Pet Crow Nearly Falls

Mrs. Mildred A. Glidden of Wendell, Mass., who captured a wild crow early last spring, has so tamed and trained it that it nearly talks, and in fact is given credit with saying "hello" in a way that can be understood by humans. The crow is mischievous and plays skillfully with brightly colored things. It runs loose and sleeps at will in the trees, on the roof of the house, or where it pleases.

GIRL RESERVES MEET IN APRIL AT VANCOUVER

Miss Marlon Wynnan, W. Y. C. A. secretary, received word this morning from Miss Ruth Walters, head of the Girl Reserve work in the Oregon conference that the mid-winter conference will be held in Vancouver, Washington, early in April. This conference was held in Salem last year.

High school girls in all parts of the state will send representatives to the conference in Vancouver which will be specially important this year as no conference will be held in Gearhart this summer as has been done in former years. The National Girl Reserve conference in Seabeck beginning July 8 will take the place of the state conference. The Vancouver and Portland girls plan to entertain more than two hundred girls from all parts of the state at the April session.

Helen Campbell, a Salem girl, is state president of the Girl Reserves. More than two dozen Salem women have contributed magazines containing complete serial stories or all the issues of certain years for use in the reading room of the Y. W. C. A. according to reports made yesterday by Mrs. P. E. Graber, chairman of the publicity and reading room committee, at the meeting of the executive board of the Y. W.

Among the services maintained by the local Y. W. is a well equipped reading room with a fireplace, several long tables and the work of keeping them supplied with live reading material was the work during the past year of Mrs. Graber and her committee. She reported also that fifty-four women had signed up recently to supply magazines for the Y. W.

Scouring records for the Victoria in the Y. W. living room was another duty assigned to Mrs. Graber's committee. A number of new records were secured during the year, according to Mrs. Graber, and a further effort to increase the collection will be made shortly.

TOURIST SHOT BY DRY AGENTS

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 14.—Clyde McClellan of Glendale, Cal., was slightly wounded early this morning when three federal prohibition agents fired upon his automobile south of the city. McClellan and his wife, Mrs. McClellan, were en route to stop when ordered to do so, according to a report to the police here. The two men said they thought the prohibition officers were robbers. McClellan and Treat said they had been driving night and day in order to reach Seattle, where McClellan aged mother lived.

The rear of the car was demolished from the fire from shotguns and revolvers in the hands of the dry agents.

Public Service Commission's Fate Cause for Concern

Conjecture is running strong in the undercurrents around the legislature today as to what is going to happen to the public service commission and the appropriation under which it functions, and it is no great secret that there is considerable uneasiness being manifested in the situation by the members of the commission and its employees up on the third floor.

Summed up, the whole puzzle is whether or not there will be such a thing as the public service commission when the governor and legislators get through bickering. Governor Pierce caused just a passing stir Monday in his message when he recommended that the public service commission be placed under a fee system that would make it self supporting, and started the commission and its friends to checking up on their legs in the legislature. As their soundings have progressed their concern for the outcome appears to have grown proportionately.

This morning when the report of the budget commission was placed on the desks of the house and senate members there was a renewed stir of interest in the topic. Tucked away among the items of appropriation simply passed on to the legislature without recommendation was the item of $130,000 for maintenance of the public service commission during the coming biennium.

Investigation revealed that the budget committee split on the item with Governor Pierce and State Treasurer Myers outspoken in their opposition to any appropriation, and Secretary of State Keizer recommending an appropriation of $130,000, slashing $10,000 off the budget request of the commission.

It is common knowledge, and the governor is making no bones about his desire to have the public service commissioner abolished.

ROTARIANS HEAR BISHOP BROWN FORESTRY TALK HELD HERETIC

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Contentions that Bishop William M. Brown, retired prelate of the Protestant Episcopal church was convicted of heresy last May in full accord with canon and civil law were presented today to the church's court of review by Charles L. Dibble of Kalamazoo, Mich., church advocate.

The proceedings, it was expected, would wind up the open heresy in the case as the next tribunal to which it may go is the house of bishops, all of whose sessions are executive. After Mr. Dibble and associate, John H. Smart of Cleveland, have concluded their arguments on the appeal, Joseph W. Sharts, chief counsel for the accused bishop, will close the formal arguments.

Bishop Brown, it was announced, will wind up his own case with a personal appeal to his fellow-bishops for a reversal of the trial court.

