WHAT TO DO TO MAKE SALEM BETTER PLACE

What the chamber of commerce can do next year to make Salem a better place to live in will be the feature of Monday's luncheon at the chamber of commerce with 25 open forum at which anyone with an idea can tell it, providing he restricts himself to two minutes in the telling. Some of the ideas already advanced are as follows: The one hour parking ordinance. Organized charity. Community chest. Community house at the auto park. Uniform tree planting along streets. Bridge program for Salem. Zoning system for the city. Public auditorium. Commission form of government. City planning. Directors of the chamber state that they are in a receptive frame of mind and are looking for ideas to work on which will make the city during the coming year and would like to have them blurted out or otherwise at Monday's luncheon. Charles R. Archer will serve as chairman.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The proposal to increase the salaries of members of congress, already passed by the senate, was approved also today by the house.

BRITAIN TO BACK U. S. IN ARMS MEET

(Continued from Page One) Washington, Feb. 20.—Unofficial reports of British willingness to co-operate toward limitation of naval auxiliary craft at a new armaments conference were received by officials here today with gratification. Similar expressions of co-operation from Faris and other capitals will necessarily be awaited, however, before any step of a formal open forum at which anyone with an idea can tell it, providing he restricts himself to two minutes in the telling.

Some of the ideas already advanced are as follows: The one hour parking ordinance. Organized charity. Community chest. Community house at the auto park. Uniform tree planting along streets.
