SENATORS PLAY CAMAS HERE IN SUNDAY OPENER

Unless inclement weather causes the postponement of the game tomorrow afternoon, the Salem Senators will open the Interstate league season when they clash with the strong Camas nine on the Oxford park diamond. Interest in baseball is keen and the fans will be in for one of the best games of the season when the umpire calls "play ball!" The locals have secured better games for the Salem fans this year by joining the league.

Both Barham and Ashby are in the best of condition, as they have been out each night and they ought to be in mid-season form. Barham will start on the mound for the locals. He started the season with the Senators last year but had to quit owing to an injury to his ankle. Last Sunday the Senators had a good workout and they looked like a million.

The Camas team comes here with a good reputation, as they have gathered in the cream of the semi-pro players in the valley. "Big Bill" Kuss is twirling for them and will start the game. Bill is a whirlwind when he is in form and when the old "splitter," which is depended on to turn them back to the bench, gets started it is mighty hard to hit. Kuss hurled the apple for the locals last year in one game against the Kelso nine when the locals won 2-1. This was the best game of the season. If both of these men are in form the fans are likely to see a pitcher's duel.

"Frisco" Edwards, manager of the Senators, will probably start the best lineup the Senators have had for years. It is not known definitely what players will participate, although it is a fact Barham will twirl. The tentative lineup for the game tomorrow will be: Blanchard, 1b; Proctor, 2b; Miller or Boston, ss; Haines or Coleman, 3b; Edwards, c; Goetz, Steers, Barr and Coleman, outfielders. It may be necessary to shift Keene to the first sack. The tentative lineup for the visitors: Kuss, p; Dillon, c; Tidland, 1b; Rogoway, 2b; Boesch, 3b; Gahrino or Zimmerman, ss; Jacobberger, Goldman, Goodwin and Blair, outfielders. The game will start at 3 p. m. sharp.

KILLING OF GOAT INSPIRES VERSE

E. M. Croisan of Salem had a venerable Angora goat. The other day it was killed by a train. Mr. Croisan wrote the following to R. Crosby, claim agent, at the North Bank station in Portland: My thoroughbred Angora goat Walked boldly upon your right-of-way. Then came along your local train And rudely snuffed his life away. This goat always gentle and kind You wantonly struck down in his prime, So I am greatly shocked at this foul deed, And to recompense my mental anguish, take heed. Whether with premeditated or malicious intent, I would never be able to swear, But for the reasonable sum of seven bucks I will gladly call it square.

Mr. Crosby sent back the following: Your Angora was a sport, When he walked out in the rain, Across the track, when time was short Ahead of a passenger train. You say he was killed in his prime, I can hardly believe what you say, He looked as old as Father Time, And surely had seen his day. You think he was killed by intent, The whistle blew and they rang the bell, Just as soon as they noticed his scent, And they tried to save him from—II. You ask seven bucks for the loss, Of that gory son-of-a-gun, But I will have to talk to the boss, Before paying seven for one.

He Hadn't Seen Show for 18 Years

A New York City policeman, who admitted in court he hadn't been inside a theatre for eighteen years, (and he certainly couldn't have seen some of Broadway's latest productions,) went into a Brooklyn cabaret and arrested Frankie Lloyd, a performer, on the grounds that she appeared in shockingly abbreviated costume. So Frankie wore the costume in police court and the judge postponed the case for two weeks, by which time the styles will have changed, anyway. There was a S. R. O. sign on the court room when Miss Lloyd did her stuff.

A play will be given in the BOTH WILLS AND GIBBONS TO BOX

New York, April 11.—Harry Wills, New York negro, and Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, will appear in New York outdoor rings this summer, but not against each other. Gibbons' opponent will be the American light heavyweight king, Gene Tunney, and the battle will take place at the Polo Grounds, June 12. A week later Wills will climb into the same ring to encounter Charley Weiner of Newark, N. J.

Both Wills and Weiner have conquered the erstwhile prominent South American heavyweight, Luis Angel Firpo, by newspaper decisions. The bout featuring Gibbons and Wills will come close together but not close enough to satisfy the boxing followers, who demand that the champion's most persistent challengers, "fight it out." Their signing makes certain of one factor in the pugilistic situation—Jack Dempsey will not box before Labor Day. There will be no opponent for him.

DODGE BROTHERS SPECIAL TOURING CAR

The first cars bearing Dodge Brothers name were Touring Cars.

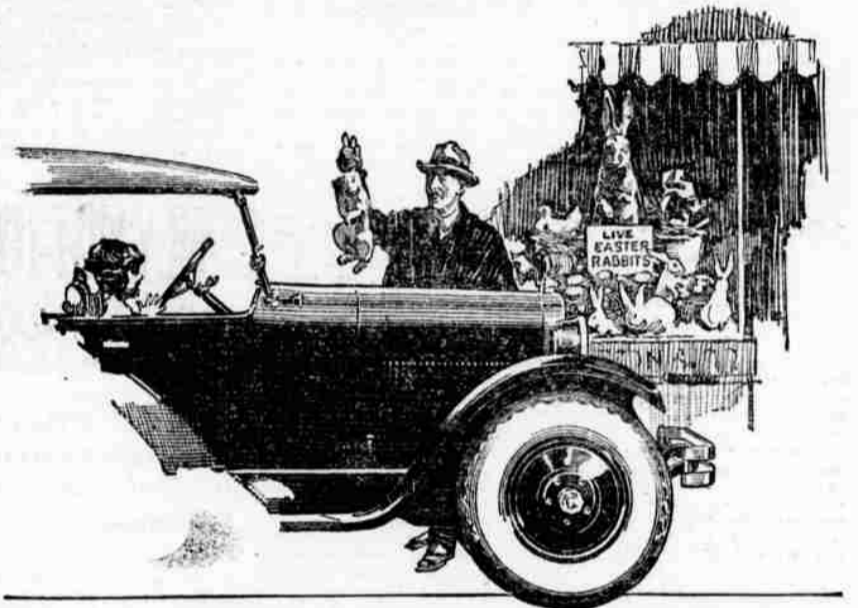

They were good and sturdy cars, so good and so sturdy that no radical change in basic design has been found necessary during these ten intervening years.

This fact has had far-reaching results. It has enabled Dodge Brothers to dedicate those ten years to the constant betterment of the original product.

More recently this endless process of improvement has manifested itself in various and impressive ways—in a new degree of riding comfort, a new smoothness of operation, a new and appealing beauty of line, and in those special details of appointment which distinguish the Special Touring Car. $985 f. o. b. COOLIDGE SAYS EDICT IS FINAL

Washington, April 11.—President Coolidge has replied to the Peruvian memorial on his Tacna-Arica arbitration award that as to both the Peruvian contentions concerning the plebiscite provision and the requests for additional guarantees in carrying out the plebiscite the award must be considered as "final and without appeal."

The arbitrator is constrained so to rule with respect to the Peruvian provisions, the president said, both under terms by which Peru and Chile submitted their dispute to arbitration and under the "general principles of international law." While his reply "well might end" with this ruling, the president said in deference to the nations involved and in the interest of a correct understanding and proper procedure under the award he appended "certain additional observations" with respect to the points raised in the Peruvian memorial.
