

TWO ROOSEVELT SONS TO INVADE WILDEST ASIA

New York, Mar. 6.—The call of far lands which lured the late Theodore Roosevelt into the darkest Africa and up the "river of doubt" in Brazil, holds its enchantment for his sons, T. R. Jr. and Kermit.

They will leave the United States early in April to follow the trail of Marco Polo into one of the far remaining parts of the earth as wild and mysterious as those which their father visited—the Himalayan region of southwest Asia.

According to the Roosevelts' "no" American expedition and very few others headed by white men have penetrated this region since Polo passed through it.

Consequently, there are few specimens of the mammals and birds of the country in the museums here or abroad, and the expedition will endeavor to supply this deficiency. All its specimens will go to the Field museum in Chicago.

The zoological prizes on which the Roosevelts' hopes are centered are the oxes, said to be the original type of the mountain sheep, the long tailed tiger, the yak and the macra, the great ibex of the Thian Shan mountains and the gottred gazelle.

Going first to India, the expedition, which will include George K. Chery, scientist, will proceed by rail from the mouth of the Indus to Rawul Pindi and by motor to the vale of Kashmir, which will be its base. From this point ponies, yaks and bacteria camels will carry the party through the Himalayan passes into a land which is not even definitely charted on the maps.

VICTIMS OF KORETZ TO RECOVER PART OF MONEY

Chicago, March 6.—Victims who sunk upwards of $2,000,000 in the late Leo Koretz' mythical Panama oil promotion schemes will get about $400,000 in a distribution of funds salvaged from his estate made possible by the waiver of income tax claims by the internal revenue bureau.

Sculptor in Memorial Squabble

BORGUM AT STONE MOUNTAIN

Gutson Borglum, famous sculptor of the Confederate Memorial on the face of Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, Ga., was summarily dismissed by the committee in charge of the construction of the statue. It is charged that Borglum then destroyed the precious models and plans of the memorial and suit for $50,000 was begun against him for alleged vandalism.

To the Editor:—I was glad to learn that the Washington school property was not given away, at least not today.

With me, there is quite a bit of sentiment connected with that place, having attended school there when it was known as East Salem school, then teaching two years previous to the building of Washington, and later sending our children there. I feel it should never be used for any other purpose but for a school.

In fact, I understand it cannot be used for any other purpose, having been donated to the city for a school by Dr. Wilson and can not be sold without permission from the Wilson heirs.

It is the building is unsafe, make it safe or wreck it. If unsanitary, a place can always be made sanitary.

Right now it is needed for a primary school.

Keep the grounds and build there some day instead of giving it away and in a year or two buy property at a higher price and not so favorably situated.

As to accidents from a train, there never was one out, and that as "Old Timer" says, was 38 years ago.

Children are educated now to never get hurt by anything as slow as a train. It may be the voice of the school board to sell this property for a paltry sum, but it left to the people, it never would happen.

MRS. HETTIE E. FRY, February 26, 1925.

To the Editor:—Replying to Mr. Purdy's letter of February 24, I wish to call attention to a few facts. Numbers never have been an infallible sign of righteousness! Jesus, Paul, Luther Huss, Wyclif, Wesley, Fox, Galileo, Columbus, and a host of others were in the minority, but the truths they held were unconquerable.

"If all the world," says John Stuart Mills, "minus one man,

To wit: The three Hebrew children were vindicated in their refusal to obey the law to bow down to the image by being brought forth uninjured from the flames.

Constitutionally, because the situation says "that course (that is where Mr. Purdy was) shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." Such a law would be in respect to an establishment of the Christian religion.

The proposed measure is suicidal. For the same power that can compel men to put up signs respecting religion can compel them to take them down for the same reason. Suppose Mr. Purdy and his esteemed colleagues succeeded in establishing this precedent in our legislature. Then they could compel me or him to wear the same prayer, or any other religious emblem they saw fit. They could also say we could not wear them.

The time many come when legislators will be committed to such a course for there are many strong organizations lobbying for it, but they are establishing a precedent that will permit any other successful clique to do to them as they are doing to others. Mr. Purdy would not for a minute consent to have congress dictate to him that he must hang images of Buddha on the walls of his home, yet, in the name of Him who said "all things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them," he asks congress to do it to someone else.

JAY RODERICK DE SPAIN, 789 Locust Ave., Salem.

To the Editor: Being a business man of the city of Salem and feeling that it is a duty and a common right to raise my voice in protest when the conduct of our civic affairs is contrary to my honest beliefs, I wish at this time to enter vehement opposition to the present one-hour parking limit on our downtown thoroughfares.

