The U. S. bank basketball team, which reorganized at the close of the commercial league basketball series, this morning made public a challenge to any team in the vicinity of Salem. The bank team has played a number of games with nearby towns, including one with Mill City and another with Molalla last week. At Mill City, where the lumber company team was met, the bankers barely noded out a win, the score being 23 to 22. The Molalla town team was defeated 37 to 26. Turner will be the next team to be played, a tilt being slated for Wednesday night. The bankers' squad is composed of Lucas, captain, and Armstrong, Putnam, Fisher, Newton, Hargra, and Larson. Anyone who is willing to take them on in a game is asked to communicate with Carl Armstrong at the U. S. bank.

PRISON GIVES FINE VAUDEVILLE SHOW TONIGHT

Last night the preview of the seven-number vaudeville given by institutional talent at the penitentiary was shown for the benefit of the prisoners and was accorded an enthusiastic reception.

The show, under the management of C. E. Sharlton and directed by Shelby Burdock, is a pleasing melange of music, song and comedy. The principal number is a farce in three acts which is of especial local interest as the scene is laid in Salem and environs, and for the further reason that it features a star of no mean ability who is familiar to many who have patronized the penitentiary offerings in the past—Fred Taylor. Though Taylor's activities often carry him abroad he generally manages with praiseworthy loyalty to return long enough to fill a brief engagement and the annual performance at the penitentiary. The support of an able cast and a musical finale made the skit an uproarious success. The dancing of Johnson and Drinklay would make a dog laugh.

The audience was surprised and delighted by the appearance of "Spark-Plug" Sims, a star of former shows at the prison, who had returned to the institution voluntarily to fill a place in the bill made vacant by the unexpected illness of another actor.

Other hits were the "O. S. P. Syncopators," a seven-piece aggregation of jazz exponents, and the Jimmie Valentine, singer of songs, who is to be the original "Jimmie," but with an ability enhanced by an intriguing air of mystery created by the assumption of incognito. A musical program was rendered by the prison orchestra under the direction of Fred Williams.

The bill will be played for the benefit of public audiences for the remainder of this week. Reports from Perry's drug store, where the tickets are on sale, indicate that the prisoners-actors will play to full houses for the entire engagement.

STUDENTS PLAN SHOW TO BUY MOVIE CAMERA

Installation of a moving picture machine in the Salem high school building is the aim of a group of high school students who are staging a public entertainment at the Bligh theater Thursday night, according to statements made by high school students this morning.

The Amecic club—the name is derived from the word cinema, spelled backwards—has given two entertainments already, both being in the Congregational church. After the show Thursday enough money will be on hand to buy the machine, to the expectation expressed by the students, and all that will be lacking will be the consent of the school board to build a small projection room from which the picture can be thrown on a screen to be placed in the front of the picture school auditorium.

Thursday's entertainment is to consist of 8 vaudeville acts, beside 12 reels of pictures, the whole estimated to occupy two hours' time.

The first act will be a series of tumbling and pyramidal building by Leslie Sparks and a team of 20 high school boys. For the second act Gene Parmeter and Ronald Craven will give several musical numbers. Interpretive ballet dancing by Faye Womson and Lucille Pettys will comprise the third act.

It was afterward learned by Justice Small that she had made inquiries as to his nature, whether gruff or kindly, before the hearing.

Important legislation to come before the legislature was the extension given for the speeding. Some kind of girls' warfare was the nature of legislation to be presented, and Mr. Small was promised that Marion county would get little consideration if the fine were imposed. Justice Small ignored the interruption.

British navy plotters committed for trial.

London, Jan. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—W. B. O'Leary and J. D. McCough, arrested recently in connection with an alleged plot to blow up British battleships and submarines, were committed for trial today.

The charge against the men was illegal dissemination of naval secrets. At the preliminary hearing yesterday counsel alleged there was evidence to indicate that the defendants were Irish republican army intelligence officers.

The magistrate admitted McCough to bail in 2,000,000 pounds sterling, but refused bail for O'Leary.

Helmer H. Jacobson has been appointed administrator of the estate of Susan Brodie. The estate is valued at $1200. Heirs are Anna Prater, E. W. Gibbons, P. E. Gibbons, Mabel Dickerson, all of Woodburn and Lucinda Franklin of Molalla.

