ELECT OFFICERS FOR RIVER LINE OUT OF SALEM

Officers were elected for the Salem Navigation company, corporation organized for the purpose of operating a boat line on the Willamette river between Salem and Portland, at a meeting of stockholders in Portland last night. F. W. Karr of Salem, traffic manager for the Oregon Pulp and Paper company, was elected president. Dean Vincent of Portland, vice president of the Portland Trust and Savings company, was made treasurer and a Virgin Crum of Portland was made secretary.

The corporation is organized for the purpose of putting the operations of the Northwestern on a permanent basis. The Northwestern has been running between Salem and Portland for several months, but no definite organization of a transportation company was effected until last night. Value of the stock is set at $20,000.

F. W. Karr, president of the company, owns two thirds of the stock, having purchased that amount from Dean Vincent, who formerly owned the entire boat. Vincent retains one third ownership of the stock.

"This transportation company is going to be a permanent affair," said Karr this morning. "Some have had the idea that we might not stay here permanently, but we've come to stay. We're going to run all summer at low water."

A government official was brought up the river on the Northwestern yesterday, and returned on the same boat today. After looking the river over carefully he stated that it had never been in better condition for navigation than at present except for a few places that can be taken out. Work by the government will be begun immediately on clearing the river of all snags between Salem and Portland, and dredging in a few places.

GOT $8000 STUB SHOWED ONLY $5000

July 9, 1924, Thompson wrote a check in favor of the First National bank of Portland for $8000 and requested the bank to send the treasury the $8000 in currency.

Thompson then filled in only $5000 on the stub of the check. Hamilton says the books reveal, and entered the amount of the check on his daily balance as only $500.

On July 29, the records show, Thompson wrote a check in favor of J. A. Elliott, as state forester. (Elliott's initials are F. A. instead of J. A.) and entered it on the books to make them balance, Hamilton asserts.

Elliott denies that any such amount was paid to him or his department at that time.

The Hamilton says the books show, Thompson further covered his manipulation of the records by padding his salary receipts on July 29 by $3000. He also later changed the amount on the check stub from $5000 to $8000 to conform with the cancelled check when it was returned from the bank.

In his reputed confession to detectives employes of the bonding companies Thompson is said to have admitted embezzlement of $5000, the full amount of the shortage in the treasury books when T. H. Kay took over the office. Of this amount he has already repaid and relieved the bonding companies from the obligation of making good $1031. Approximately $3569 remains to be accounted for, or $969 more than is cleared up by the discovery reported by Hamilton.

If Hamilton's discovery is authenticated it will remain for Thompson or the Fidelity & Deposit company of Maryland, his bondsmen, to make good the $2000. Prior to June 1 of last year Thompson's bond was held by the American Surety company, but on that date it was transferred to the Fidelity & Deposit company. It was during his period of office at present except for a few things that can be taken out. Work by the government will be begun immediately on clearing the river of all snags between Salem and Portland, and dredging in a few places.

PADEN TELLS OF SALEM CONTEST

The following letter has been received by Miss Paden, art teacher at Salem high school, from her father, W. S. Paden, who was in Chicago while the national basketball tournament was being staged.

"April 1, 1925. My Dear Daughter:—I arrived in Chicago last night and went out and met all the Salem bunch and spent the evening with Mr. Huntington, watching three games. In one of them Portland lost because they could not throw baskets on their free throws from fouls, which cost them the game. This morning I went down to see Salem play Torrington, Connecticut, and was sorry they lost because they really deserved to win. Salem played as fast a game the first half as I ever saw, and I really think they were too tired in the second half, as everybody in the crowd noticed they had slowed up very materially, even so, they should have won, but Torrington made three baskets they never even expected to come near, and all of them were made in about five minutes in the second half. One of them was the greatest 'break basket' I ever saw, as the fellow threw the ball to kick from behind, which did it went in the basket. The Daily News gives these two teams credit for the best playing so far, and Salem should have won easily if they had got one-half the breaks Torrington did, and the game really should have been 21 to 23 in favor of Salem. Sorry your team lost.

"With lots of love, your dad, W. S. PADEN."

EVANGELICAL CONFERENCE AT PORTLAND ENDS

A delegation of ministers and laymen of Evangelical churches in and near Salem returned to this city from Portland Monday, following the annual conference of delegates from western Oregon and Washington. Seventy-five men were present at the conference.

Those attending from Salem were Rev. P. W. Lamer and Oscar Straubach of the Chemeketa street church, and Rev. C. Poling his son, Rev. Paul N. Poling, E. D. Doty and Rev. G. R. Stover. Rev. G. L. Lovell, presiding elder of the Salem district, was also present.

By vote of the conference both Rev. Poling and Rev. Lamer were returned to their Salem churches. Rev. Poling is pastor of the First Evangelical church. W. E. Simpson was elected for the Evangelical pastorate at Lewisville. E. G. Hornshaege goes to Brooks and Lallah Center. J. E. Burns goes to Clear Lake and Middle Grove. G. E. Erskine returns to Jefferson. A. R. Schmale is a new minister at Albany. A. P. Layton will return to Dallas. F. M. Fisher was newly selected for the place at Dayton and LaPayette.