Your contention, Mr. Editor, that "few farmers have been guilty and farmers generally favor the hour limit," doesn't hold good when you consider the following: Statistics will show that the farmers are in the minority insofar as traffic violations are concerned in cities that have traffic problems to contend with. The reason for this is that the average farmer is "law-shy" in other words, our farmer friend so thoroughly protests the idea of appearing in petty courts to answer to traffic violations of any kind that he doesn't run chances like the calloused city man who takes traffic reprimands as a daily course and thinks nothing of it.

Just allow the farmer visitor two hours in which to transact his business while his "Lizzie" is held down a very small space on our amply wide streets and said farmer will not be scared to death every time he ventures to town.

And again, do you support that a farmer drives ten, twenty or perhaps thirty miles for the privilege of parking his car sixty minutes? Suppose for instance that the farm car (or other visitor) would necessarily be detained in a dentist's office; or with the doctor or engage in that long and wearisome business of interviewing his lawyer or favorite abstractor? It would seem to me that instead of allowing him more parking space for an hour's time, he would far more appreciate less parking space and more time to do his errands.

The two hour limit would hit the clerks and business who are in habit of making a garage of the streets as effectively as the hour limit.

Here in Salem we have practically all out of doors to run around in, insofar as streets are concerned, and it is surely stretching matters to compare our broad avenues with the dinky alleys that Portland calls "streets." About the only inconvenience that is met with here in Salem is in the case of a pedestrian crossing the street, he has so far to run, even then the autoist finds plenty of room to miss

Benjamin Franklin said: "When religion is good it will take care of itself; when it is not able to take care of itself, and God does not see fit to take of it, so that it has to appeal to the state for aid, it is evidence to my mind that its cause is a bad one."

Any man is morally justified in disregarding such a law as well as constitutionally justified. Morally, because of Biblical precedent.

him by a few yards. In conclusion I want to say Mr. Editor, that you have been one of the hottest champions of less law and more common sense whose writings I have had the good fortune to read, and I am surprised to note the stand you have taken in regard to this parking proposition.

Very truly yours, HARRY M. LEVY.

Editor Journal:—I notice an article in the Journal from Percy A. Cupper stating that we people who so bitterly fought the drainage district plan would not be flooded if we had adopted the drainage district plan. I would like to disagree with Mr. Cupper on these points. "First." We are not complaining about the water that happens to be in our yards.

"Second." That mill creek does not affect our basements in the least.

Third, We people who are complaining are not living on a gravel soil as stated by Mr. Cupper but a good heavy clay soil and none of our basements have been dug deep enough to reach the gravel, which proves that no water reaches our basements, except which is caused by seepage from our yards, which comes in very good working condition it would amply take care of all the seepage water such as fallen this winter.

I would like to ask Mr. Cupper why there has been no floods in the low-lands to speak of this winter where the drainage district would be mostly affected, and we on the high lands are flooded. According to Mr. Cupper's article we would be led to believe that all our basements would be connected up to this open ditch drainage district, which we all know would not be the case.

I have a well 4 ft. from the bank of the creek and 20 feet deep and is not affected by the creek in the least which proves that our basements are not affected by creek water, the creek has been this high many times before and no water came in to our basements which also proves that the creek has nothing to do with it.

When the low lands are not flooded and the high lands are, a ditch from a half to a mile from our basements would do us no good unless storm sewers were put in at least below our basements, and this drainage district plan provides for no such relief.

Yours truly, B. P. TAYLOR

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

In cake making Snowdrift lends its purity and lightness to the cake itself. Cakes made with Snowdrift are light and delicious and will keep fresh for a considerably longer time than cakes made with other good fats. Using Snowdrift in your own favorite recipe is the best way to find out how good Snowdrift is, but if you haven't a favorite recipe try Kate Brew Vaughn's "California Cake."

- 3 1/2 Cupfuls Sugar
3/4 Cupful Snowdrift
4 Eggs (separate)
3/4 Cupful Strained Orange Juice
1/4 Cupful Water
1 Tablespoonful Grated Orange Rind
3 Cupfuls Flour
3 Teaspoonfuls Baking Powder
1 Teaspoonful Salt
1 Teaspoonful Orange Extract
ALL MEASUREMENTS ARE LEVEL

CALIFORNIA CAKE—Cream the Snowdrift and sugar thoroughly, adding a little water. When very light add the well-beaten yolks of eggs and as quickly as possible add the dry ingredients which have been sifted together and then the liquid. Beat the whites of eggs and add the rind of orange as well as the extract. Bake in two or three layers, and ice. Orange icing recommended.
