BOARD AUTHORIZES CHILD HEALTH WORK IN SCHOOLS OF CITY

(Continued from page one) have preferred not to be examined. Further business acted upon by the school board last night included a decision to have Salem school buildings appraised. Under a state law enacted at the last session of legislature pupils from outside the district will be charged tuition based upon actual expense of giving instruction, plus depreciation on school buildings. Heretofore the depreciation has not been taken into consideration.

Coch Problem Up Attention was drawn to the question of securing an athletic coach for the local high school when a report was brought from student sources to the effect that the high school student council had definitely decided against paying any part of the coach's salary. During the present year $650 is being paid Hollis Huntington from the student body treasury. Huntington has declared himself willing to coach athletics again under the same arrangement. The student council, however, has left the matter entirely to the board, deciding that whatever salary to be paid the coach must come entirely from school district sources. It became obvious last night that the board would like to continue the present arrangement another year. Members of the board felt that they were not justified in making a direct appropriation of the people's money for coaching. At the same time they felt that one not paid better than an ordinary teacher in the school system would possibly prove unsatisfactory. Superintendent Hugg was directed to take the matter up further with the students, and report at next meeting.

One argument advanced in favor of the present system was that a high class coach, turning out winning teams and arranging good schedules, would have the effect of adding enough to student body to pay the money required for the coach. Last night's report showed that during the present school year no branch of athletics except basketball has paid enough to cover the coach's salary.

Firemen Save Lives Credit for saving many lives was given Captain C. O. Hines and members of engine company No. 3, which were first to reach the fire. The occupants of the building were crowded at the windows scrambling for help when the firemen arrived, and first efforts with ladders and life nets were devoted to rescue.

Mrs. A. Bennett, occupying the second floor front facing Flanders street, escaped to the porch, and was carried down a ladder by one of the firemen. She was much worried over her pet cat "Buddy" and firemen, thinking she was concerned about a child, made several futile efforts to locate the baby in the burning room.

"Buddy" was finally discovered after the fire was out, badly soaked and badly scared, hiding under the bed. Ends of ladders placed against the third floor caught fire and had to be drenched continually with water.

The flames broke out shortly after 3 a. m. and raged for more than an hour before firemen were able to enter the building and search for the bodies which were found huddled in the rooms. The bodies of Miss Short and Miss Frazier were found in their rooms where they apparently had been trapped. The body of Lawr also was discovered in his room.

A letter to Miss Shore, one of the fire victims, signed "mother" from the address 1218 Q street, Sacramento, Ca. Mrs. Maud Gouldstone, housekeeper, 32, suffered slight burns about the feet. She was being cared for by friends.

Mrs. Gouldstone was broken-hearted over the death of her pet puppy. She tried to save the pet but had to drop its cage when the fire threatened her. The fire victims were one of the first, if not the first, children's home erected in Portland.

It was built some 50 years ago by the Ladies' Relief society, a charitable organization, for a home for children and was used as such until the middle '80's.

Some of the men under arrest are believed to be expert distillers. Officers believe that Walker was merely paid rent for the use of his farm for a period, and that actual distilling operations were in charge of experts who have been operating from place to place for short periods of time, moving as soon as they believed a suspicion attached to their operations.

The four men were arraigned in justice court last before noon and bail fixed at $1500 each. The charge against Walker is possession of a still and manufacture of intoxicating liquor, or two charges against each of the three. The still was located on Walker's place and it is understood he was paid to allow it to operate there.

It is believed Andrews, Dickson and Johnson, in their operation of the big plant, were only wage workers, and that they were in the pay of a "higher up" elsewhere. They have retained an attorney from Portland.

AGGIES DEFEAT BEARCATS 13-2

Using three different pitches, the Willamette university baseball aggregation was unable to stem the tide against the Oregon Agricultural college in a game played on the local diamond yesterday afternoon. The final score stood 13 to 2 in favor of the Aggies.

Ellis started the game, but was jerked in the second frame after allowing 6 runs, 4 of them home runs. He had pitched a good game against the state penitentiary team Saturday, but apparently had not recovered sufficiently to occupy the mound. Kalahan, going in for Ellis, pitched three innings. Robertson pitched the last four. Herman and Isham, Bearcat first and third basemen, starred at bat.
