J. A. Churchill, who for about 12 years has been state superintendent of schools, is being mentioned prominently for the presidency of the state normal school at Ashland when the school is re-opened under an act of the 1925 legislature. It is understood the number of candidates will be large and that many applications are already in the hands of the regents.

While Ashland people and some others about the state believe the school can be opened next September, this will probably be impossible because of the time that will be required to construct the new state room building for which $175,000 was appropriated. This makes it doubtful whether a preliminary election will be held by the state normal school regents prior to early in 1925, and whether the school can start with its own faculty before the summer session of next year.

Each year branch summer school sessions are held at Ashland and Pendleton, and this program will again be followed this year.

CHURCHILL AND RATHBUN REPLY TO CRITICISMS

Rumors of criticisms growing out of the manner of selecting places for the entries in the Oregon state basketball tournament held in the Willamette gymnasium last week resulted in public statements being made this morning by both Superintendent Churchill and Coach Rathbun, who had charge of the tournament.

"The drawings were made right in my office," said Churchill. "Rathbun put the numbers of the districts in a hat and I drew. The numbers of the places were listed on a sheet of paper. Opposite each place I wrote the number of the district that was drawn for that place. I don't know yet which numbers represented which teams—all I know is that I drew the numbers. Dean H. D. Sheldon of the University of Oregon happened to be in the office, and at my request witnessed the drawing. Churchill stated, "It must be that they're just so crooked themselves they believe everybody else will be when he gets a chance."

"I know one thing, they'll never get me into this again. I don't propose to do any more of their drawings for them." It has been an ill conceived fact since the tournament ended so tragically for the Franklin supporters that some of the Franklin crowd is rather disgruntled at the way things went. Much of the criticism broadcasted from Portland has as its target Salem, which incurred Franklin's wrath by winning the state title. In general the Franklin attitude is that Salem had an easy berth in the meet, and the hint has been industriously circulated that the cards were stacked in Salem's favor, an easy bunch of opponents being selected for the local team. Rathbun's statement is as follows:

"When Secretary McLoughlin of the state board phoned me that Franklin would be invited, I went to the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill, who made the drawings for the ten teams that participated. Dean H. D. Sheldon of the school of education at the University of Oregon also witnessed the drawings. This method has been the usual procedure in previous years.

"It is too bad to let a bunch of hangers-on grab the whole act, when the Franklin coach is a fine fellow and hasn't a word of criticism." It was indicated that in future years some new method of drawing places would be devised. "I don't feel that charges of unfairness should come from a school that was allowed to enter the state tournament only by the courtesy of the state athletic association," was the statement made this morning by J. C. Nelson, principal of Salem high school, referring to criticisms of Salem which have been rumored since Franklin high school lost the state title in the tourney held in Salem last week. "Franklin was not a member of the state association, like the rest of us, but was allowed to participate only through the courtesy extended by us."

"Incidentally it is worthy of note that Claire Scallon, captain of the Franklin team, refused to shake hands with John Drager of the Salem team at the close of the game. You may talk all you want to about courtesy but that is one thing I never want our boys to overlook."

WOODMAN CIRCUS TO OPEN HERE THURSDAY

"A Potpourri of Perilous, Penetrating, Perseverant and Perplexing Performances" is the way the circus press agent describes the aerial acts which are a part of the Henry Brothers big two ring circus program opening at the armory Thursday evening for a three day engagement. The circus, which is presented under the auspices of the local W. O. W. lodge, offers a complete array of circus talent including the cute and entertaining antics of a troupe of acting dogs, educated ponies, the Lion Queen and her den of performing jungle lions, frolicsome clowns in absurdities and comical stunts and a hundred other added features to amuse and entertain old and young.

The monster parade will form at Marion square Thursday evening at seven thirty and will cover the principal downtown streets ending at the armory. As a feature of the style show on Friday evening, Mrs. Eddie Browning will be presented in songs. According to the local committee the advance ticket sale insures a big attendance.

COAST TOURNEY HINGES ON WORD FROM IDAHO FIVE

With definite word from Rupert high school of Idaho still lacking, the exact status of the Pacific coast tournament planned for the city of Salem was still undecided early this afternoon. In a telephone conversation held last night between Guy Rathbun, Willamette athletic director, who is chief instigator of the meet, and the superintendent of schools at Rupert, the superintendent stated that the matter was being considered favorably there, and that a definite decision would be forthcoming today. Rathbun stated this morning that unless Rupert, champion of Idaho enters the tournament, it will not be held.

