this season, supplanting to a certain degree the wash materials that are generally considered synonymous with children's garments.

Navy jersey fashions the little frock at the left, which might be termed as a glorified middy style, for its long waist portion attached with a wide tuck to the straight plaited skirt carries the suggestion of a separate blouse.

Much of the interest of this costume is bound to center in the vestee, collar, and cuffs of bright red jersey, the gay colored peasant embroidery on the vestee perhaps proving the most fascinating note of all.

Knitted silk, a firmly-woven tricolette, was the selection made for the bloomer dress. Although little different in design from bloomer dresses that have been popular for some time, this little model achieves marked distinction in its color, a soft, medium green contrasted with bindings and underarm lacings of navy blue braid.

Traffic policemen in Washington, D. C., are forbidden to "bawl out" offending motorists.

AUTO ACCIDENTS SHOW INCREASE DESPITE LAWS

Chicago, Nov. 6—(By the Associated Press)—Despite the passage of numerous ordinances and the adoption of traffic regulations in the larger cities of the country in an effort to curb accidents from motor cars, reports from more than a dozen of the metropolitan cities of the middle-west show an increase in the number of accidents for the first six months of 1922, compared with the same period of 1921.

This increase has caused city officials to prescribe drastic rules in governing motor traffic in an endeavor to lessen danger in modern traveling. Several of the cities are shown to be waging war on the speeder, in many cases imprisonment being added to fines by municipal judges. Adoption of rules in turning at street intersections, elimination of glaring headlights and educational campaigns are other methods used in many cities in the campaign against accidents.

In Chicago in 1921, deaths attributed to motor accidents totalled 575 as compared with 475 in 1920. Non-fatal accidents totaled 8,657 in 1921 and 7,085 in 1920. During the first four months of 1922, non-fatal accidents totaled 2,533.

Forty-three persons were killed and 1,055 injured in automobile accidents in Cleveland from February 1, to August 1, 1922. To offset this, workhouse sentences have been imposed upon speeders and reckless drivers, no one under 18 years of age may drive a car and second offense for failure to have lights burning results in arrest, no matter what the circumstances.

To curb accidents in St. Louis, where sixty-two were killed during the first six months of this year and 1327 were injured, an educational campaign has been started, one-way traffic has been established in congested districts during business hours, automobiles must come to complete stop at all boulevards, must not pass a street car discharging passengers and must not exceed eight miles an hour in the congested districts and twenty miles in the residential districts.