Rev. J. Bowersox, who has been a resident of Salem at various periods of his life, and who he first moved here, was honored with a banquet. He is now 81 years old, has retired and is living in Portland. The main address at the banquet was made by Rev. Poling of Salem, who has known Rev. Bowersox for many years. Rev. Bowersox responded with an address.

KURDS ALL UP IN ARMS AGAINST TURK EDICT

London, Apr. 8.—A correspondent of the Daily Express has penetrated into the heart of Kurdistan, whence he sent a dispatch by courier representing the whole population up in arms, prepared to wage a bitter struggle, not only against the Turks but against restoration of the caliphate, the abolition of which is regarded as an insulting blow to the Moslem faith.

The correspondent confirms the report that Sheikh Said, who is leading the Kurdish insurrection, desires to install a son of the late Abdull Hamid as caliph.

Only one suffered by the Willamette team on its tour that year. Tonight Redding and Berriman, representing the local school, will uphold the affirmative side of the question. "Resolved, That congress should be empowered by a two-thirds vote to re-enact legislation declared unconstitutional by the supreme court." The contest will be the second of the year in which the local men have upheld the affirmative on the question, having taken the negative in all other cases except in the contest with the University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

PASSION WEEK NOON SERVICES

The message at the Passion week services at the Oregon theater today was delivered by Rev. E. H. Shanks, pastor of the First Baptist church. His subject was "The Home." He said in part:

"Much of the ministry of Jesus is gathered around the home, the beautiful home life of the Palestine Jew. His ministry of healing and many of his finest addresses were in the homes of the people, or related to home life. Someone has said, 'As is the home, so is the nation.' America has been called a nation of homes."

The solo number was sung by Mrs. Harry Harms. Tomorrow noon the message will be given by Dr. E. C. Hickman, president of Kimball college of theology, and music will be given by the First M. E. choir. The organ recital by Mr. McManis, which is a daily feature of the services, will include the following numbers: "Sonnet," "Elegie," and "Humoresque."

The meetings last one hour, and are out at 12:45. Invitation has been extended to the general public to be present.

WISCONSIN TEAM HERE FOR DEBATE

For the second time in the history of the two schools, Willamette university and Lawrence college, of Appleton, Wisconsin, will meet in debate on the local platform tonight. The original clash between teams representing both institutions occurred two years ago when a Willamette team went east. At that time Willamette was defeated 2 to 1 in a closely contested contest, the Lawrence team introducing a surprise case that proved to be too much for the visiting team. The defeat was the tainly made 9 boosters for Salem and the Willamette valley," said Hollis Huntington, basketball coach, this morning. "We didn't see a leaf or a blade of grass until we got back to the coast."

BASKETBALL CHAMPS BACK FROM CHICAGO

None of the players was in good condition, three of them, Ashby, Ellis and Nash, being seriously sick much of the time. Ashby was threatened with pneumonia, and after his arrival in Chicago until Wednesday morning, when he played in the first game. Ellis and Nash were not quite so seriously affected. Nash's trouble was acute appendicitis, which kept him in bed for one day.

The teams met by Salem were no better than the type put out by Dallas, Corvallis and places of similar strength, according to Huntington. Salem should have won over them easily, and would have done so had it not been for the poor condition of the players. He and Mecha of Franklin have both stated that another year they will recommend that any team making the trip have at least three days rest before playing.

Reports given out by Salem players verified rumors that had already reached Salem concerning the miraculous playing of one Torrington forward, Skoskowiak. He shot baskets from every point on the floor, according to Huntington, many of the shots being made with one hand. It was impossible to guard him effectively. In later games he did not show up in such a phenomenal fashion.

Those returning this morning were Dennis Heenan, Robert Drager, Robert Ashby, Thomas Duffey, Wesley Ellis, Jerome Hanson, Glen Nash and Coach Huntington. A thousand students, comprising the entire student body of the high school, were on hand to greet them, school being temporarily dismissed for the purpose.

At Chicago, contrary to popular belief, the team did not practice on the University of Chicago floor. A few work outs were held in a small gymnasium near the campus, but the team never went on the floor until time to play. The backboards at the university gymnasium were of plate glass, but were covered with white paint, and the action on the hall was little different than that of a wooden backboard, to which the local players were accustomed.

One feature of the tournament, so far as Salem is concerned, was the fact that Franklin and Salem buried the hatchet and rooted for

Are You Planning to Borrow?

There are two main points to consider when borrowing money. First, are repayment privileges so arranged as to be suited to your requirements? Secondly, is the interest cost the lowest that can be obtained? Here at Hawkins & Roberts, you can secure a mortgage loan which can be paid back in predetermined amounts over a period of 142 or 200 months. Moreover, the cost for the use of the money borrowed is remarkably low.
