HAUGEN BILL REPORTED OUT BY COMMITTEE

Washington, Feb. 18.—The house agricultural committee has ordered favorably reported to the house today the Haugen bill to establish a favorable cooperative marketing board along the lines recommended by the president's agricultural conference. The committee completed work on the bill, which has been considered at lengthy hearings, and gave it a final stamp of approval at a session last night. To expedite action on the measure, Chairman Haugen was authorized by the committee to Friday. Committee members expected little difficulty in obtaining its passage.

Calling for an appropriation of $500,000 to set up the proposed board, the bill was approved by the committee as previously amended to provide for five instead of three members, to be appointed by the president from lists of nominees submitted by cooperative organizations. Executive membership would be held by the secretary of agriculture.

WOMEN LEAGUE OF VOTERS HEAR HEALTH WORKER

"If women are to participate in public affairs they must be intelligently informed in matters that affect the community at large," said Dr. Walter H. Brown, of the Marion county health demonstration, in an address before the Salem branch of the National League of Women Voters at the city library this afternoon.

Good health is one of the fundamental things in community life, maintained Dr. Brown, and should be given its full share of attention along with the other things of public affairs. "It is one of the important things that heretofore has not been given a proper valuation," he said.

He cited the present mortality rate, stressing that among infants and mothers from preventable sickness, as proof of the need for giving the matter public attention. "Not only death but illness often occurs from a preventable cause, rendering a person's work ineffective," he stated. Furthermore, he said, improper physical attention often results in the growth of the individual being handicapped. As an example he cited the fact that a large proportion of the flat feet which is now prevalent is caused by rickets, which results from improper attention to the individual during the first two years of life.

In conclusion the doctor asked what is being done, in a public way, to meet the problem he has outlined. He asked whether the women had machinery of a political nature with which to accomplish the proper results.

He touched only lightly on the program which is to be under his direction in Marion county, stating that it is to be a cooperative effort with nothing compulsory about it. "We simply offer certain services to those who want them," he said. "We want to show how health may be protected among the children of this community."

BATTLE OVER MOVIE CENSOR BILL RAGING

No such bill ever existed outside of the lobby, but the deal was put through to kill both the "framed bill" and the censor bill for the $2000 consideration which, report has it, is to be split four ways among as many men, former members of the Ku Klux Klan, who have been conspicuous in the lobby.

Most of the oratory this afternoon will be applied to the shake-down reports. It is intimated, although there will be considerable argument on the merits of the measure.

The original bill was a series of defects, the principal one being the fact that the revenue provided would not begin to meet the expenses of a censorship board but the bill would have created a situation working a big hardship upon the theater men. The bill forbids the showing of unlicensed pictures in the state, but did not provide the means of securing censorship, which would have resulted in the danger of leaving theaters without films for their business because the distributors could not have them censored promptly.

This defect and others were, however, discovered by friends of the bill and were amended today.

SEEK WHEREABOUTS OF HARRY MORGAN

Francis M. Sourd, warrant officer of the United States Army at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, has written to County Clerk Boyer endeavoring to find some trace of Harry L. Morgan, who was last heard from in Salem July 24, 1899. Morgan wrote to his wife in Kentucky at that time saying that if she wished to get in touch with him she should write to him in care of J. N. Gilbert of Salem, and has never been heard from since.

Probate records reveal there was an I. N. Gilbert who died back in the early days. So far no trace has been found of the Harry Morgan or J. N. Gilbert in question. The army officer does not state for what the information is wanted, or whether the man's wife is still alive.

DOCTORS TOLD RICKETS DUE TO MOIST CLIMATE

That rickets, a disease involving the weakening of the bones of the human body, is more prevalent in the Willamette valley and in England than in any other sections of the world, became evident as a result of a paper entitled "Clinical and Experimental Study of Rickets in the Willamette Valley," read by Dr. Ulysses Moore of Portland before a meeting of the Polk-Yamhill-Marion Medical society at the Gray-Belle last night.

The cloudy condition of the weather, depriving the body of the sunlight recently discovered to be essential in the building up of human bones from food materials, is given as the reason why the disease strikes so many people in England and western Oregon. The ultra-violet ray, which is to be found in a beam of sunlight, has a chemical effect upon the foods taken into the body, and without the action of the ray the bones cannot be built up.

Rickets is usually to be found in the case of infants, it has been shown. Children born in the fall of the year are more apt to contract the disease than those born at any other time, since they are forced to go through the long winters, with their lack of sunlight, at the very outset of their lives.

Rickets can also be caused by improper nourishment, but the most perfect nourishment in the world is futile if no ultra-violet rays penetrate the body, transforming the food into bone material.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The senate confirmed today the nomination of William M. Jardine of Kansas to be secretary of agriculture.
