

WHEAT PRICE BREAKS ANOTHER 9 CENTS

HEAVY SELLING FORCES PRICES DOWN SHARPLY

Chicago, April 15.—Heavy selling from houses with eastern connections brought about a big break here today in the price of the May delivery of wheat. The closing price for that month was $1.51 1/2 to $1.52, showing an extreme setback of 9 cents a bushel as compared with yesterday's finish.

Chicago, April 15.—The wheat opening, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 lower, May $1.50 1/2 to $1.51 1/2, and July $1.45 1/2 to $1.47 1/2, was followed by a sell all around and then by a rise to $1.47 3/4 for July with a decline later to $1.46 May and $1.44 1/2 July.

After opening unchanged to one cent lower May $1.49 1/2 to $1.50 1/2 the corn market scored an advance, but eased later with wheat. Oats started unchanged to 3/4 cent up, May 41 1/2 to 42 1/2. Late all the month showed gains until wheat weakness became pronounced.

Provisions were without aggressive support.

Wheat prices closed weak 1/4 to 1/2 net lower, May $1.51 1/2 to $1.52 and July $1.43 1/2 to $1.44.

Corn closed heavy 3/4 to 1/2 net lower, May $1.95 1/2 to $1.96.

STORED BUTTER HOLDINGS FAST BEING REDUCED

Portland, Ore., April 15.—Butter holdings throughout the country have been reduced materially during the past month. On April 1 the total storage holdings in the United States as reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics were 10,990,000 pounds of creamery stock as compared to 28,789,000 pounds March 1. They are still considerably more than a year ago when 7,842,000 pounds were shown in storage on April 1.

In the face of the liberal reduction in the big surplus, which caused so much anxiety during the winter, the market is talking on a more favorable complexion. Locally the butter market is showing a better tone with the small surplus well taken care of. Standard cubes are a half cent higher on the exchange at 42 cents. No change is shown in print prices.

Veal Demand Slow

Country dressed veal are dragging in the local market today; receipts are fairly good along the street but buyers not interested; it takes an extremely fancy calf to bring 15 1/2 cents with most of the butchers unwilling to go over 15 cents for choice light stuff; country dressed hogs easier with bulk of sales made around 17 1/2 to 18 cents on fancy blockers.

The egg market continues to maintain a steady tone locally. Daily arrivals are well taken.

Better feeling is apparent in the local butter market with shipments north keeping down the surplus here. Standard cubes are posted a half cent higher on the exchange at 42 cents with other grades unchanged. Prospects of a decline here soon are not favorable.

Live poultry remains unchanged. Receipts continue light and prices are well maintained.

1925 World Prune Crop To be Large, is Opinion of Visiting German Broker

Oscar O. Polack of Hamburg, Germany, broker for the North Pacific Prune Exchange and buyer of Cascaera bark, was in Salem Tuesday with J. P. White, acting manager in Portland for the exchange during the absence of M. J. Newhouse. Polack called on various prune packers here and also on Don J. Fry, largest Cascaera bark handler on the coast.

"The world faces a heavy crop of prunes in 1925," declared Polack. "In Bosnia-Serbia there will be a big crop, where there was a poor one last year. In France there will be a big crop, in Italy a good crop, in California I found there will be an extra heavy crop, and a good crop is predicted for Oregon."

"I hear the story told me that they will not ship prunes to Germany this year in sacks, that they will sell them only packed. They give the reason for this that we buy prunes in sacks, repack them in boxes and sell them cheap—that the market is then broken. But without the European market the German market, where will the prune crop go? We hear now that the market is broken. Why? Because Germany no longer is buying prunes."

"The market was broken because of the enormous consignments made to Germany—consignments of 1923 crop prunes. These were consigned principally from California in great quantities. That was one reason, and another reason was that consignments were made to others than those who constitute the regular channels of trade in the German market. That too broke the market."

Polack said he had white 11.55; today's car receipts: wheat 11; flour 5; corn 1; oats 3; hay 5.

CALIFORNIA HOP MARKET IS DEAD DORCAS WRITES

George Dorcas, local hop dealer, has received a letter from his brother in California giving interesting hop information of that section. He reports that Strauss has bought 1,000 bales in California, 500 of Stanford brokers at Ukiah at 10 cents, and 500 of John Peterson of Santa Rosa at 10 cents. He states he has heard of no contracts, but that 14 cents would probably buy. Recently Hall, he states, bought from Richardson "Cosumnes" several hundred bales for McNeff at 9 1/2 cents, who sold them to Strauss, London & Strauss, San Francisco. He states that they were rejected without even looking at them.