Speaking of the doctrine of the trinity, which counsel for Bishop Brown had branded as a "mathematical absurdity," Dibble denied it implied that God is three connected persons or personalities, but rather an indivisible being.

CATCH SUSPECT IN LAVA BEDS

Klamath Falls, Or., Jan. 14.—With yes and no as his principal answers to questions fired at him during a searching examination last night by District Attorney William Ganong and Deputy District Attorney W. P. Myers, Pete Sullivan, captured yesterday afternoon in the lava beds 49 miles south of Klamath Falls by a party headed by Lloyd Low, former sheriff, checkmated all attempts of authorities to draw a confession from him as an accomplice in the robbery-murder here on the morning of January 3.

Sullivan declares he does not know John Taylor, who in a confession stated that Sullivan was the man who held the 32-caliber gun. He told the district attorney where he was on the night of the murder. A check on his statements had not been made this morning.

H. B. 29, Cowell—To repeal chapter 19, general laws of Oregon, requiring filing of analysis of metals before they can be offered for sale.

H. B. 30, Ford (by request)—To validate the equalization, levying and collection of taxes upon failure to give notice of the meeting of the board of equalization and prescribing procedure.

H. B. 31, Washington county delegation of C. E. house and senate—For acquiring site and building an armory at Forest Grove.

ARTIFICIAL SILK PLAN OF SPINNERS

BARKING, England—The suggestion that artificial silk will ever displace cotton, or even become a serious competitor is absurd, according to T. Wilkinson, head of the Textile College, who declared recently that "cotton is not displaced yet." He added that a combination of cotton and artificial silk, however, was a valuable idea and capable of enormous development.

Speaking of the British trade, Mr. Wilkinson said the progress made in the manufacture of artificial silk fabrics on the ordinary Lancashire loom was encouraging, and that mills were in the course of construction with a view to preparing the new artificial silk-yarn. Influential manufacturing firms are experimenting on a large scale.

Women Are Police

Buenos Aires—The emancipation of women in Latin America from the traditions that have kept them from earning their living like men, continues to make progress. Fifty women have just been added to the Buenos Aires police force. They have been assigned to patrol the parks, where they will look after children, protect their own sex from flirta, and keep people off the grass. They wear navy blue uniforms and black straw hats.

GAME BOARD UP IN THE AIR

Members of the state game commission are somewhat in a quandry as to what has happened and what may happen to them, according to Ben Dorrie of Eugene, one of the commissioners, who stopped in Salem last night and this morning on his way home from a meeting of the board in Portland.

News that the governor in his message to the legislature was recommending that the game commission and its activities be transferred to the Oregon Agricultural college came as a complete surprise to the commissioners and was received while they were in session Monday, said Dorrie, intimating that he did not entirely relish the prospect of being made a professor, as such were the governor's intent.

From other sources it is learned that the surprise was the more complete for the commissioners in that they had discussed legislative proposals affecting the game commission and laws with the governor at his own request, and that no mention whatever of the program thus outlined was contained in the message.

VALIDATE TAX LEVIES IN HARNEY COUNTY

Validation of tax levies and making collection of taxes in Harney county legal is the aim of house bill No. 39 introduced by Representative Ford by request, according to explanations of proponents of the bill. The bill is general but Harney is the only county which will be affected, Senator Davis of Grant, Harney and Multnomah counties explained.

"The county assessor failed to serve due notice of meetings of the tax equalization board," said Senator Davis. "The county court neglected to issue warrants for collection of the sheriff. The bill's purpose is to make valid the collecting of taxes outstanding as a result of these oversights."

So serious is the outlook that friends of the commission are known to be considering the advisability of introducing a measure levying fees that will make the commission self-supporting.

FIFTH STATE REJECTS CHILD LABOR LAW

Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Texas, Indiana and Kansas, principally in the current month.

Opposition Strong

Opposition to ratification is more noticeable in Illinois, Michigan and Texas than in some of the other states. Farm organizations in Michigan have organized themselves against the amendments. The resolution introducing the measure in the Missouri legislature yesterday urged its rejection on the ground that it would mean an "additional army of bureaucrats."

In Illinois women's organizations and labor bodies are advocating ratification, while manufacturers' and farmers' organizations are opposing such an act as part of the national basic law.

There are no indications either in Texas, Kansas or North Dakota when a ratification resolution will be introduced.

New York, Jan. 14.—An early decision by eastern states on the federal child labor amendment is not generally expected. Although legislatures in the upper New England group are expected to
