STOP PRINTING FREAK BALLOTS

House bill 384, which was passed by the senate Saturday, prohibits the publication of pink, yellow and other freak political campaign tickets within six weeks of an election unless there is a registration with the county clerks to show by whom the tickets are issued. Only Joseph Kinney, Toole and Zimmerman voted against the measure.

In the words of Senator Ritter, who explained the bill, it applies to "yellow, pink, green, red pinto, striped, koo koo" or any other freak tickets of similar character. As first drawn the measure applied only to Multnomah county, but Ritter said it had been amended to apply to all counties. "The measure we have the same substance in Multnomah county and want to smoke out some of those birds," in his closing remarks on the bill, he said, "there is nothing in the bill to prevent the burning of the fiery cross on the night before election and the boys can still ride at night."

Senator Klepper said he thought the bill was unjust and unconstitutional but voted for it.

EDUCATIONAL BILLS BEFORE UPPER HOUSE

Educational bills, including the Beals branch normal school bill, will occupy the senate for an hour or two tomorrow morning beginning at 10:20 o'clock when they are made a special order.

The ways and means committee today returned an adverse report on S. B. 194, appropriating $70,000 for teacher training centers in 10 high schools of the state. This is a makeshift plan put forth by State Superintendent Churchill to be used in event no additional normal school was provided for by the legislature. Senator Clark, chairman of the education committee, fought the adverse report and wanted it tabled. Since the committee has reported favorably on the Beals bill for 20 branch normals under the state department, the bill is designated by the Monmouth normal, and appropriation $125,000 for the purpose.

MAYOR STATES FARMERS WANT HOUR PARKING

chamber of commerce had expressed themselves as favoring the proposed change. That the farmers and visitors from out of town needed the extra time while doing business with the merchants was the chief reason given in favor of the change.

After Giesey had finished his speech Mr. Wright, a member of the chamber, backed up the mayor's statements in a brief talk. "If you go to any city that claims to be a city," he said, "you will find that one hour is the most that they will let you talk. These folks who want two hours to park will be just like a little boy with his candy—give him two sticks and he'll want three. Give these people two hours and they'll want another one."

Various other matters affecting the city of Salem were discussed at the luncheon. Next to the parking ordinance the matter of a bridge system for the city received the most attention, a number of the members of the chamber speaking in favor of a definite program calling for the construction of concrete bridges. The South Commercial street bridge was declared to need the foremost attention.

Mr. Winstock also stated that there was strong opposition to Washington at the time he was president of the United States. "The press of the country criticized him severely," he said, one paper even declaring that it was to be a "day of rejoicing when this man goes out of office."

UNDERWOOD BILL IN CONFERENCE

Washington, Feb. 23—The Underwood Muscle Shoals leasing bill was sent back to conference today by the senate.

Action came when the senate upheld the routing of President Cummins that the senate and house members had violated the rules by inserting new legislation in the measure.

The conferees must now reconsider the bill, but in that work they will be without guidance from Senator Cummins, who refused to point out what he regarded as new legislation. The vote to sustain the chair on the point of order which was made by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, was 45 to 41.

BOOTLEGGER BROUGHT IN FROM MILL CITY

William Downing, alleged bootlegger, was brought into the county jail Saturday night from Mill City by Deputy Sheriffs Bremmer and Smith along with three gallons of moonshine found in Downing's suitcase in his hotel room at Mill City. Incidentally the booze proved to be the only effects that Downing had in his suitcase. Downing is said to be a resident of Detroit.

"The road from Mill City down to the pavement surely is a hard one to travel in the middle of the night," stated Deputy Sheriff Bremmer. "It is full of chuck holes, ranging from the size of a football to a wash boiler. If there is anything to the old theory that jarring it around will cure booze, those three gallons of moonshine brought in Saturday night should be 10 years old by now."

FILM CENSOR WINS OUT BY 49 TO 10 VOTE

It is rumored to have been the result of Tucker's affirmative vote for the Dennis resolution placing an inhibition on income and inheritance taxes, but it is said that such an understanding does not extend to the senate, where the program calls for sudden death for the censor bill.

Shelton's remarks also brought Woodward to his feet with a declaration that "camouflage and trickery is being resorted to in an effort to defeat this bill," and that "every means is being used to divert attention of the house from the merits of this measure."

During the course of the debate Representative Tucker took occasion to state that Governor Pierce had assured him and Representative Woodward that "the moral issue involved was sufficient to justify him in signing the bill," although it created a board the members of which would be appointed by the board of control.