KIWANIS HEAR WOODWARD ON CHILD LABOR

William F. Woodward, state representative from Multnomah county, defended the child labor amendment in an address before the Salem Kiwanis club this noon. He defended the amendment and the prohibition amendment and the pure food laws.

Opposition to the child labor amendment is coming chiefly from vested interests who have immense financial resources and are using child labor in their business, Mr. Woodward claimed.

"The amendment if passed will not result in tearing the child away from the plow and the girl from the dishpan," he said. "It would only protect children insofar as became necessary for their proper education, as stated."

"Do you want your new linen mill to operate in competition with the work of children?" he asked.

Mr. Woodward also spoke in favor of a measure which would require a physical inspection once every year of every school child in Oregon. Physical incompetence is responsible for much waste of school money on school children, he said.

Action was taken by the club levying 50 cents on each member for the construction of the Harling memorial to be constructed in Vancouver, B. C.

CHARLES N. CHAMBERS SCHOOL INSTRUCTOR DIES

Charles N. Chambers, instructor in Salem high school, under the Smith-Hughes plan, died yesterday afternoon at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, according to word reaching Salem. Mr. Chambers has been on the high school faculty for five years. He was taken sick over a month ago, and his illness became so serious that three weeks ago he was taken to Portland for an operation.

He was 54 years old when he died. He is survived by a widow, Florence Adams Chambers, and six children, Donald, 13; Helen, 11; Frank, 9; Richard, 7; Ruth, 5; and Vivian, 3. He is also survived by his mother, Martha J. Chambers and two brothers, F. L. Chambers and F. E. Chambers, both of Eugene.

His place at the high school is being taken by Floyd Selgman, graduate of O. A. C.

ARRESTED SPEEDER THREATENS JUSTICE

One of the women in the car driven by W. Kenyon of Portland, apprehended this morning for speeding on the highway by Officer Nichols, made a finger pointing threat to Justice Brazier C. Small this afternoon in justice court when he fined Kenyon $10 for going 40 miles per hour.

"You've not heard the last of this," she promised Justice Small, after a remonstrance against the court's decision.

It was afterward learned by Justice Small that she had made inquiries as to his nature, whether gruff or kindly, before the hearing.

Important legislation to come before the legislature was the extension given for the speeding. Some kind of girls' warfare was the nature of legislation to be presented, and Mr. Small was promised that Marion county would get little consideration if the fine were imposed. Justice Small ignored the interruption.

BLUE STRIPES TO GO FROM U. S. MAIL BAGS

Washington, Jan. 27.—The traditional blue-striped United States mail bag is going to give way to the economy test that is being applied in all directions these days by Brigadier General Lord, director of the budget. When budget bureau officials could find no good reason why the government should pay a cent a yard more for the blue striped canvas than the plain gray variety, General Lord decided that the postoffice department hereafter will use the latter and thus effect an annual saving of about $49,000 in the cost of mail bags.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE NOT EXISTENT HERE

There is no such thing as a common law marriage in Oregon. This is the holding of the supreme court today in an opinion written by Justice Belt reversing Judge Louis P. Hewitt of the lower court for Multnomah county in the case of Frank M. Huard, appellant, against Jennie McTeigh. An annulment of marriage is granted Huard.

Other opinions today were: Jack J. Meaney vs State Industrial accident commission appellant; appeal from Clackamas county; appeal from judgment allowed Meane under workmen's compensation act. Opinion by Justice Coshaw. Decree of Judge J. U. Campbell modified.

Ben Rosenau, appellant vs C. F. Lansing, appeal from Marion county; action for damages arising from alleged failure to deliver pram tires according to contract. Opinion by Justice Brown. Judge Percy R. Kelly reversed and case remanded.

Thomas Ambrogetti, appellant, vs Robert E. Strahorn; appeal from Klamath county; suit to collect money for services and materials. Opinion by Chief Justice McBride. Judge D. V. Kuykendall affirmed.

Petitions for rehearing denied in state vs Guthrie; Smith vs Gram State vs Long; Eastman vs Healey.