"There has not been a sale here for over 30 days," he continues in his letter. "But think I will take 100 at 10 cents. Recently I had an option on 500 of 1920s at 6 cents but could not turn them."

"Understand England will keep the control on for another three weeks. If that is true then it does not look very good for the hop game unless the English and Continental crops come down away here. In my opinion Strauss, who has done very little buying here, is taking advantage of the control being lifted now to get in what he wants before the lid is clamped down again. No other English buyers appear to be in it."

"In the Sacramento valley that will not be worked. Last year we worked 3184 acres and this year we will work 2545 acres, or actually speaking, 950 acres idle."

FEW LOGANS UNSOLD HERE

With the new canning season getting nearer and nearer in the spring, it is estimated that there is about a car of logans left on hand in this section. Gooseberries are still held without buyers. There are no strawberries. There are some cherries left, it is figured, but none in the hands of small canners. About two cars of 1923 prunes are left on hand, but none from last year, as far as is known.

MEND THOSE "SHAKY" SHATTERED NERVES

Nature throws out a warning when the nerve force is in danger. Sharp, darting nerve pains, sometimes called neuralgia, sometimes labeled neuritis, are a sign that your nerves need instant attention before grave results develop. There is a danger line across which you must never allow yourself to pass. Beyond this line lies nervous exhaustion, complete breakdown and, alas, only too frequently, mental disorders.

Countless tests and experiments have developed a sure aid to relieve cases of nerve trouble, neuritis and neuralgia. This remarkable discovery is based upon the science of Homeopathy, a branch of therapy endorsed and followed by eminent physicians and searchers of scientific truths.

This discovery has been given the name of Eopa Neuritis Tablets, and they have been compounded to give relief from nerve pain while acting as a tonic to the nerve cells in building up the entire nervous system.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets are guaranteed harmless and are free from narcotics, bromides and coal tar products. Your druggists will recommend them. Perry's Drug Store will supply you. Mail orders filled. Adv.

Almost Touched Bottom

"The past 4 years I have been going down, down, down with cartarrh of the stomach and had to give up work a year ago because of my weakened condition. I suffered terribly from bloating and colic attacks. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy was recommended to me. I took a course of it and am now feeling fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince, or money refunded. J. C. Perry, D. J. Fry and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

LONG ILLNESS OF PAULHAMUS OVER

Tacoma, Wash., April 16.—W. H. Paulhamus, president of the Western Washington Fair association, died at his home in Sumner at 10 o'clock last night.

The cause of death was pernicious anemia. Paulhamus had been in poor health for months but became seriously ill about six weeks ago.

Mr. Paulhamus was elected from Pierce county to the state senate in 1906 and served in the sessions of 1907, 1909 and 1911, in the last session of his service being elected president of the senate. He was successful in securing the re-establishment of the western Washington experiment station of the state college near Puyallup which had been closed for some time, also the establishment of the soldiers' home colony at Orting.

He was a candidate for the nomination for governor on the progressive ticket in 1912, although he did not make a campaign. Last year he filed at the last moment for the republican nomination for governor and ran third among eight candidates.

INTEREST SHOWING IN VALLEY PEAR MARKET

Local fruit men are beginning to show a decided interest in the pear situation. Nothing is moving and no contracts being made as far as can be learned but growers and sellers are beginning to eye one another.

The past two years the green pear market has taken a huge share of the staff and has forced canners to pay high prices. Growers are looking for some thing to happen again. It is stated 150 a ton could be secured easily for pears right now, but growers are waiting developments—and so are canners.

Mr. Paulhamus was elected from Pierce county to the state senate in 1906 and served in the sessions of 1907, 1909 and 1911, in the last session of his service being elected president of the senate. He was successful in securing the re-establishment of the western Washington experiment station of the state college near Puyallup which had been closed for some time, also the establishment of the soldiers' home colony at Orting.

Well Known Here

W. H. Paulhamus, fruit man, whose death is just reported from the Puyallup valley, was well known in this section and to fruit men here in particular. At one time he operated canneries at Albany and McMinnville. In 1920 he lost out financially and was compelled to close down. His canneries at Albany at one time was taken over by W. E. Drager and is now owned and operated by Hunt brothers. Paulhamus is remembered particularly in the valley for having shoved loganberries up to 15 cents a pound, a condition from which that crop has never recovered.
