FLAX INDUSTRY OUTLOOK BRIGHT KAY TELLS CLUB

Dallas, Or., March 17.—T. H. Kay of Salem, state treasurer, made a strong talk on flax as the coming industry for the Willamette valley before the Dallas chamber of commerce today.

Mr. Kay predicted that in the next ten years the flax industry would be second only to timber and lumbering in Oregon. He spoke of the installation of the Miles linen mill at Salem and stated that another mill concern was already in the field seeking flax for its Vancouver mill, while representatives of a Canadian concern are now in the valley seeking a linen mill location. The Miles mill has the present capacity of the millinery retting plant under contract for the next two years.

Mr. Kay compared the linen weaving industry with the woolen and cotton weaving industry and declared it to be much more simple to handle.

The Willamette valley is the only section in the entire United States that can raise flax on a par with European flax. The invention of practical flax pulling machines, tested here last year, puts up on a par with European countries in the cost of harvesting flax and means to the industry here what the cotton gin did to cotton industry.

MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS

Will Profit by reading Mrs. Quigg's Letter Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Daughter

Royersford, Pa.—"My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years old. She was irregular and also had severe headaches and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, backaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. QUIGG, 210 Main Street, Royersford, Pa.

Another Mother's Letter
Roxbury, Mass.—"At the age of 16 my daughter was all run down, nervous, with poor blood. These troubles made her weak and unfit to work. She tried several medicines, but they did her no good. Finally I induced her to take the Vegetable Compound, too, and she has gained in health and strength and is now working steadily. I have told these facts to many mothers."—Mrs. HUDSON, 262 Eustis Street, Roxbury, Mass.

BUSINESS MEN WOULD SEND HI SCHOOL 5 EAST

Send our basketball champions back to Chicago and put Salem on the map, is the cry of several of the Salem business men.

Salem received an invitation to attend the tournament held in Chicago from March 31st to April 5, and many of the business men are anxious to help out in raising the necessary funds to send the winners of the Oregon state high school basketball title to the east for further laurels. While Salem might not win the title in the windy city they would certainly present a sportsmanlike attitude that would be a credit to the city.

Principal Nelson of the high school is enthused with the idea and intends to make all efforts to send them there. The boys have worked hard this year having one of the toughest schedules of any school in the state and they have certainly earned the right to a trip out of the state. The money raised last year by Medford was forthcoming in short order and there is no reason why Salem should not be able and willing to do the same. The Medford team, winners of the title last year raised a sum of $2500 to take them to Chicago. A like amount would be necessary to send the Salem boys back as they would have to travel nearly as far. The high school would send eight men and the coach as guests of Chicago from March 30 to April 5. The money raised would go to pay the railroad expenses going and coming and the meals on the train.

Mt. Angel News

Mt. Angel, Or., March 17.—(Special.)—St. Patrick's day was observed in Mt. Angel with a solemn high mass in the abbey chapel this morning which was attended by a large number of townspeople. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Abbott Bernard Murphy. St. Joseph's day will be observed on Thursday day morning also with high mass in the chapel on the hill. It will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

When the Mt. Angel college basketball team lost to Columbia university in the college gym by a 42 to 14 score on Sunday afternoon they lost the non-conference title of the state. The game was witnessed by the largest crowd ever packed into the gym. It was estimated that nearly a thousand people were crowded on the main floor and in the balcony. The game itself was marked by brilliant playing on the part of the Columbia five while the Mt. Angel boys seem unable to hit the stride they showed earlier in the season. In the game in Portland, Friday evening, the first of the series, Columbia won by a four-point margin. Among the spectators were seen large numbers of people from Portland, Salem, Woodburn and St. Paul. The college band played before the game and during the half. In a preliminary game the college "dips" won from the Columbia juniors by a score of 14 to 8.

Among those motoring to Corvallis on Saturday evening to attend the deciding conference game were Joe Wachter and Emil Scharbach.

OTIS SKINNER HERE WEDNESDAY

Otis Skinner, comes to the Grand Theater, Wednesday evening, March 18, for an engagement in "Sancho Panza" a fantastic comedy from the pen of Melchior Lengyel, author of "The Crarina." The play is based on certain episodes in Cervantes' famous work, "Don Quixote" and presents Mr. Skinner as the genial squire, Sancho, whose love of his donkey Dapple was greater than his ambition to govern an island. Many of the popular characters of the Cervantes' story appear in the play, including the Don himself, Donna Rodriguez, the Duke of Barataria, Altisidora, Alvino, Gralva, the young Duchess, Father Hyacinth and, of course, Sancho's beloved Dapple.

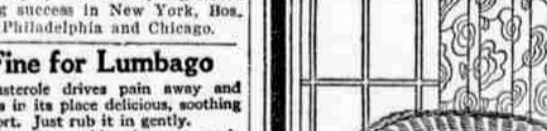

Russell Janney, producer of "Sancho Panza" has provided Mr. Skinner with a cast including some fifty players, singers and dancers. The production has been staged by Richard Boleslawsky of the Moscow Art Theatre, and there is special music by Hugo Felix, composer of "Lassie," "Pom Pom," and "Marjolaine."

The play has already registered a big success in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.
