SAYS BANKS NOT MAKING PROFIT

Woodburn, May 23—Half of the state banks in Oregon are not making a profit and must decide definitely on a different policy or go out of existence, Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks declared Friday at a meeting of group 2 of the Oregon Bankers' association.

He suggested that bankers advise their small depositors to invest in good savings and loan associations, but to beware bogus trust companies not under state restriction, Oregon's laws being weak on that point.

Mr. Bramwell's remarks were not on the program. During a lull in a round-table discussion he was asked to express some sentiments and did so with a will.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the group, which includes bankers of Benton, Lincoln, Linn, Polk and Marion counties. Both afternoon and night sessions were well attended, most of the 51 member banks being represented.

The address of F. E. Callister of Albany on "Unprofitable Accounts" drew forth the most discussion. It pertained to small accounts on which there is no service charge and which are carried at a loss by the bankers.

Speaker Selected.
