"I have seen nothing anywhere in the world to equal Oregon grown flax," was the statement made before the Salem chamber of commerce this noon by D. M. Sanson, head of large Canadian flax interests, and said to be interested in establishing a linen mill in the Willamette valley. "I do not necessarily mean that it will produce fibre that will make the highest type of linen," he qualified his statement, "but the flax straw itself appears to be the best I have ever seen." Sanson explained at length the technicalities of the linen industry, from the time the fibre enters the mill until it comes out in the form of linen cloth. In his Canadian mills he makes table linen with 200 threads to the square inch, he says, which is nearly as fine as the finest Irish product.

ing as district attorney of the local judicial district, having special relation to criminal work in his home county. He also served as city attorney of Salem for a number of years and on the Salem school board. For a number of years he was active in military affairs, serving as adjutant of the Oregon regiment with the rank of lieutenant.

Fraternally he was a member of the Independent Order of Odd-fellows and the Woodmen of the World.

He joined the Presbyterian church at Pleasant Grove near Amaville, which is the oldest Presbyterian church west of the Rocky mountains now standing, and of which his grandfather, Philip Condit, was at one time a minister. He has been a consistent member of that church during his entire life, having been for 21 years clerk of the session of the First Presbyterian church of Salem, and being twice honored by election as a delegate from Oregon to the national, or general assembly of the church.

Funeral services will be held from the First Presbyterian church here at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Ward Willis Long in charge and interment will be had in the family cemetery at Pleasant Grove near Amaville. The active pall bearers will be chosen from the Marion county bar association, the Independent Order of Odd-fellows and from the Woodmen of the World and the honorary pall bearers will be the entire session of the First Presbyterian church.

serious danger that the team may get stranded in Chicago or at some other point along the way, a serious hardship in getting home.

A delegation of high school students was in the business district of the city all morning, and succeeded in getting promises for a number of sums. The tag sale Saturday netted a little more than had been counted on, a total of $274.50 being turned in Saturday night by the girls who staged the sale. The tag sold for anywhere from 10 cents up to $5, which is the highest price reported to have been paid for a single tag.

It is believed on all sides that the drive for funds will eventually go over, and those in charge state that it would have gone over before had it not been for the harmful effects of rumors started by individuals who were more optimistic than accurate.

SMART SHOP EXPANDS; BUYS STORE AT ALBANY

Albany, Or., March 23.—The Smart Shop of Salem has purchased the military stock and business of Smith Sisters at 223 West First street. Announcement of the transaction was made this morning by Mr. Schlossburg, proprietor. The new owner took immediate charge.

Purchase of the Albany establishment is the first step of a policy of expansion which will establish such stores in cities of the Willamette valley.

The name of the Albany store will be the Smart Shop.

The management by establishing stores throughout the valley is planning an extensive business which will enable it to buy in large volume, thereby enabling it to sell its goods at attractive prices.

The local store will be managed by Ray McDevitt of Salem.

On above date the noted rupture appliance expert, C. F. Redlich, will prove to every ruptured person free of charge:

"That you can no more acquire an efficient and comfortable rupture appliance by mail than you can a set of teeth, as all those who, for years have been wearing ill fitting, elastic webbs, or other poorly fitting trusses know to their sorrow. Their ruptures were small when they started with these makeshifts and now they are large and often painful.

"That an appliance, to be efficient and comfortable cannot be sent by mail or sold over the counter but has to be up to date, scientifically constructed and must be fitted to you by an expert in person.

"That only through this expert personal work will you be comfortable for years to come, can perform your work and eventually become normal again because people have different shapes and ruptures are hardly ever in the same condition and location."

Statistics show that 95% of all children by wearing proper sanitary appliances, get rid of their ruptures.

Those afflicted with naval or ventral ruptures after operation, or prolapsing stomachs will be much interested in his high grade up to date abdominal supporters for men and women, made to fit all sizes, shapes and purses.
