The state fair board will meet here Monday, and one proposal that will be taken up will be that of holding a mid-winter poultry show in the poultry pavilion at the state fair grounds. Proponents of the show held each year at Hubbard for Meador and Chickamaux county exhibitors are said to be anxious to have the show brought to the fair grounds because of the first class facilities there for the exhibit.

December was an unlucky month for bob-cats. Three hundred and sixty-eight were killed in various parts of the state, and at $3 each the state game commission was called upon to pay over $900 in bounties, according to vouchers passing through the secretary of state's office. This is believed to be a larger number of the cats than ever before were killed in a month's time. The most destructive hunter and trapper was J. W. Spencer, of Alfalfa, Oregon, operating in the eastern part of Crook county. Fifteen or 20 crows were killed during the month. The bounty on these animals is $25 a head.

Walter Wickman and George Rodgers, both 17, of 1217 and 1262 Arcade avenue, Albany, respectively, are held at the police station for investigation. They are suspected of attempting to run away from home. They were picked up by Officer Victor at the Southern Pacific depot.

COOLIDGE ASKED TO BARE FACTS ON GUN ELEVATIONS

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Coolidge was asked today by the Senate what protests had been made by foreign governments against elevation of guns on American battleships.

Without debate the Senate adopted a resolution of inquiry by Senator Gerry, democrat, Rhode Island, favorably reported only a few minutes before by the foreign relations committee.

It has been no secret that Great Britain has made representation regarding the gun elevation project, but Senator Gerry told his colleagues that all his efforts to get the complete facts had failed.

Once Congress appropriated money to make the elevations, but the question whether it violated the spirit of the arms treaty was raised and the Harding administration decided not to make the expenditure. The navy department now favors it.

PORTLAND SEEKS ROTARY SESSION

Efforts are being made to bring delegates of the Rotary clubs to Portland for the International Rotary convention next year, according to Frank Briggs of Portland, district governor of the Rotary club at its luncheon this noon.

If the convention is secured for Portland, it will bring many all over the United States and a number of foreign countries, according to Mr. Briggs.

A number of Rotary principles were given and explained by Mr. Briggs, who has been actively connected with the Rotary club for a number of years.

Work has been begun toward the publication of a book containing a history of the organization from its beginning, he said. "There are innumerable pamphlets sent out," said Mr. Briggs, "but they don't cost anything so probably aren't appreciated as they should be. If we have a book printed and charge a dollar for it, then you'll be more apt to read it."

About 25 members expressed their intention to go to Portland to attend a meeting to be held the night of Friday, January 15.

Sherman W. Dean, of the national building bureau of the Y. M. C. A., who is in Salem today, has a considerable reputation as a cowboy. He is the youngest member of the state cowboy's association of Colorado. He is a graduate of Colorado state college, and a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

A building permit was issued today by City Recorder Poulson to Lawrence Winfrey for the construction of a one-story dwelling at 1255 North 15th at a cost of $1,600.

George Griffith and John Bryant, the man whom Griffith is succeeding as deputy state treasurer, were seen just before noon today entering the Ladd & Bush bank loaded down like a couple of pack mules. Bryant, though he is not near as big as Griffith, had the biggest pack. Whatever it was the two men were carrying was crammed into sugar sacks. Inasmuch as they approached Lou Aldrich, assistant cashier, who was addressed by Griffith in a low tone of voice, after which Aldrich led them through the mysterious iron gates in the rear of the bank, still carrying the packs, it is suspected they were depositing securities from the state treasurer's office.

Announcement that an architect would be appointed this week for the new Salem Y. M. C. A. building was made this morning by C. A. Kells, Y. M. C. A. secretary. Sherman W. Before leaving the two men, locked the couple in a bedroom where two hours later Herman managed to free himself and notify police.

PREPARE BILLS FOR CLEAR LAKE WATER SCHEME

J. M. Devera and L. J. Liljogriat, assistants to Attorney General Van Winkle, are preparing bills for introduction in the legislature covering the proposed Clear Lake water project for Willamette valley towns.

One of the bills will propose an amendment to the water district law so that counties may cooperate for the distribution of water for domestic purposes. At present only towns can do this, but only towns in the same county.

The other bill will provide for the withdrawal of the upper McKenzie river from private filings. Co-operating with the state, Representative W. C. Hawley will introduce in Congress a bill to withdraw the land from private entry, the water from private filings and require the government to protect the watershed from contamination.

The reason for the introduction of bills both in the state legislature and the congress at Washington is that there is a question whether the state or the government has control of water in the federal forests.

The coming legislature will be asked to make a survey of the McKenzie watershed to determine the feasibility of a water and power project.

