Formal Tea In Steusloff Home Today

Several hundred of the most prominent matrons and maids of the town called at the Steusloff home on north Commercial street today where Mrs. W. H. Steusloff and Mrs. Frederick W. Steusloff were entertaining at tea.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mrs. W. Carlton Smith and Little Charlotte McKee and Little "Vellia" Welsh of Eugene. The hostesses received the guests in the living room which was transformed into a spring garden. Huge baskets of blue irises filled every available space and corner and a long art basket with blooms of a deeper shade were lovely on the mantel. In the den rhododendrons were used predominantly—both the purple and the white.

The tea table was laid in the dining room and a most attractive effect secured with a huge basket of pink snapdragons, snowy linen, and sparkling crystal. The pink and green color plan was used throughout in the dining room and baskets of snapdragons and lacy fern were lovely about the room.

During the first hour Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr., and Mrs. Russell Catlin presided at the urns. Later in the afternoon Mrs. H. J. Clements and Mrs. U. G. Shipley dispensed hospitalities at the tea table.

Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Charles Weller, Mrs. A. Marcus, Mrs. G. P. Chambers, Mrs. Claude Steusloff and Miss Olive Skipton.

More than two hundred Royal Neighbors and Modern Woodmen enjoyed "open house" in the W. O. W. hall on Monday evening. An interesting program was arranged for the occasion by Mrs. Ed Keene. The drill team, attired in frocks of white with purple sashes and captained by Mrs. Charles Parmentier, made a charming picture as they went through various formations. Readings were given by Mrs. Frances Gourlie of Silverton, and Mrs. Winnie Petryjohn, Miss Mabelle Turner and Mrs. E. A. Sharp gave several musical numbers.

A supper was served the group by the Woodmen. Dancing was enjoyed later in the evening.

Mrs. Seymour Jones and Mrs. Elmo S. White were special guests in Corvallis Monday at a luncheon given by Mrs. T. M. Brandt for a group of prominent members of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the state. Covers were laid for Mrs. Jones, state regent; Mrs. Elmo S. White, state secretary; Mrs. Harry Morrie, past regent; Mrs. A. D. Cordely, past chapter regent; Mrs. J. Thorborn Ross, prominent member of Maltinomas chapter in Portland, and Mrs. Brandt who is state librarian.

During the afternoon Mrs. Jones officially inspected Winema chapter at Corvallis.

Of interest in Salem is the news that Mr. and Mrs. Ellery W. Stone (Helen West) whose wedding was an event of February, have been in New York for the past six weeks. They will return to Oakland, California, late this month where they will make their home. Mrs. Stone, the daughter of ex-Governor Oswald West, is one of the best known hostesses of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hallk entertained the B. Y. O. E. club in their home on Saturday evening. Columbine and poppies were attractive on the dining table with covers laid for Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. McGahan, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Smith, Mrs. Caroline Pomeroy of Portland, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Betty McGahan and Mr. and Mrs. Hallk.

Five hundred was enjoyed during the evening with high score going to Mrs. N. H. Jones and consolation award to Mr. Jones.

Neither rain, a golf tournament, nor the possibility of celebrating Mother's day at home deterred many Salemites from the lure of a week end at the beach. Among the Salem visitors at Neekowin over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lampert, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchner and daughter, Miss Ruth Buchner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durbin, Frank Durbin, Jr., and Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner.

Clements Garden Viewed

Twelve high school girls, members of Mrs. Mark McCallister's Sunday school class were hostesses at a dinner in the First Congregational church last night with members of the brotherhood as the guests. The affair was planned as a "get together" for the new minister, Rev. Charles Ward, Rev. W. C. Kantner acted as toastmaster and short talks were given by Mr. Ward and Rev. Ward Willie Long. James A. Smart sang a number of Scotch and negro dialect songs during the evening.

