$100,000 PAVING PROGRAM UNDER WAY AT DALLAS

Dallas, Or., March 13.—Authorization of the calling for bids on paving contracts amounting to approximately $100,000 and probably the largest municipal paving job to be undertaken in Oregon in 1924 will probably come before the Dallas city council next Monday. The project came before the council Monday night at an adjourned meeting, but action was deferred to allow City Attorney Hayter time to pass on the legality of proposals which the council wished to include in its specifications.

The project, as it now stands, will call for the construction of 75,662 square yards of paving in the city of Dallas. Of this amount 62,828 square yards will fall upon property owners, 14,503 upon the city as street intersections and 1261 square yards will be against the Southern Pacific railroad. It is possible that the total may be cut down to allow the city to keep within its means in building intersections and more may be added by petition of property owners in districts where cross streets are not on the paving program.

The cost, according to the estimate of Engineer Frank Semon, will run about $3.67 per front foot where a 40-foot pavement will be put in, and accordingly for narrow or wider pavement. This is based on an estimate of $1.55 per square yard unit price bid, which may be under or over the contract figure, depending upon the competition in the bidding.

Just at present the council is seeking a means of making the bidding attractive to as many contractors as possible. The size of the job is a big incentive, and if specifications can be drafted to place state high commission black-top paving and the patented "Warrentite" paving on a parity it is expected that keen competition will result.

The Warren people are understood to be willing to place a plant here and furnish their material to any bidder at a fixed price, and practically finance him through the job. But they probably will not do this if Warrentite is barred by specifications.

While members of the council did not express themselves as catering to Warren Brothers, they do feel that to eliminate them would be to eliminate many bidders who would be unable to finance a contract of this magnitude alone, and thus narrow the field to a few of the bigger contractors.

With state highway contracts very scarce, paving concerns are now turning to the cities, and it is expected that Dallas will probably reduce her paving bill very appreciably.

The contract will be advertised on the unit basis and if advisable after the work is underway more paving can be laid at a flat rate, or if the city funds are not sufficient to put in all the intersections, the paving area can be cut down.

SILVERTON SCHOOL TO ENTER NATIONAL MEET

Silverton, Or., March 13.—Silverton high school students will take part in the national oratorical contest announced Superintendent H. Goetz, Monday afternoon. All history and civic students will write short debates on the subjects given by the national oratorical committee. Elimination of contestants at Silverton will begin in about two weeks, stated John Watson, history teacher.

Superintendent Goetz was very enthusiastic about the plan. He expressed himself as hoping it would become an annual affair. He also said he wished the matter had been brought up in the fall of the year so that the students could be preparing the orations as part of their regular work. "Athletics," said Mr. Goetz, "are a fine thing and must by no means be thrown out of the schools. But athletics are not the only important activities. Personally, I believe that a great deal more time than is given at present should be devoted to orations and studies of the workings of our government."

STOLEN CAR IS RECOVERED

Dallas, Or., March 13.—George Wagoner of Falls City has reason to thank his luck, for that alone seems responsible for the recovery of his car which was stolen several weeks ago. This week Wagoner received word from Blaine, Washington, that it was being held there for him. Customs officials on the border became suspicious when a machine was left there for several hours and investigation revealed that it was the stolen Oregon car. Apparently whoever was driving it became frightened when the customs search was on and left it, going on into Canada on foot.

SALMON RIVER ROAD FAVORED

Dallas, Or., March 13.—The county court of Polk county seems disposed to view with favor the attempt to establish better communications with the Salmon river and Siletz bay country through the proposals to construct a road from New Grande Ronde to connect with the present road at the west of Leno Hill.

After taking up a report of road viewers filed March 1, the court authorized the county engineer to proceed with a survey of the most practical route.

The road is greatly desired, both by the residents of Lincoln county in a large area affected, and by Polk county people living in the country the new route will traverse. The viewers in their reports to the county court stated that the people will donate the land needed for the right of way and will also give help in the construction of the road.

BLOODED STOCK IS BUTCHERED BY TWO RUSTLERS

Dallas, Or., March 13.—Sam Barker of the Spring Valley district near Hopewell received a awful setback last week in his plans to take on some registered cattle, via the purloined call route. Sam had negotiated a deal for two calves, costing him around $100 each, and had them delivered to his place, but had not settled for them.

Friday a rumour was discovered in the pasture and on investigation two men were caught red-handed slaughtering the calves. They fled in a car and Barker gave pursuit. The fugitives threw a tire and escaped in the brush and a posse failed to locate them.

Barker stopped proceedings on registry of the calves and saved a few dollars each, and the hides. Sheriff Orr took the car into custody and is certain that he knows the identity of the ringleader of the rustlers. They have not yet been apprehended. The car was not paid for.
