According to the findings of the committee of the business and professional women's club it is doubtful whether the club will accept the offer made by the Valley Motor company of the house formerly occupied by Rigdon's on High street. The motor company offered the house to the business women's club if they would move it off but the women are finding that the cost of moving would be more than the building is worth and they have not yet found a suitable location on which to move it. The committee will report at the club meeting Wednesday evening.

PLANS LAID FOR EXTENDING AIR MAIL SERVICE

Washington, April 13.—Postmaster General New issued regulations today governing the letting of contracts to transport mail by air under authority of a recent law and through which a number of extensions of the air mail service probably will be made during the coming summer.

The postmaster general pointed out that the first step in beginning the contract air mail routes is to existance would originate with postmasters by petitioning the postoffice department as to the need of establishing new air mail routes between different cities. After considering such petitions he will advertise for bids.

Department officials and air mail enthusiasts throughout the country are in accord in the belief that the operation of the new law will place America on a par with commercial aviation abroad, which in most cases is heavily subsidized by the various European governments," said a statement by the department today outlining the contract regulations.

Air mail contractors, under the law, in addition to mail, may carry passengers, freight and express.

SUNDAY GAME NO GOLD MINE FOR LOCALS, CLAIM

Rumors have been rife around the streets this morning that the Salem Senators made a lot of money on yesterday's ball game, according to Cuyler Van Patten, president of the board of directors of the club. "This is absolutely untrue," says Van Patten. "The club is under a heavy expense the first of the season. We had to put a new roof on the grandstand, new entrance gates, fix the ground, club house, fence, bleachers, clean the uniforms and buy bats and ball." The club has spent a sum of $200 so far this season, $50 of this will be returned at the end of the playing season if the Senators finish the playing season. "We hope the Salem fans will give us the proper support," Van Patten said.

Van Patten was pleased with the large attendance yesterday and said that the club might break a little better than even on the home game if they have the same crowds as they did yesterday, which is not expected. The club broke just a little better than even on yesterday's game, according to Van Patten. The expenses will come when the club goes away for their games. As an example, the Camas club made $115 their 40 per cent of the gate receipts, on a good attendance. This sum was not enough to meet the expenses of the players and transportation. If the Senators lose they get 40 per cent and if they win they get 60 per cent.

If the locals received as much as Camas club did yesterday on the games away from home they would still lose money."

ESCAPED CONVICTS TIE AND ABDUCT MOTORIST

San Rafael, Cal., April 13.—Two men believed to be Floyd Hall and Joe Tanko, escaped murderers from San Quentin state prison, held up Nels Peterson, while he was driving home in Santa Rosa last night, bound and gagged him and then carried him in the car along a crowded highway to Novato, 25 miles south of Santa Rosa where they tied him to a tree. They then drove off in the machine.

The bandits robbed Peterson of everything but his knife. He then walked to Petaluma, 10 miles distant, where he notified the police. One of the men had a pistol, Peterson said.

Sheriff J. J. Keating of this county was notified and rushed to Petaluma with a posse. New York, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Marward.

Men and Women in News of the Day

"Tex" Rickard, famous prize fight promoter of New York, has been fined $7,000 in a Federal Court in Newark, N. J., for conspiracy to violate the interstate commerce laws by transporting the films of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight out of New Jersey. More scandals in British society are expected to be bared in the divorce suit filed in London by the Duchess of Westminster. Roldal Amundsen, noted Norwegian explorer, with a party, in two airplanes, expects to hop off from the icecap north of Spitzbergen for a flight over the North Pole in May. The party expects to spend a full day at the Pole. Florence Reddington, trained nurse of New York City, is suing Colonel Isaac M. Ullman, millionaire manufacturer and politician of New Haven, Conn., for $150,000, alleging he is the father of her four-year-old son, and that he is guilty of breach of promise to marry.

DEDICATE NEW TURNER CHURCH

Turner, Apr. 13.—Sunday morning the fine new building built for the Turner Christian church by Mrs. C. A. Davis in memory of her father and mother, was dedicated with very impressive services. S. M. Endicott, who has had charge of the building operations, made the presentation address for the donor, Mrs. Davis, who was present at the service.

In his talk Mr. Endicott set forth the aims and objects of the church. The dedicatory address was delivered by Dr. Santeron of the Eugene Bible university. The building was crowded to capacity with members and friends.

The building is substantial and well equipped and will be a lasting memorial to the Turner family, and one of which the community may well be proud. The dedicatory prayer was offered by C. E. Swartz of Portland, assisted by several of the members of the church. At noon a community basket dinner was served in the commodious dining room in the basement of the church.

In the afternoon part of the time was given over to short talks by former pastors of the congregation, among them being Rev. Ralph Putnam of Court street church, Salem, who probably had more to do with organizing the church in Turner than any other man. Following this was the Easter sermon by Rev. Frank L. Purnell, state evangelist, who is holding a revival meeting in Turner at the present time. The sermon, based on the Resurrection, was a very instructive and well delivered discourse. The evening was the regular evangelistic sermon from the subject "God's Answer to Man's Question."

