

SLUMP IN WOOL BELIEVED OVER

Portland, May 8.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say the downward trend in wool values appears to have been stopped temporarily, at least, and with the London auction being curtailed and a suspension of sales in Australia until July, it would seem as if a stable basis might now be found upon which to do business. Prices have changed only slightly here during the past week and it is evident that the duty at London of 10 to 15 per cent on Merinos and 20 to 25 per cent on cross breeds was fully discounted.

In the west, little has been done in the way of new clip operations. For best bright fleeces 35 cents is being offered with little bought, while in the territory sections hard by anything has been done, except for a few consignments being made.

The mill situation appears to be without material change.

Mohair is slow but probably 2,500,000 pounds have been cleared in Texas at 52 to 55 cents for green hair and 67 to 70 cents for kid.

The Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Scour's basis:

Oregon eastern No. 1 staple 1.20@1.32; fine and fine medium combing 1.15@1.20; eastern cloth No. 1 1.00@1.15; valley No. 1, 1.05@1.10.

Mohair best combing 80@85; best cutting 70@75.

She had been sentenced to pay a $50 fine at the rate of a dollar a day, despite her claim that she bootlegged to support her children (also shown) and a sick husband.

FRUIT BUYERS GET LOCATION

Young & Wells has secured a permanent location for the fruit season here this summer, but are not ready just yet to announce where it will be, the announcement to be made in a few days.

"We plan to provide a cash market for growers of fresh fruits in the Willamette valley," stated L. W. Wells, in making further announcement of his plans here for the season.

"We have been through a number of cherry orchards and believe there will be a fair crop this season, and our method of paying cash for the fruit has been heartily approved by all growers with whom we have talked.

"We have been asked in name of our price on cherries but the market has not been established. However, we will assure the growers that we proved the shipping quality of Willamette valley cherries last year so that this year we can base our price on the market as we do not think the risk any greater on cherries in this district than in other districts.

"This district will govern the market to a large extent as the tonnage from here will be the heaviest of any district shipping at the time these cherries are harvested. Therefore, if all districts are sold on a cash price here there will be very little danger of a slump in the market and the growers will have the most profitable year they have experienced.

"As soon as the market opens in other districts where we are operating we will give the Capital Journal information as to what the growers in this district may keep in touch with market conditions."

To the Editor: In one of your contemporaries of last Sunday we read the following under the head of Criticisms of youth in which they say "Did it ever occur to these critics that it has been persons of older generations who wrote the books that provide these entertainments." I suppose this contemporary felt him or herself greatly relieved of all blame by laying it upon the shoulders of previous generations. The writer hereof has reached three fourths of a century and seriously protests the above sentiments as no person of that time could possibly have conceived the present mode of entertainment. Then this contemporary says laws are not enforced as they should be because they are entrusted too much to the hands of those of the older generation who have not caught the vision of our new order of progress. *** Well the older generation were generally law abiding. Our penal institutions are filled to overflowing and seem to be on the increase. What would we do with the surplus. It says the older generation should counsel the younger men and women educated in our schools and colleges in civic moral and social righteousness and compel obedience to law. I suppose the last paragraph in speaking of the older generation refers to the parents and if so we can heartily endorse the sentiments but it can only be done by cutting out a lot of curriculum and substituting a spade hoe ax or some other tool as a mode of entertainment and public sentiment can do it if a majority were so inclined.

JOURNAL MATINEE AT GRAND BANNER EVENT FOR KIDS

More than a hundred members of the W. H. M. S. of the First Methodist church attended the tea meeting at the church on Wednesday afternoon. The opening of a number of the tiny sun bonnets was the outstanding feature of the meeting. It was found that approximately $718 has been netted thus far in the sunbonnet campaign. Mrs. E. J. Swafford gave a short report of the recent convention in McMinnville.

During the tea hour Mrs. E. C. Hickman and Mrs. W. D. Smith dispensed hospitalities at the tea table.

who intend to be absolutely sure of seeing the show. Last time a Capital Journal party was staged at the Grand theater a line of kiddies half a block long was formed by the time the show was ready to start. The crowd was estimated at nearly a thousand, all waiting to get into a theater which holds only 742 people. If they had been mere grownups it wouldn't have been possible to get them all in.

Either the hero—Tom Mix—or the story—"Dick Turpin"—is enough to draw a crowd. The story is of old England, the England of which every youngster has read. The England of dashing horses, midnight stage holdups, the England of impetuous moon-

PRINCE TO VISIT IN CHILE

London, May 5.—(A. P.)—The Prince of Wales, it is officially announced, has definitely accepted an invitation to visit Chile upon the termination of his visit to Argentina.

The date has been fixed for the visit but it is expected the prince will arrive in Chile about August 20 by special train from Buenos Aires.

H. M. S. Repulse, on which the prince is making his southern voyage, arrived several days ago at Capetown and the royal traveler now is enjoying the hospitality of the South African Union.

It is understood that the prince will spend several days in Santiago, Chile, and then make a thorough tour of that country. He will embark from a Chilean port for his return to England.

light romances. The hero is—well, the hero is Tom Mix. More can hardly be said. Instead of this usual cowboy regalia, in which he rides swiftly to the rescue of the heroine, who is surrounded by bandits, or some thing, this time he is dressed up like the gallant gentleman of the type who thought nothing of spreading his coat in the mud for his queen to walk upon, or of riding at top speed all night on some wild escapade, or of pulling a black mask down over his eyes, drawing a huge pistol from its pouch—

"Dick Turpin" is to be shown regularly at the Grand theater Saturday and Sunday.
