AMERICA READY TO DO PART WHEN EUROPE AGREES

St. Paul, Minn., May 14.—(A. P.)—America desires to play a part in every honest effort but it will not be used as a cat's paw to gratify foreign ambition and self interests, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas said in an address before the St. Paul chamber of commerce here today. Senator Capper is a member of the senate committee on foreign relations, succeeding the late Medill McCormick.

"This nation is deeply interested in the restoration of Europe," Senator Capper said, "and all its influence will be enlisted in behalf of a wholehearted effort on the part of Europe's governments for a secure and stabilized political and economic life.

"But the sincerity of American professions was powerfully attested when Ambassador Houghton said that American co-operation and American loans depended on the same time the police department received word that another automobile had been stolen a half block from police headquarters.

Shortly after noon Hansen's automobile was found in a downtown alley, not more than two blocks from the police station. At about the same time the police department received word that another automobile had been stolen a half block from police headquarters.

Auburn, Cal., May 14.—Two men, who said they were Joe and Frank Thurlit, sought for weeks as escaped murderers from San Quentin prison, thrust rifles today in the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Therault, ranchers, three miles east of here and drove off in the Therault auto.

Therault found the supposed convicts in his woodshed early this morning when a dog barked consistently. Both men pointed rifles at him when he opened the door of the shed and then marched him into the house.

"I'm Tanko and this is Hall," said one of the men.

He read newspapers containing accounts of the convicts' adventures and asked how the neighbors regarded their activities.

The Theraults were then bound to their bed. When Mrs. Therault complained that she was being bound so tightly as to cut off her circulation, the man who said he was Tanko remarked:

"That's better than having a rope around your neck, like I will get."

After leisurely cooking themselves breakfast the bandits helped themselves to some provisions and left in the family auto.

FUGITIVES WRECK CAR BUT ESCAPE

Continued toward Stockton, leaving the upper Stockton road and taking to the lower Stockton, a highway which lies west of the first road taken.

The stolen automobile in which the bandits first entered Sacramento was taken from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Therault, at their home east of Auburn. Pointing a rifle at them, one of the men said: "We are Tanko and Hall."

The bandits then tied the couple in their bed and departed in the Therault automobile.

It later developed that Hansen had been ejected from his automobile in the heart of Sacramento and the bandits had disappeared but Hansen did not know which direction they took. Meanwhile a posse was enroute toward Stockton.

"It is not indulging in conventional phrases or pious sentiments. It desires to play a part worthy of its own great position in the world in a genuine accord among Europe's powers and equally it determined to have no part in European schemes for advantage, which offers no foundation for permanent peace.

"Americans approve this honest and straight forward policy. They have observed for six years European governments crying 'peace' but doing little in the spirit that alone can assure peace, six years of temporizing of expediency and of disagreements, and they have witnessed the slow recovery of the people of Europe, hampered and not promoted by political interests.

"The appeal of Ambassador Houghton was an appeal to good faith by Europe's governments and his timely address was a warning that American sympathy and American money are not available to any government for purposes of special advantage.

"This asserts a sound American foreign policy. The country will heartily approve it. America is not afraid of its responsibility nor its duty in behalf of peace; it is not seeking to evade the problems of world peace because it is difficult or costly.

"It desires to play a great part in every honest effort, but it will not be used as a cat's paw to gratify foreign ambition and self interest. If this notable message is taken by Europe's governments, Mr. Houghton's speech will prove a landmark in constructive American diplomacy."

Washington, May 14.—Henry Ford's willingness to buy 400 ships from the shipping board, involving a large scrapping program, met with immediate opposition today in some shipping board quarters.

While the view was expressed that eventually three or four hundred of the laid-up ships, including some of the most part lakers, would be forced on the junk pile, some of the commissioners said that it was by no means certain that the board would agree to any wholesale scrapping for some time to come.

