Burial Place of John Wilkes Booth At Last Revealed

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Colonel James Hamilton Davidson, former commander of the 122nd infantry today revealed what he said was the burial place of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of President Abraham Lincoln, considered as a secret for years.

Colonel Davidson now living here believes he is the only living man who knows. Recently Edwin Harper Sampson, one of the seven men who disposed of Booth's body died in Moline, Ill., without revealing what had been done with the body.

Colonel Davidson was in command at Portsmouth, Va., the night of Booth's burial and was told of it by Colonel Baker, head of the secret service of the army. Since then, Davidson says, he has kept secret the information given him. Davidson has been blind for 32 years.

Booth's body was buried in the basement of a warehouse at Portsmouth, in a deep grave, and covered with acid, Davidson says. Colonel Baker told him. The grave then was filled with limestone and dirt.

"That was 60 years ago. There can't be any harm in telling it now. The country ought to know," Davidson said.

APOLLO CLUB GIVES CONCERT ON WEDNESDAY

All Salem is proud of Salem's Apollo club and the coming week will give evidence of the extent to which this premier amateur singing organization has filled the cherished place in the musical life of the city. On next Wednesday evening the club will hold their first concert of the season at the armory.

Thirty good voices singing ensemble a program of some of the most beautiful and harmonious choral numbers written for men will bid for the approval of their efforts and if splendid precedent is upheld their bids will not be in vain.

Dr. Sileo, director of the club, has drilled the singers long and there is no question but that next Wednesday night's program will show the results of his skill and energy. An added drawing card of much interest will be the singing of Mabel Riegelman, prima donna soprano, and the artistic assistance to be rendered by Frank Moon at the piano for Miss Riegelman. All in all the Wednesday night concert will be a most interesting and delightful event and all signs point to the usual big house for the affair.

Swivel Chair War Disturbs Serenity of Assessor's Office

The ways of an assessor seemingly are hard. With smoke of conflict between the assessor and sheriff still filling the air, now has arisen an internal situation in Assessor Steelhammer's office which smells of civil war and intestine strife, to say nothing of riot and revolution.

It all has arisen over a swivel chair. Assessor Steelhammer needed a swivel chair and went out and bought one. The trouble came about because he didn't consult his Chief Deputy Tad Shelton.

Incidentally the assessor, unknown to Tad, borrowed an examination tape from the county surveyor, sneaked up behind Tad and measured him across the hips. Anyone who knows Tad understands that such a measurement indicates some avoirdupois.

Then the assessor purchased a swivel chair, which measured between the arms exactly four inches less than Tad's hips.

When the chair was delivered Tad snatched his lip.

"Fine," he declared. "I have been wanting just such a chair as that to help me along with my work. It was very thoughtful of you Oscar."

Tad then planted himself in the chair. When he arose the chair arose with him.

And now the internal discord in the assessor's office promises to bring about a treaty of peace between the sheriff and assessor in their war over who shall collect the dog tax.

CURE FOR RICKETS CONSISTS IN ACID IN INFANTS MILK

San Francisco, Feb. 21.—Doctor Martha R. Jones, research associate of the department of pediatrics at the University of California medical school here, has discovered a cure for rickets—that infant bone disease which causes knotted joints, curvature of the spine, soft and misshapen skulls, bow legs, and crumbling teeth. This became known today when the record of experiments and cures performed by Dr. Jones, during the past three years, were recounted by the San Francisco Examiner.

The remedy for this widely prevalent disease which medical authorities said exists in 20 per cent of this city's younger children and 75 per cent of those in New York is simple. It consists in giving hydrochloric acid in small amounts in the patients' milk.

Dr. Jones said that the discovery resulted from finding that acid reduced the malady on therapeutic puppies, and that from this he formed the theory that the disease was caused by a preponderance of alkali in the system.

TRIED TO PAPER PARKING LAWN

W. A. Green of Colorado was apprehended by Officer White this morning on Chemeketa street during his best to cover a large strip of lawn, on a parking, with newspaper. It appeared that Green was trying to do a neat job of papering that section of lawn, says Officer White.

Green is now sleeping in the city jail, apparently under the influence of a drug. White could see that Green was not right, so he called the city health officer to make an examination of the Colorado man. This examination will be made this evening. A large catch of Green was carrying was found to contain a bottle of Bromidia, labeled to be taken in very sparing quantities, and only on the orders of a doctor. The liquid was nearly two-thirds gone.

SPRING COATS TRIMMED WITH FUR LIKE WINTER

Paris, Feb. 21.—Advance spring coats now on exhibition have nearly as much fur trimming as those worn during the winter. Some are shown with a mass of nutria; squares of gazelle bring next to squares of beaver and ermine striped with seal skin. Twills and flat surface English mixtures, failles, crepes and ottomans combined with gaily printed chiffons are the most generally seen fabrics for suits.

The Human Side of Banking

What is the banking business? Do a bank's functions include only the balancing of accounts, collecting of interest, making loans and accounting to depositors for their money? We believe that a modern bank renders service far beyond the mechanics of keeping a record of money transactions. A bank should be a community leader. The nature of its business puts it in touch with the hopes and aspirations of individuals, and the general needs of the town and surrounding territory which it serves. If a bank cannot form a proper connection between these various factors it is not functioning 100%.

Livestock Developing

One phase of the work of the First National Bank has been the development of livestock clubs. Nothing has given it greater pleasure than to receive letters from boys and girls in Marion and Polk Counties giving an account of their experience and the results shown since they have joined these livestock clubs. There were 18 members in the First National Bank's Jersey Calf Club, 7 members in the Guernsey Calf Club, 17 members in the Shropshire Sheep Club, 5 members in the Chester White Pig Club, 5 members in the Polk County Shropshire Sheep Club, and 5 members in the White Leghorn Poultry Club. In helping these 57 boys and girls who live in the country surrounding Salem to produce a thoroughbred animal, many of them prize winners at the State Fair and Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, we feel that some work has been done which will be of lasting benefit to this community.

Building Character

The following is a copy of a letter similar to many received by the bank in the halting handwriting of the little boy or girl who, as he receives his schooling, is at the same time learning principles of industry and thrift:

Jefferson, Oregon, August 9, 1924.
President,
First National Bank,
Salem, Oregon.
Dear Sir:
My calf is doing very nicely. I am going to take her to the Fair and I hope to win a prize. I am teaching her to lead. She is four months old.
Yours truly,
EARL L. THOMAS,
Route 2

A Montana Range Story

Five years ago one Montana range that served about twenty stockmen had almost that many kinds of beef cattle; their calves were piebald, mongrel brutes that always brought the bottom prices where there were any calves to sell. Then the ranchers got together, bought several carloads of pedigreed Hereford bulls, and sold off or shot all other breeding stock. The result has been a 100% increase in the calf crop, a 100 per cent increase in the finished steer price, and the ranchers need no laws to make them money. The plan of standardizing fruit, grain, livestock, or poultry for any locality is the road to financial salvation.

Profit by Experience

A bank sees the heart-breaking struggle of farmers who have worked along and, through lack of information or from misinformation, failed to make their farm pay. With these experiences before it, it is not rendering a public service when it tries to teach the growing generation the advantage of specializing in agricultural pursuits, stock raising, dairying, etc?