Meanwhile Salem has the opportunity to play Yakima, winner of the Washington state title in the tournament at Seattle, in a three game series. A wire received yesterday afternoon by J. C. Nelson, principal of the local high school, reads as follows: "Yakima Washington inter-scholastic basketball champions challenge Salem high to three games in Yakima March twenty seventh and twenty eighth at the northwest championship. Wire, R. K. Keeter."

As yet the wire has not been answered, local authorities awaiting the outcome of events with regard to the state tournament. Indications given out are that there is no chance of a game at Yakima at least until the meet here is definitely abandoned. In a conversation over the telephone last night, Yakima authorities stated that they stand willing to come to Salem in the event a coast meet is staged here, but if Yakima and Salem are the only teams to play, Yakima would prefer to play at home. The Washington team has definitely abandoned the idea of going east to Chicago.

While U. G. Shipley was driving his automobile past the A. C. Haag & Co. shop at 444 Ferry street today, an employee of the shop, backing out of the shop into Ferry street, collided with Shipley, according to a report at the police station.

NEAR MAN-HUNT ENDS ABRUPTLY

"Hi! Stop him! Stop him! Where did he go?" Shouting at the top of his voice, County Detective Sam Burkhardt ran from behind the counter at the sheriff's office yesterday with all intents and purposes hot in pursuit of George Hunt, who had been taken from the jail to go to court.

Burkhardt had taken Hunt up to the office to get the prisoner's hat, which was behind the counter. Burkhardt went after the hat leaving the prisoner outside the counter. Burkhardt reached over, took the hat, and when he turned around there was no Hunt in sight. It was then that Burkhardt made his mad dash, calling on all good men and true to come to the aid of the party.

When he got around the counter Burkhardt stopped, the eager look on his face changing to a blank one.

Hunt had merely leaned over to tie one of his shoes loose. He could not be seen by Burkhardt from behind the counter.

So the man hunt ended almost as soon as it started.

STILL OPERATOR IS CAUGHT

Joe Polley, for whom a warrant was issued by Marion county authorities six weeks ago on the charge of owning a still, was arrested today at Bend, Oregon, and will be returned to Salem within a few days.

Polley's place is located near Jefferson. County officials state that they found a still in operation on his place immediately after the warrant was sworn out. Polley disappeared at the time, however, and has not been heard from until today.

NEW OVERHEAD CROSSING PLANS ARE SUBMITTED

Plans for the new overhead crossing structure on the proposed new road between Marion and Jefferson over the Southern Pacific tracks have been submitted to the Marion county court by the state highway department and bids on the structure will be received at a meeting of the highway commission in Portland on March 25. Copies of the plans are on file with the highway department and with County Roadmaster Culver.

The new structure is to be of reinforced concrete, the central span to be 33 feet long with two 45 foot approaches. The roadway will be 29 feet wide, with concrete railings on the bridge, and the structure will have a 22 foot clearance over the tracks.

By installation of the new overhead crossing and changes to be made in the present right of way five grade crossings will be eliminated between Marion and Jefferson. It is expected work will go ahead and be completed this summer, agreement having been reached with the railroad company.

Scientific and Practical

This new Collings Truss is based on the most scientific principles for holding a rupture. It is not only representative of mechanical perfection but contains that super-power for holding a rupture without discomfort, and that makes for a complete recovery where the result is possible.

Contains No Springs

There are no springs or metal parts used in this new truss other than the small necessary buckles; instead it is made of high grade elastic web with soft, pliable cloth back made wider so as to distribute the pressure over a broader surface. Prevents all cutting and chafing, and gives the necessary uplift to the pads.

It Holds the Rupture

It is easily, quickly and permanently adjusted so an even and uniform pressure can be constantly maintained at any desired tension. The patented sectional pads are adaptable and will fit any kind of rupture. As the cure progresses the pressure can be lessened without a change of pads.

It Stays Put

When placed in position, the Truss stays put and does not skid or slide. Regardless of the position of the wearer's body; stooping, jumping or standing erect, the Truss remains firm and set, and adjusts itself as the occasion demands.

Comfortable Day or Night

To do its maximum amount of good a truss should be worn continuously day and night. Upon retiring many people remove their truss, with the result that the weakened muscular tissues relax and oftentimes allow the rupture to assume the form of the original protrusion. This new Truss can be worn at all times.