Senator George W. Joseph of Portland plans to introduce a water power bill in the legislature, and it is probable that some sort of co-operative effort will be made by him and those back of the McKenzie water distribution plan.

It is probable, however, that Joseph's measure will pertain exclusively to hydro-electric power, from the headwaters of the McKenzie. Since those at Washington of the water distribution scheme are also in favor of the power development they will work with Joseph.

SALEM TO MEET SILVERTON AND SCOTTS MILLS

The high school, state champions of last year, is a triangular contest with Scotts Mills and Silverton high schools, according to announcement made at the high school this morning.

If either of the opposing teams should withdraw, a dual debate will be held between Salem and the remaining school.

The question to be used in Salem District, which includes some 13 schools, is "Resolved, That a strong third party would promote the interest of good government in the United States."

The exact personnel of the two teams has not been definitely determined as yet, according to O. H. Hornung, debate coach, but Homer Richards will probably lead the affirmative team and Avery Thompson the negative.

Efforts are being made to schedule a contest with Franklin high school of Portland and also with some class of Literary society team at Willamette, Mr. Hornung said.

OCCHO PROJECT SHORT OF FUNDS

The Occhoo irrigation district of Crook county has on hand only money enough to pay about half of its $43,900 interest on irrigation district bonds which fell due January 1, says a letter from Willard H. Wirtz, district attorney, to Attorney General Van Winkle. He wants to know whether the county treasurer, ex-officio, treasurer of the district, should apply the money on hand to payment of the interest, or whether he should refuse to take up any of the coupons presented, since he can't pay on all of them. The attorney general advises that the coupons should be taken up in the order of their presentation.

It is understood that several other irrigation districts have defaulted in interest since January 1, but no definite information on the subject has yet been received by state officials.

10 HIGH SCHOOLS TO ENTER TEAMS IN HOOP TOURNEY

Opinion was expressed in high school athletic circles this morning that there would probably be 10 teams at the state basketball tournament this season, instead of 8, the number formerly competing. The dates of the tournament were set several weeks ago at March 12, 13 and 14.

The reason for the additional team is the fact that Portland, formerly not allowed to enter the tournament, has been admitted to the state league and will be permitted to send its best team to Salem for the state tourney.

The meet will be staged at Willamette university as in previous years.

The reason for admitting Portland schools into the league is said to be that they have come into agreement with league requirements by requiring that athletic coaches be hired by the school boards, which was not done formerly, it is said. The demand that only instructors be permitted to coach athletic teams apparently has not been pressed, according to statements made by high school authorities.

At the next meeting of the state board of control it is expected that Portland will be made a district by itself leaving intact the nine districts already members of the state league.

TROEH AND MILLER ARE TIED

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 7.—Shooting off a tie between Phillip Miller of Dallas, Texas, and Frank Troeh of Portland, Or., in yesterday's mid-winter Sandhill special, was an added feature of today's program of the mid-winter target tournament here. Each broke 15 out of a possible 169 targets in yesterday's event and will shoot a string of twenty today.

The mid-winter 16-yard championship was the main event on today's program.

The east was leading in the team matches shot in the three days' program.

Troeh was the high man for the two days' shooting with 269 out of 320.

GERMAN NOTE SAYS TREATY IS VIOLATED

Finance ministers began this afternoon in the clock room of the French foreign office.

Frank R. Kellogg, American ambassador to Great Britain and James A. Logan, Jr., American representative with the reparations committee, were the first to arrive. Myron T. Horrick, American ambassador to France, entered the Conference after it had begun its session.

Finance Minister Clementel of France, in welcoming the delegations said he was glad to see among them a number of men who had aided in solving previous problems.

"I know by experience," said he, "that together we will find unanimous solutions for the problems confronting us and that we are going to be able to complete the work done in London several months ago."

James Logan, Jr., American representative with the reparations commission, met today at the residence of Ambassador Horrick, and reviewed the official correspondence respecting the finance minister's conference. The secretaries of the various delegations also conferred and agreed upon the order of proceedings for the opening session. Sheldon Whitehouse, the counselor of the American embassy here and Secretary Winslow took part for the United States.

ELINOR GLYN'S HIS HOUR

Paris, Jan. 7.—The British chancellor of the exchequer, Winston Churchill, accompanied by his secretary, called on Finance Minister Clementel in his office today.

A communique announced that Mr. Churchill and M. Clementel proceeded in a friendly spirit to an unofficial exchange of views on the whole question of inter-allied debts, although this subject does not figure on the program of the conference.

The text of the communique, issued by the British embassy reads: "M. Clementel and Mr. Churchill had a conference this morning in the course of which they proceeded in a friendly and informal manner to an exchange of views on the general aspect of the inter-allied debts, although this subject, of course, forms no part of the official agenda of the conference."