It was made clear that no offer from Mr. Ford had been received at the board and the members are awaiting the return of Chairman O'Connor from a trip to Detroit and Buffalo before formally going into such a question.

Commissioner Thompson said: "For a long time certain American owners and operators of foreign flagships have been urging the destruction of a large portion of government ships. But none of the surplus ships of other countries are being destroyed, nor has such been proposed.

"It is costing approximately $500 each a year to keep the surplus ships owned by the government. Their value, as naval auxiliaries at this moment of world conditions, cannot be accurately measured. Their value as import units in an American merchant marine when normal world conditions are restored, is an added security to American exporters, producers and consumers. Obviously, it would be greatly to the marine interests of foreign nations for the United States to destroy one third of its fleet of ships."

"As yet I have seen no sound reasons advanced why the United States of all nations, should weaken its navy, auxiliary and economic position in world trade, and stand alone in a program to remove surplus ship tonnage."

Report given out at the home of Mr. Marcus this afternoon was to the effect that he was remaining indoors because of sickness, and could not confer with anyone. The report was also given out, however, that he would, when ready, "tell everything there is to tell."

It was stated that the boys have secured legal advice, and will fight the case. Marcus issued them an ultimatum, stating that he would give them until this morning to make good the damages done to his house, and if they did not make good he would press his charges. They boys had not "made good" by this afternoon.

Frank Myers, proprietor of the Spa, announced today that he has taken a seven-year lease on a part of the building now occupied by the Hauser sporting goods store on one floor immediately west of the Spa, and that the space will be converted into a large modern dining room that will be added to the space now utilized by the Spa.

The Hauser firm will retain the front portion of the building, but the partition in the building will be moved toward the front and the Spa will occupy all the space back of the partition. This will be entered by an archway from the present dining room, and through at the rear. The new dining room will be large, light and airy and of greater seating capacity than the present dining space. It will be equipped with booths, and the central space will be equipped with dining tables also.

For the accommodation of diners the central space will be available for specially constructed tables capable of seating 75 or 80 persons, and when banquets are held the booths will not be in use.

The dining room will be artistically and appropriately decorated.

Mr. Myers has not decided when he will add the new service. He says it may be this summer or the coming fall, with a possibility that it may not be done this year.

RIFFS DEFEATED BY FRENCH MOVE

Rabat, French Morocco, May 14.—(A. P.)—Abd-el-Krim's Rifian invaders were severely punished by the French yesterday in a series of operations which relieved all but two of the surrounded outposts and established the French on the Bhanne Heights.

The Rifians were completely cleaned out of this region, leaving a great number of dead on the field. The French captured large quantities of arms and ammunition.

One of the French blockhouse garrisons still surrounded and holding off the Rifians, is the Anoulay post, where only a dozen native troopers are still able to handle the guns out of a garrison of fifty men and two French officers. All the others have been seriously wounded or killed.

The French met the stiffest sort of resistance in their forward movement and there was much hand fighting but the Bhanne Heights were attained and positions established there. The French losses are not stated.

CHECKER TEAMS WILL PLAY HERE FRIDAY EVENING

Tomorrow night the first tournament of the Portland-Albany checker club will be on at the Salem commercial club rooms, starting at 8 o'clock with the doors open for all the world to watch if it wants to come.

Because Salem has no checker club its crack players will be enlisted under the Albany banner. Credit for getting together the players is given to J. M. Ott, manager of the Albany club.

Under the contest plan the first tournament will be staged here, and the second in Portland. The contest is for the best two out of three matches. If one team wins them both it is over. If the team takes one apiece, then the third, and final match will be put on at Albany.

Portland is sending to Salem her best players, with the exception of Mr. Hedges, acknowledged to be state champion. He will be unable to be present. Mr. Waik, who heads the Portland list is an ex-state champion. E. H. Bryant is editor of the chess and checker department of the Oregonian.

Berg, Blanchard and Van Zant are well known as sharks in the checker world.

