DEMOCRATS TO PUT UP TICKET FOR LEGISLATURE

Regardless of the fact that no democratic candidates for nomination to the legislature submitted their filings with the county clerk that does not mean that the democrats of the county have given up the hope of seeing one or more members of their party grace seats in the lower house at the next session.

On the other hand they are busier than ever trying to line up someone to get into the game. Tentative plan is now to get the consent of some leading democrats to make the race and then tickets will be broadened before the primary to democratic voters urging them to write in the names of their choices for democratic nomination for the legislature. With the nominees lined up an effort will be made to put over a determined fight before the general election.

At the present time efforts are being made to interest S. H. Van Trump, county horticultural commissioner, J. W. Sailer, prominent top man of Aurora; August Hackstein, former postmaster of Salem; Joseph Keber, Mt. Angel banker, and others in getting their names on the ticket. The possibility is that only two democrats will be selected as possible nominees with the hope of lining them up on a single shooting plan in the general election, possibly edging in in that manner.

Following is the schedule which has been worked out between R. E. Boardman, physical director of the "Y," and Superintendent George W. Hug:

PINCHOT STATES LIQUOR QUESTION INFLUENCED VOTE

Philadelphia, April 21—The withdrawal of his support from Governor Pinchot for one of Pennsylvania's delegates at large to the republican national convention by Representative William S. Vare, a republican leader of this city and the governor's retort that the liquor question prompted the congressman's action have increased interest in tomorrow's primaries.

There is much speculation as to the effect Mr. Vare's opposition will have on the governor's candidacy.

The congressman announced he would support Ralph Beaver Strassburger, wealthy Norristown publisher, for delegate at large against the governor who is one of the seven slated candidates of the republican state organization.

participated in the party.

Mr. Hawkins, in presenting the situation, said that not only California, but the entire United States is threatened with a calamity, not because of the disease in itself, but because of the commercial disruption caused by the embargoes against California. He told of the barren condition of the California ranges and declared that if the state cannot remove its stock it must let them die. An embargo by the entire United States, he said, would not only spell the ruin of California but the ruin of the entire Pacific coast. Federal figures, he said, show that 90 per cent of the disease is carried by human beings, and he declared that federal authorities say it cannot be carried by the products of the soil. He denied that the true condition of affairs in California has not been suppressed.

Mr. McKevitt said that the entire situation in California is practically in the hands of the government. Mr. Lewis said that $2,300,000 worth of livestock had been killed, but that provision has been made where the livestock men are fairly well compensated for that loss, the government bearing half the expense.

moved and he said Seale knew this when he testified.

"I think it is an outrage," the speaker said. "I don't know what his motive is. If he had told the whole facts it would have entirely exonerated me."

F. M. Boucher, a former Justice Department agent, testified that during his employment, "there was always a supply of liquor in a safe in the chief's office," meaning the office of the chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. This liquor was always "given to people" he said.

"You mean Jess Smith?"
"Yes."
The witness said he had "escorted" the liquor to a safe in the chief's office, but did not know what person it was delivered to. As to other deliveries he referred the committee to "the boys who drove the cars," who made the deliveries.

Boucher said he had seen seized liquor "stored" in the chief's office, and the best of it "put in a safe" while the rest was taken to the basement.

"The delivery to the house on H street, Boucher said, was in 1921, "after the attorney general took office."
"How much was taken to Daugherty's house?" Chairman Brookhart inquired. "It was four or six quarts," Boucher said.

JUDGE JOHNS TO VISIT HERE SOON

Portland, April 21.—Judge Charles Johns of the supreme court of the Philippine islands and former member of the Oregon supreme court, is expected to reach Portland about May 1, en route to the Republican national convention at Cleveland.

"There is no country in the world where nature has done more and capital and labor less than in the Philippines," Judge Johns wrote to friends here recently. "There are nine members of this court, five Americans and four Filipinos, and with rare exception it is a court of last resort, and has final jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases, both state and federal. The court has immense power, and large responsibilities. There are no jury trials, and we are the exclusive judges of both in questions of law and fact, and in criminal cases can both raise or lower the penalty, and many times have invoked the death sentence, which requires the unanimous vote of the court."

"Nine months in the year I like the climate here as well or even better than in Portland."

"The Manila bay is a fine body of water, and the largest steamers afford come and go under their own power and almost any evening you can see 15 or 20 of them resting at peaceful anchor."
"The principal products are hemp and coconut, much of which is shipped direct to Portland. Strange as it may seem, I personally know of a boat that came here loaded with lumber from Portland which returned loaded with lumber from Manila."

REPRISALS VOTED FOR

Foreign Minister Matsui, and Marquis Saionji, one of Japan's two elder statesmen, and an open air mass meeting which protested against exclusion of Japanese from the United States were featured today in the Japanese-American immigration situation.

Marquis Saionji returned to Tokyo from Okitsu solely because of the political situation which has developed since the United States senate voted to bar persons ineligible to American citizenship from American soil.

Approximately 1000 persons attended today's meeting which was under the auspices of several patriotic organizations. Resolutions were passed urging the "Ras C" of the Japanese people, resolved to sacrifice everything if necessary.