KEIZER SCHOOL PLAY IS WARMLY RECEIVED

The play "Deacon Dubbs" was successfully presented by the pupils of Keizer school at the school house last week. Members of the cast showed considerable practice, and had been well trained in their parts by the teaching force of the school. The cast was as follows: Deacon Dubbs, Marion Matthews; Amos Coleman, George Settlemyer; Rawdon Crawley, Glen Savage; Major McNeill, Gordon Bowen; Deuteronomy Jones, Howard Evans; Ross Raleigh, Margaret Wells; Miss Philomena Popover, Vivian Adams; Emily Dale, Lula McClay; Trisxie Coleman, Claudia Settlemyer; Yennie Jensen, Lucile Cummings.

business for the past 32 years.

"However, I maintain from the start that the project here must be fostered by those known locally to be successful," he said.

Colonel Bartram sketched briefly the career of Dominion Linens and drew a brief parallel between conditions under which that company had operated and conditions in the Willamette valley, declaring that conditions here are better in every respect.

Dominion Linens originally started with a capital of $25,000, according to Bartram. It has grown to a present valuation of $500,000, and has paid good dividends up until the year 1924, when a low tariff let large quantities of European goods into the Canadian market and forced the company to operate at little or no profit. COURT HOLDS COMPULSION NOT BINDING

State supreme court has upheld the right of the industrial welfare commission of Oregon to regulate the hours of labor for women and minors. This decision was in the case of Frank C. Stettler vs. the industrial welfare commission, which was composed at that time of Edwin V. O'Hara, Bertha Moore and Amedeo M. Smith.

Relative to the holding of the United States supreme court that compulsory arbitration is unconstitutional, Gram says that he always been his contention and the contention of organized labor in Oregon. The Oregon state board of conciliation, Gram explains, does not have authority to force arbitration, but may settle industrial disputes by arbitration only if both the contending sides agree to it.

Open Shop War Unheld.

Washington, April 3.—The Sherman anti-trust law was not violated by the Builders' Exchange, the Industrial Association and others of San Francisco in the fight for the open shop, the supreme court decided today in reversing the lower courts.

The court held that the builders opposing the union were not guilty of restraining interstate commerce in building materials.

The permit system enforced by the builders during the controversy under which building materials were withheld from those who did not maintain open shop, was found by the court not to have been illegal.

State Has Prior Tax Right.

Washington, April 3.—California's inheritance tax can be imposed upon an estate before the federal inheritance or estate tax has been deducted, the supreme court held today in a case brought by the estate of Henriette Pierce Watkins.

The courts of California sustained the state in imposing its inheritance tax without deducting from the value of the estate the tax paid the federal government.

The question decided will affect the taxation of inheritance in a number of states.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD GRANTS MINOR PERMITS

A grant of minor orders was handed down by the public service commission Saturday. They were:

Application granted C. C. Cameron for authority to construct an industry spur track at grade along Water street and across Ferry street in Albany.

Application of Union county court granted to construct a public highway across the tracks of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company tracks at grade in Union county.

Application of state highway commission granted permitting and authorizing the establishment of a grade crossing over the tracks of the September Valley Railroad company 3 1/2 miles south of Baker.

Application denied for city of Pendleton to construct a grade crossing over the Northern Pacific tracks at Matlock street in that city.

Application of city of Pendleton granted to construct grade crossing over Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation tracks on Bennett street.

Application of Shannon Lumber company granted for construction of logging road across certain county roads in Lane county.

C. H. Ostrin, 1550 Chemekeka street, was fined $5 today for driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street.

so, he stated, many of the products are shipped into the United States, paying the high United States tariff at a figure to cover expenses.

"And they are producing yarn with a flax that is infinitely inferior to yours," he said.

A mill operating in the Willamette valley would not have the competition of any other mill in the United States, Bertram stated, it being the only one that would produce goods of that kind directly from flax fibre. The local mill would be working under the protection of a government tariff that amounts to 50 per cent of the value of the goods.

Investigation has shown that the cost of living here is slightly less than in the vicinity of the Canadian mills, and weather conditions are infinitely more agreeable, all of which makes for low expenses and efficient work as compared to Canadian conditions. In Canada they have winter seven months of the year. He estimated a margin of 20 per cent over Canadian competition.

"While everything has a risk, and some hazards," he declared, "I believe there is a minimum of risk in this. After 19 months study of the situation I am convinced that the proposition is feasible. There is no reason why a new linen mill should not eventually result in supplying work for thousands of men in this vicinity. This first mill would be one spoke in the wheel. I believe that Oregon will eventually become the largest center of the linen industry in the world."

A Shirt Tale Which Should Interest You

You may or may not be in any particular need of shirts, just now—but we'll wager you could find room for just one or two more, if you saw the collection of rather unusual IDE'S which has just arrived here.

The showing includes both fancy colored and whites. Some are made with soft collar attached; some with separate starched collar to match; some with no collar.

All are cut from fine, soft, wear-resisting fabrics, exclusive in cloth and designs. The fancies are guaranteed to last.

The tailoring and finish are superb. Full cut and roomy. We doubt if you could get a more perfect fit if your shirts were made to order.

Withal, the entire collection is popularly priced. Purposely so—We're more interested in serving a lot of men on a close margin, than a limited number at the usual dealers' margin. Won't you drop in today or tomorrow and see these shirts while the variety of choice is at its best?