Anyone in the vicinity of the Dr. H. J. Clements home on north Fourteenth street yesterday could not doubt the success of the first "Garden at Home" of the year sponsored by the Salem Floral society. Throngs of flower lovers from Salem and other parts of the valley gathered in the gardens surrounding the Clements home, which, though still new, is rapidly coming to be one of the show places of the city.

Unusual opportunities for development are found in this garden for the mill race flows thru. Several artificial islands have been erected, the banks have been "rocked" and a graceful foot bridge forms an attractive vista. The entire garden is still in the embryonic state. There are plans afoot for a bog garden, for water lilies and water iris. One of the most interesting things about this part of the garden is the manner in which the natural shrubbery is being retained. The vine maple, the mock orange, and even the humble willow, all in their natural habitat, are being fostered with the cultivated shrubs and flowers planted.

It was not the farther end of the garden which attracted the most attention yesterday, however. This is iris time and Dr. and Mrs. Clements have perhaps the most beautiful iris gardens in the state. Literally dozens of varieties of every hue, purple, blue, yellow, orange and combinations and variegations of several colors.

Unusual effects in borders have been secured in the Clements garden and each gravel path is different. There are colors and varieties most remarkable for early May. Here a splash of vivid red—tall graceful poppies—there a bed of blue lupine. Masses of pyrethrum in various colors, both the single and double variety, and honeysuckle of many kinds, native malos and heuchera—one could make a dozen trips down the paths and each time see something unnoticed previously.

During the afternoon the guests were taken about the garden by six members of the floral society who assisted Mrs. Clements—Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Mrs. J. H. Albert, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. H. T. Love, Mrs. Elmo S. White and Miss Mattie Beatty.

Miss George Ekstrom and Miss Winnie Van Dusen of Astoria, were the house guests of Mrs. H. T. Love early in the week.

Mrs. W. D. Smith left yesterday for Elma, Washington, to spend ten days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Chester Smith.

A group of Junior Guild members motored to "Monmouth Orchards," the country home of Mrs. L. R. LeFurgy, near Monmouth yesterday, where they were guests at luncheon and during the afternoon.

In the group were Mrs. H. A. Cornoyer, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. Phil Newmyer, Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Frank Durbin, Mrs. E. B. Bragg, Mrs. P. M. Gregory, Mrs. Walter Kirk and Mrs. E. H. Kennedy.

The west side circle of the Jason Lee aid society will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha Loveland, 2010 north Fifth street. The meeting will commence at 2:30.

Arts League Elects New Officers

Dr. Mary C. Rowland was chosen president of the Salem Arts League for the coming year at the annual election of officers held in a meeting at the public library last night. Prof. Morton E. Peck has been president during the past year. Other officers named last night were Charles J. Liele, first vice president; Robert C. Paulus, second vice president; Mrs. John P. Law, secretary; treasurer, and Mrs. F. S. Barton, art director.

During the program hour Percy Prescott Reigelman gave a number of dramatic impersonations in a manner that proved his skill and training. Specially enjoyable were his interpretations of "Mr. and Jim," "Mark Twain and "The Guide," "No. 5 Collect Street," and "The Trial of Abner Barrow."

Lyman McDonald, baritone, with piano and violin accompaniment, sang delightfully, "Shipmates of Mine," and "On the Road to Mandalay."

The meeting last night was the last one of the year.

Mrs. B. L. Steeves entertained a group of Salem matrons in her home yesterday. Delphinium and snapdragons were lovely about the living rooms and the tea table was centered with a huge basket of lavender and pink sweet peas.