In the contest tomorrow night each player will play two games with each opponent in his class, making eight games for a man. Two points will be given for a win or draw and the team scoring 161 points wins the match.

The teams will be played as follows:

Portland team, first division, E. H. Bryant, Blanchard, Van Zant. Second division: Roy Bryant, Minkler, Berg, Goodman.

Third division: Gibbs, Barlow, Boyle, Anderson.

Fourth division: Sheldon, Rowe, Tucker, McVickers.

Fifth division: De Graff, Billter, Queenes, Hay.

Albany, first division: Doe, Stenart, Simmons, Greenbaum.

Second: Hornback, Dave Drager, S. E. Laughlin, Stone.

Third: Wieder, McLennan, Hoffman, S. Sherman.

Fourth: Ott, Cranes, Miller, Wright.

Fifth: Patterson, Cook, Greenwood, Hill.

FORD PROPOSAL TO PURCHASE AND JUNK SHIPS HIT

Washington, May 14.—Henry Ford's willingness to buy 400 ships from the shipping board, involving a large scrapping program, met with immediate opposition today in some shipping board quarters.

GOVERNOR BLAMED FOR HIGHER GAS PRICES

Lincoln, Neb., May 14.—In a statement attacking the republican state administration of Governor Adam McMullen today, former Governor Charles W. Bryan, vice-presidential candidate in the last general election, charged that Governor McMullen "was responsible for the rise in gasoline prices in practically every state in the United States."

RUM FORCES ARE SHIFTED

The remaining ships, they asserted, are making no effort to keep in touch with their shore customers and apparently have settled down to a game of out-waiting the blockade.

Reports of a battle between rum runners and the coast guard in the narrows were denied today.

Washington, May 14.—With the blockading of many of the rum running channels off the Atlantic coast by the coast guard, prohibition officials are concerning themselves with land smuggling on the Canadian border.

Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Jones said today approximately general and federal dry agents are concentrated on the Canadian border prepared to break up any surprise moves from the land boot leggers.

The war of the coast guard on the rum fleet has had a beneficial effect already in the opinion of Mr. Jones. It has scattered "the enemy," he said, and raised the price of liquors obtainable in the known wet spots.

Believe that the bootleggers, once checked sufficiently to make hazardous an attempt to amunge liquor to American shores, will return to the practice of redistilling industrial alcohol for sale as a beverage was expressed today by the assistant commissioner, who said this would bring poisonous concoctions back on the bootleg market.

To combat such a move highly trained men will be needed, he said.

Tourist Happy; Shakes Hand of King, Champ

London, May 14.—(A. P.)—At least one American of this year's number of tourists got a personal audience with King George today and he didn't have to go to the king's levee or be presented at court in order to do it, the Evening News related.

The king, the newspaper says, was making the round of exhibits at the Wembley exposition when a sturdy American holding a boy by the hand pushed his way through the crowd and without any preliminaries, said:

"Shake hands with America, King!"

King George, with a smile, shook hands cordially and smiled when the American in a jovial manner introduced "the boy."

Then the latest self-presentee lifted his hat and walked away. A moment later he stopped and with meditative complacency observed: "Now I'm happy. I have shaken hands with the king of England and Jack Dempsey."

BOOZE PARTY IN NESKOWIN HOME

A law suit between a group of Salem high school and possibly Willamette university students was impending this afternoon, as a result of charges made by A. F. Marcus that his house at Neskowin had been broken into last week and an " booze party" staged there. It is said that Marcus has the names of the boys involved, and that most of the high school boys belong to the Julius Caesar society at high school. Current report at high school also to the effect that several Willamette students participated in the affair.

The house was not only broken into it was ransacked, but in a disorderly condition by the boys, many of whom left signs of sickness brought on, apparently, by too hearty imbibing of the liquor.

Report given out at the home of Mr. Marcus this afternoon was to the effect that he was remaining indoors because of sickness, and could not confer with anyone. The report was also given out, however, that he would, when ready, "tell everything there is to tell."
