Dr. St. Pierre Is Married In Portland

The announcement of the wedding of Dr. Walter St. Pierre of Portland to Miss Marjorie McGuire of that place, which took place in the metropolis last Saturday evening, will be of much interest here where the bridegroom passed his boyhood. Attending the ceremony from here were his mother, Mrs. Ella K. St. Pierre, and his three sisters, Misses Ella, Mabel and Lucille St. Pierre.

Dr. St. Pierre is a graduate of the class of 1903 of the Salem high school; the class of 1912 of Willamette university, and later attended the medical school of the University of Chicago and Rush Medical college. Following the receiving of his degree he practiced for four years in California, being connected with the Los Angeles county hospital. Since that time he has been in Portland, where the young folk will make their home.

Concerning the wedding, which was a smart social function, the Portland Journal said:

Two little flower girls, Marjorie Cherry in dainty white net with French roses and Marlene Cherry in quaint pink taffeta frock, both carrying tiny colonial bouquets, escorted the bride, Miss Marjorie McGuire, at her wedding to Dr. Edward Walter St. Pierre, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGuire, Saturday evening. Gowned in a lovely creation of brocaded velvet on chiffon, her veil arranged from a Spanish comb fashioned from rare old lace, a family heirloom, the bride advanced to the improvised altar of rose and orchid chrysanthemums, with trailing smilax and palms as a background. Miss Dorothy McGuire, sister of the bride, wearing orchid chiffon with crystal trimming and carrying an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses, was maid of honor. Little Lane Monson, in black velvet suit, bore the ring. Dr. Harold Leonard Bowman officiated and Dr. Ralph St. Pierre attended his brother as best man.

Miss Theodora Stoppenbach played Lohengrin's wedding march, accompanied by the Thalia stringed orchestra. Mrs. Blanch Williams Segerstrom sang "Because" during the ceremony. The drawing room where the bridal ceremony took place was a mass of chrysanthemums in rose and orchid tones. Christmas decorations of holly and red berries were used in the receiving room and a color scheme of roses, lilies of the valley and palms in the dining room.

Receiving with the bridal party were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGuire and Mrs. Ella K. St. Pierre of Salem. At the refreshment table were Mesdames James D. Honeyman, T. N. Stoppenbach, Charles Monson, Charles Cherry, William Eldon Furnish, Gerald Bishop, Frank Loomis Beach and Harry Trowbridge. Mrs. Estes Sneedcor, Mrs. J. R. Coffee, Mrs. Robert McMurray and Miss Mary Blossom presided at the punch bowl. Assisting in serving were the Misses Lucille Mable, Ella St. Pierre, Leone McLaughlin, Margaret Hawkins, Myrtle Smith, Alice Wilhelm, Mary Long, Katharine Laidlaw, Henriette Weber and Louise Manning.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Samuel B. Monson of San Francisco, Mrs. Charles Cherry of Oakland, Mrs. Emma Macklin of Pasadena and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph St. Pierre of Anacortes, Wash.

Plans for the annual O. A. C. holiday dance are progressing most satisfactorily. Mrs. Louis Griffith, who heads the ticket selling committee, reporting a splendid interest. The affair will take place Saturday night, December the thirtieth, in Elite hall. Leo Spitzbart heads the general committee, and others serving with him are: Mrs. Ted Chambers, Miss Vivian Hargrove, Joe Chambers and Albert T. Anderson.

One hundred tickets have been printed, fifty couples being the capacity of the hall. This number is expected to be made up of former students living in Salem and members of the Salem club at O. A. C., for whom the party will be in the nature of a homecoming. The dance will take the place of the regular December meeting of the local club.

Miss Ethel Frazier, who is teaching in a school at Myrtle Point, is expected to arrive in Salem the latter part of the week and will be here until after the holidays with her mother, Mrs. P. L. Frazier.

As a surprise for one of their number, Mrs. J. M. Clifford, who is confined to her home with a broken foot, members of the Writers section of the Salem Arts league, call unannounced at the Clifford residence Tuesday night, holding their regular fortnightly meeting. An interesting feature of the gathering was the reading of personal letters received by members from editors.

"Among the original contributions offered were: A short story, "An Adventure in Lamereaux," in which members of the section collaborated; essays, "Real People," and "The Dictionary Habit," by Mrs. Blanche M. Jones; "Incompatible," a poem by Miss Audred Bunch, published in The Woman's Press; "Crater Lake," a poem by Miss Mina Harding; "Twin Flowers," a poem by Mrs. F. S. Barton, and several poems by Mrs. J. C. Nelson.

The next meeting of the section will be in two weeks, when members will assemble with Miss Harding.

Mrs. Ray L. Farmer told the Christmas story at the regular meeting of the story telling section of the Salem Arts league, held last night in the public library. Mrs. John Humphreys followed her with the Bible story. The next date of this group has been set for January the third, at which time ghost and mystery stories will be in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Albert, accompanied by their daughters, Mary Jane and Josephine, and Mrs. George F. Rodgers, who motored to California about two weeks ago are expected to arrive in Salem the latter part of next week. They planned to spend the holidays with a relative, Mrs. L. A. Patton, in Redlands, and to visit friends in San Francisco, Long Beach and other points along the route.

The Tri L club met at the Y. W. C. A. rooms Tuesday evening to make arrangements for the Christmas party to be held in the hall December 22, for the poor boys and girls. The evening was spent in sewing and later refreshments were served.
