The department of justice at Portland has asked for the custody of George Miller and L. Sullivan, apprehended yesterday by Officers Gisen and White, after a tip by Chief Frank Mingo, in command of a stolen Dodge touring car. The men had no funds, and are now in the city jail, awaiting the officers from Portland who will come after them. The car was stolen in Seattle January 17, it was found. The two men were allowed to enter the car and start to drive away to verify their pretended ownership of the machine. Other thefts of autos were admitted by the prisoners after questioning.

REPUBLICANS BAR INSURGENTS

Washington, Jan. 29.—Republican house leaders moved today to bar LaFollette insurgents from the party caucus which will be held February 27 to select candidates for speaker and floor leader.

Invitations to the conference were sent out today by Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee who was authorized by the resolution committee on committees to invite all republican members elect of the house to participate.

No invitation was sent to any of the nine Wisconsin representatives, who, although re-elected as republicans, supported Senator LaFollette for president.

The call also excluded Representatives Keller of Minnesota, Sinclair of North Dakota and LaGuardia of New York, all of whom have voted with the insurgents.

Fred W. German, state representative from Multnomah county, explained the workings of a new zoning arrangement for Portland which has been worked out with the assistance of the Portland Realty board. Mr. German, speaking at a luncheon of the Marion-Polk County Realtors' association, declared that in his opinion the zoning system will turn out to be the fairest of that of any city in the United States. He attacked Mayor Baker, however, and declared that the mayor is playing politics in the carrying out of the ordinance. "We're trying to bolster up the courage of the mayor and commissioners," he said.

HINT SINKING OF RIVER BOAT PAYING VENTURE

Facetious remarks concerning the Relief, Willamette river steamer that was crushed by the ice on December 24, were circulating among rivermen this morning. The Relief was insured with $20,000, while the boat itself may have been worth as much as $5,000 to anyone who wanted it badly. The Relief has been raised from its resting place on the bottom of the river at the foot of Court street, a hole in its side patched, and is now tied up in the slough at the southern edge of the property belonging to the Spaulding lumber company. Those in charge of the boat stated that they expected orders to arrive today from Washington, D. C., as to what should be done with it.

Among other allegations made by men in a position to observe the circumstances surrounding the boat's sinking was the statement that a quantity of supplies, including blankets and dishes, was rushed onto the Relief shortly before she sank. A hundred tons of paper was unloaded by a crew of thirty men. Authorities stated this morning that they did not know whether or not the paper was insured.

Experienced rivermen state that it would have been an easy matter to save the Relief, the only thing necessary being to blast away the ice a few yards away from the boat. A rumor that the captain of the boat expressed a desire to do this, and was immediately relieved of his command, could not be verified.

That the boat took several days to sink is a known fact. That during this time no serious effort was made to rescue it is stated definitely by those acquainted with the situation.

"We all make mistakes," said one man in explaining why the Lloyds representative happened to allow $20,000 insurance on the Relief. "Probably nobody could have fooled him on an ocean steamer, but river boats are scarce these days, and probably he didn't know much about them."

HOUSE PASSES TRESPASS LAW

Senate bill 28, strengthening the trespass law was passed by the house this morning. Willful injury of trees and shrubbery would make the defendant upon conviction liable for treble damages.

The house also passed house bill No. 62 simplifying the form of the election ballot used in Oregon, particularly in respect to presidential electors and measure, and house bill 173 clarifying the law relating to the sale of real estate owned by minor wards.

Twenty two new bills were introduced in the house. House bill 145 pertaining to the custody of school funds was laid on the table. House bill 122, which would provide an appropriation for J. H. Kauffman to reimburse him for tools lost in the penitentiary fire, was re-referred to the ways and means committee.

Senators Bigbee, former University of Oregon athlete, and now outfielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was arrested this morning by Officer Nichols and fined by Justice Brazier C. Small for speeding at the rate of 40 miles an hour on the state highway.

Willie Bigbee were two other Pittsburg players, one third baseman and one pitcher, whose names were not given. The three were on their way to spring training camp in California.

Justice Small, a former Willamette university football player, played in more than one game against Bigbee, when he was at Oregon. Notwithstanding this, he confesses, Justice Small fined Bigbee $10.

HOUSE PASSES MINOR MEASURES

A house bill by Collier, providing that counties shall fix minimum prices at which land acquired for taxes may be sold by the county, was passed by the senate. At present the definite price is named in the advertisement.

A bill by Bailey of the house amending the soldier's bonus act so that a borrower under the act may exchange his property, and the loan apply to his newly acquired property, was passed by the senate. Senator Strayer questioned the constitutionality of the bill but voted for it.

TURN GERMAN WAR INDUSTRIES TO FACTORIES

Paris, Jan. 29.—The inter-allied council of ambassadors discussed today the question of the transformation of German war industries to peaceful use. The particular phases of this question under consideration were looked upon as merely subordinate to the main problem, but appeared to involve the same difficulties as those met within the Krupp works, regarding which diplomatic circles allege that machines utilized for arms manufacture during the war have not been transformed.

On petition of parents or guardians of 25 children of elementary age residing in the limits of a grade school zone in a school district of the first class, school directors would be required to establish kindergartens under house bill 264. GROOM LAMENTS HIGH COST OF MARRIAGE NOW

The high cost of living is painful to Adam Wurm of West Salem, but not sufficient to cool the ardors of a knightly heart.

When Adam appeared at the marriage license counter at the county clerk's office yesterday and was advised that it would cost him $3.25 for a license, in addition to whatever fee the physician might exact for a medical examination, as is required under statutes in such cases made and provided, Adam paid the $3.25, but not with out a little sigh of regret for the old days.

It seems Adam had been married before and in the light of past experience is qualified to speak.

"In 1884," ruminated Adam, speaking half to himself and half to the surrounding atmosphere, "the first time, conditions were different than they are now. In 1884 a man could stop out and secure a marriage license for $1, no preacher or thought of charging more than $2, and there was no medical certificate to be secured. In short, what I am trying to arrive at, if you get me, is that it only cost $3 to acquire a wife in 1884. Now the certificate to secure and with the preacher, the sky's the limit as far as the fee is concerned."

At any rate the license was made out to Adam Wurm of Salem, room No. 2 and Maggie Waterhouse, Salem.

Mr. Miller was the originator of the Miller company, and the Newberg store was the parent store of the chain. The Millers located in Newberg in 1908, having operated a store at McMinnville prior to that time.

Mr. Miller leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters, Frank of Forest Grove, Harry of Newberg, Carl of Portland, Mrs. V. V. Gould and Mrs. A. M. Sherwood of Newberg, besides several brothers and other relatives. He was prominent in local church circles. Funeral arrangements have not been made yet.

CANNOT DIVERT LEVY FOR BONUS

The ways and means committee of the legislature apparently faces a deficit instead of a surplus in available state funds as a result of an opinion written by Attorney General Van Winkle to State Treasurer Kay, holding that no part of the millage levy for the state bonus and loan set can be diverted to the general fund of the state.

Governor Pierce has advocated a diversion to the general fund of one-half of the one-mill tax under the bonus act, and has told the ways and means committee that this would mean a $50,000 a year additional money for the general fund this biennium, or a total of $1,000,000 for the two years. He submitted figures to show that this would mean about $400,000 for the biennium as a surplus above indicated requirements. The attorney general's ruling knocks out completely the governor's calculation.
