TAX LEVIES OF NEIGHBOR CITIES SHOW HIGH RATE

While Salem's tax levy of 53.5 mills is the highest in its history there are only five cities or towns in Marion and Polk counties with a lower millage rate than Salem this year, according to figures which have been compiled by Manager Wilson of the chamber of commerce. Aunsville reaches the top notch of all cities and towns in the two counties this year with a millage rate of $3.6. This is largely caused, it is stated, by a special levy vote last year to assist the county to put paving through the town. As Aunsville has a low valuation its millage levy went consequently high, although the amount voted for the pavement was not large.

The rates for the various towns in Marion and Polk counties follow: Millage

ROSARIANS ON SPECIAL TRAIN WEDNESDAY EVE

Royal Rosarians of Portland will travel on a special train Wednesday evening, arriving in Salem according to word received this morning by J. C. Perry, King King of the Cherrians.

They will be met by the Cherrians with headquarters at the Marion hotel for the customary hospitality greetings. Rosarians and Cherrians will both appear in their marching uniforms.

Following the greetings at the Marion hotel, led by the Cherrian band, both organizations will parade in the down town district, arriving at the state house along towards 8 o'clock or thereabouts.

In the house of representatives the Royal Rosarians will put on special stunts, conferring several degrees of honor and their singing by the wonderful Rosarian march quartet, to all of which the public is invited.

The Rosarians are figuring on having such a good time that the prime minister writes "After our program at the house of representatives, we'll return to the Marion hotel about 11 o'clock and leave for Portland about midnight."

At the monthly meeting and dinner of the Cherrians to be held Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce, plans for the Wednesday evening program with the Royal Rosarians will be fully discussed.

land, "that we should send the Bible to other nations and not read it in our own public schools."

Klopper, Kinney, Joseph, Miller, Leals and Tocco spoke in endorsement of the bill, Davis and Clark opposed it on the ground declaring it would not get away from secularism. Strayer, explaining his negative vote, said he doubted the constitutionality of the measure.

Zimmerman, who voted for it, explained that he did so in the hope that the youth would be taught the commandments to "Love thy neighbor as thyself" and "Thou shalt earn thy bread by the sweat of the brow." "I hope," he added, "that the Portland Chamber of Commerce will read those passages every time they meet."

"Everything looks fine," agreed Mackie, "although the temperature of 25 degrees below zero has made things very difficult. I froze one of my hands this afternoon sitting in the cockpit of the bus warming up and testing the engine."

ally on present fig-ures would take care of about 100 miles of road. We believe the increase in the amount of gasoline tax would fully cover the cost of maintenance for all of the paved roads.

The amendment proposed by the county court calls for one sixth of three cents to be returned to the counties, regardless of the fact that the legislature is proposing increasing the present three cent tax to four cents. The Marion county court wants half a cent a gallon to go to the counties. When the gas tax bill originally was passed it called for a one cent tax. When it was increased two cents the 1 cent tax law was not disturbed, a new law providing for a two cent additional tax being passed. The legislature is now endeavoring to increase the tax by amending the two cent tax law to read three cents. The old original 1 cent law will stand if the new bill is passed.

MILITARY TO ORDER PROBE OF TRAPPING

Persons familiar with the cave country and those who have heard various rumors will be examined.

"I hope by this court inquiry to lay at rest all suspicions, whisperings of the efforts to block rescue work, and rumors that Collins' entrapment was not genuine," said General Denhart. The commander said his plan for the military investigation had been sanctioned by Governor Fields and Adjutant General Kehoe.

"It is my purpose to determine exactly why the efforts to rescue through the natural passage failed," Denhart continued, "whether Collins went into Sand cave through the regular entrance and was caught coming out and whether he knew of any other way out, are matters which will be delved into.

"I have received information that the eye of suspicion has been turned on Kentucky and its officials by persons unfamiliar with the cave section. I propose in the inquiry to bring out every fact.

"It is hoped that the findings of the body will be so definite and thorough from the testimony we hear that the underground whisperings will be quieted. Every witness will be summoned to testify and will be heard in full." Members of the court probably will be named today.

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 8.—(By Associated Press)—The shaft through which rescuers hope to reach Floyd Collins in Sand cave was approximately 30 feet deep at 9 a. m. today, four days after it was started. At the present rate the level where Collins is thought to be will not be reached before Thursday or Friday.

Claims Still Alive
Cave City, Ky., Feb. 8.—(By Associated Press)—Five electrical tests conducted with voice amplifiers today have convinced H. T. Carmichael in charge of the Floyd Collins rescue work at Sand cave that Collins is still alive, after 10 days imprisonment.

H. G. Lane, Munfordville, operating the lighting system which supplies current for the bulb left at Collins' head, said Homer Collins, after listening twenty minutes on the wire was convinced he had heard Floyd's heart beating at the rate of 20 times a minute.

Lane said Floyd was breathing and his heart beating 18 to 21 times a minute.

"While we were in the cave we attempted to compare the breathing of Homer Collins with that of his imprisoned brother, but we couldn't do this successfully because Homer Collins was so excited," Lane added.

The test was made on the wire which had been placed around Collins' chest last week by rescuers. "Many people on the outside would not believe our test proved Collins was alive," Lane said, adding that a statement would be given out later "proving that Collins was alive."

Business

— Is Good!

The steadily increasing prosperity of Oregon is becoming an important feature in the Nation's commercial life.

Great progress in agriculture—larger totals in value of manufactured goods—increased foreign trade through the great man-built Port of Portland—a large building program and the steady influx of new people, are factors which keep business good in this Nature-favored state.

Salem and its surrounding community lead the way in many of these important factors of good business.

We have listed below only some of the reasons which in themselves must give us confidence in the sound business conditions in our city and community, and in the present outlook, which indicates an unequalled development of our industries during the next five years.

THE SALEM COMMUNITY:

Excels the Island of Jersey in Jersey Cows. Two-thirds of the world's Jersey records are in the Salem neighborhood.

Is the greatest Italian prune center in America. Grows the finest flax in the western hemisphere. Is the biggest producer of walnuts in the Northwest. Is the largest shipper of celery in the Northwest. Leads America in quality of clover.

Is preeminent in cherries, Loganberries, blackberries, raspberries, strawberries, gooseberries, peaches, pears, corn, broccoli, spinach, potatoes, beans, cucumbers, and squash—all of this without irrigation.

Payroll of five million dollars from:

- One of the greater saw mills
- A great paper making plant
- A widely known woolen mill
- A large and fast-growing meat products plant.
- Ten large fruit packing plants
- and numerous other industries.

The First National Bank stands ready to do its part in any constructive program for community progress and development and is assisting in every way to increase Salem community's prosperity.
