Concerning a recent report of 200 bales of hops by Jess Seavey to Clifford Brown of Salem, dealers here who were present when the transaction was made said Seavey offered 550 bales at 17 cents when the 500 bales were delivered at Corvallis warehouse Brown declined to take only 200 bales at the price quoted.

The market conditions on the team track are not the quality of the hops was responsible for the smaller sale, the dealers said.

ated within the school building, has been suggested. Such a store has been successfully established at Benson Polytechnic school in Portland, it is said, and some efforts have been made to have one introduced at Salem high school. Authorities there, however, are dubious as to the advisability of such a move.

"It could" at mean that we would have to assume one more obligation," said Superintendent Hug this morning. "Furthermore, I would hate to have things sold right here in the building."

Meanwhile it is an open question as to what will become of Kirby Ross, behind whose store 13 boys were last Friday arrested for shooting dice, precipitating the entire agitation. He is expected to appear before Judge Poulson tomorrow in answer to a complaint signed by Principal Nelson, charging him with allowing gambling on his premises. Incidentally he was arrested Saturday for not having a soda fountain license. He has been selling soft drinks for over a year without a license, it is said.

RULE OF LAW ESSENTIAL FOR WORLD PEACE

set an example of moderation in armament and should invite others to pursue a similar program.

"And whenever a particular nation shall convince its neighbors of such a purpose of moderation without aggression," he added, "it will be easier for other nations to adopt a similar attitude."

"The only enduring peace must be the peace of law, of order, of security and honor. Such a peace we wish for ourselves and we devoutly wish to share it with every neighbor in the family of nations."

"Universal and assured peace under the law of nations, is an ideal to which all of us are devoted. It is true that we have not stopped war. But it is also true that there is today a more definite and more widely entertained recognition than ever before, of the possibility to prevent war under an effective rule of law. This is the great advance. We have not reached the end; probably we shall not reach it for many generations. But it can hardly be doubted that the purpose and aspiration of human kind are definitely, intelligently and insistently aimed in the effort to make it an impossibility in this world."

"We are compelled to recognize that national safety requires such a measure of preparedness as shall be the guaranty against aggression, without committing the nation to militarism. For the present, the most we can hope is to secure general armaments in good faith and without reservation of the view that whatever armaments we create, whatever preparations we make, shall be limited to the reasonable requirement of security."

"I do not think we should set a good example by abolishing our army and navy. But we can afford to limit our military and naval establishments so as to assure that, while determined and able to defend ourselves, we have no intent of aggression. If every nation would enforce such a policy, the cost of armaments would be enormously lessened, and the general welfare of humanity correspondingly promoted."

industry as a result of the recent typhoid situation and $300,000 for the Alaska railroad.

Of the $50,000,000 allowed for naval construction, $9,000,000 would be used toward modernization of the battleships New York, Utah, Florida, Texas, Arkansas and Wyoming, the total limit of cost of which is to be $18,360,000.

$11,000,000 for continuing construction of the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga; $3,000,000 for aircraft and accessories for those two ships and $4,000,000 for beginning construction of six gunboats and two of the eight cruisers recently authorized by congress.

The committee allowed an additional $100,000 for prosecuting suits in connection with the naval oil reserve leases and $15,000 for payment of fees and expenses of witnesses testifying before a grand jury here in the new proceedings of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana. The bill, however, did not carry $100,000 requested by the department of justice for further prosecution of war fraud cases.

The bill provides that not to exceed $250,000 of the appropriation made available for the coming fiscal year for transportation of mail can be used by the postmaster general in contracting for air mail service. The post office department, the committee's report said, plans to make contracts for air mail service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, Chicago and St. Louis, Boston and New Hampshire and perhaps a route from Elko, Nev., to a point near Portland, Or.

Included in the bill are $150,000 to be used toward erection of a memorial to the women of the world war in the form of a building on the site of the American Red Cross building here; $374,000 for the construction of a new building for the Federal Reserve Bank here.

PRUNES CONTINUE FIRM BUT NOT QUITE SO ACTIVE

Pruning continues firm, although dried fruit business here generally is not so active at the moment as it has been, the comparatively small quantities available in most lines having this effect, of course. Business continues to advance. The California Prune Growers association is finding a very active market for its carload pack, which is making a material demand upon the immediate states, which are, accordingly, firm and are being gradually advanced by the commercial packers, says the California Prune News.

The Pacific northwest prune situation is very firm. The bulk of the Oregon prunes that are left are in the immediate states, which are, accordingly, firm and are being gradually advanced by the commercial packers, says the California Prune News.

NEW ORDINANCE PROPOSED FOR BOXING BOUTS

The boxing ordinance which has been considered here for some time will be drawn up and presented to the city council for its next regular meeting, and if it is passed will give the city complete power in handling all of the future fights. The bill will call for the appointment of a municipal boxing commission composed of five members which will be empowered to act with full authority.

The commission will have the right to hire a matchmaker, examine the athletes, regulate the gate receipts and to limit the time of the fight. The matchmaker will be given 20 per cent of the net receipts, but not more than a total of $100.

The ordinance is designed to control the gate receipts so that any surplus over $500 will go into the civic emergency fund, which can be spent as the mayor or others may see fit. The surplus money will be placed with the city treasurer. The commission will also have the power to hire a referee, to examine the boxers taking part on the card so as to prevent fighters that are unfit from appearing.

Portions of the bill are designed to give the commission the right to regulate the number of rounds to be fought in the main events. It is thought that ten three-minute rounds will be considered as the main event.

Besides regulating the examining the boxers as to their physical fitness, the commission will also be empowered to see that the contestants weighing less than 135 pounds wear 6-ounce gloves. Boxers who tip the scales at more will be required to wear 8-ounce boxing gloves. This bill will regulate all boxing events in the city except fraternal exhibitions, under certain regulations. They must hold 30-minute matches, with three 3-minute rounds as the feature of the card.

It is also stipulated that only 2 per cent of the seating capacity of the house can be used for the basis of passes or complimentary tickets. Any violation of this ordinance carries with it a $500 fine, as well as a six months' jail sentence clause.