During the tea hour Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Lester Barr, Mrs. E. B. Millard and Mrs. O. E. Price assisted Mrs. Steeves. Mrs. F. C. DeLong poured and Mrs. E. C. Hickman cut loaves.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. J. H. Baker, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, Mrs. Lester Barr, Mrs. E. T. Barnes, Mrs. U. G. Boyer, Mrs. B. E. Carrier, Miss De Young, Mrs. W. E. Kirk, Mrs. A. A. Lee, Mrs. A. Love, Mrs. B. H. Millard, Mrs. A. Mills, Mrs. E. B. Millard, Mrs. O. E. Price, Mrs. H. H. Vandevort, Mrs. M. C. Findley, Mrs. Frank Power, Mrs. A. B. Hanson, Mrs. Benjamin Blatchford, Mrs. E. J. Swafford, Mrs. E. C. Hickman, Mrs. B. C. Miles, Mrs. Robert Dann, Mrs. F. C. DeLong, Mrs. H. L. Marsters, Mrs. H. J. Clements and Mrs. Walter Winlow.

Encouraging reports are being given out by the leaders of the drive being carried on this week by the Lincoln-McKinley parent teacher association for old papers and magazines to be sold and the proceeds used to purchase equipment for the school grounds. A canvass is being made of the entire town and anyone wishing to contribute old papers and old magazines may call either Mrs. Paul H. Hauser, 1871 W. or Mrs. Mark McCallister, 619 J, and the bundles will be called for.

Word has been received of the marriage in Los Angeles on May 2 of Miss Lucy Beck to Dennis L. Lybrook. Miss Beck was employed at the state house until last fall and had many friends in Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Lybrook are at home at 215 Cedar street, Huntington Park.

The north Salem W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 P. M. at the home of Mrs. McCarroll at the corner of Maple and Highland avenue.

The story telling section of the Salem Arts League will meet this evening at 7:30 in the public library. All those interested will be welcomed at this meeting.

House Guest Honored at Dinner

Honoring their house guest, Mrs. J. Vincent Meherin of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer entertained at a charming dinner dance at the Illabee country club last night.

Covers were laid for twenty two at a long table centered with a huge low basket of snapdragons, delphinium and iris. Yellow candles and favors of a combining color marked each place.

The guests included Mrs. Meherin, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Meehan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Poorman, Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Becke, Mr. and Mrs. Don Young, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Miss Selma Eckerlin, Albert Eagin, Carl Gabrielson, Jack Elliott, Theron Hoover and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer.

A number of lunches, a dinner and afternoon affairs are being given for the pleasure of Mrs. Meherin. The affair last night was one of the most attractive of the month.

A bridge tea at the Spa yesterday with the wives of Salem jewelers as hostesses was given in honor of the wives of out of town jewelers attending the convention in session here on Monday and Tuesday.

There were five tables of players with high scores being won by Mrs. Lehmann of Portland, and Miss Van Dusen of Astoria. Second score went to Mrs. Harry J. Wiedmer. Fourteen additional guests came in at the tea hour.

A delightful feature of the afternoon was the presentation of lovely corsages of pink and white

More than 5,000 actors, including sixty-five principals, appear in "Yolanda."

The picture was ten months in the making at a cost of more than $2,000,000. This represents an expenditure of approximately $8,300 a day or $1,000 an hour for an eight-hour day. But even such an expenditure was merely incidental to the fact that master minds and a wealth of dramatic talent made "Yolanda," "The Picture of the Century."

Millerettes

In my last Millerettes I promised to tell you more about the "inside" of the department store business as it is revealed to me by the "higher-ups."

There seems to exist nowadays a big quarrel between "Cash" and "Credit". You've heard the CASH side of it for so long that you've wondered why CREDIT did not cry out something in self-defense.

Well, here it is—the credit side of the argument. Credit as you know seldom gets credit for the wonderful things it has performed, which is the most important of which is its power in reducing overhead costs. Exactly opposite of what cash has always claimed.

Every merchant strives to create a large volume of sales for it automatically reduces the selling expense, creates a larger buying power which in turn eventually reaches the ultimate consumer in way of lower retail prices.

Credit as it is handled at Miller's represented a large volume of business last year at a total loss of only one half of one percent. A negligible quantity! Yet cash stores use this argument above all else as an excuse for barking at "low prices."

Two fifths of the World's business is done on CREDIT. Why? Watch for the next issue to be published very shortly.

Meantime let COMPARISON be the umpire.
