Memorial Day Closes Active Week

Today, the one day in all the year when the nation revere its dead, is being fittingly celebrated in Salem. One hears practically nothing of any plans for the week end. Even the coincidence of two holidays following each other is not causing a forgetfullness of the significance of the day It is passing with the dignity and calmness that it merits. There are parades, it is true, but there is none of the blatancy about them that one finds in ordinary patriotic parades. Rather a spirit of reverence that is due the heroes whom they honor.

The coming week will usher in the month which universally has come to be known as the month of brides. One wonders a bit whether Salem will have its quota of June brides. There are whispers of several but queerly enough September has always been a favorite month for weddings in Salem. Some of the most elaborate weddings in Salem's social history have been events of early fall.

House guests have continued to be the inspiration of a number of charming affairs during the past week. Mrs. William Kiltz of Vancouver, B. C., who is the guest of her mother, Mrs. S. W. Thompson was honored at one of the most attractive affairs of the week when Mrs. Louis Lachmund entertained at tea in the Lachmund home on Court street on Thursday. Mrs. Allan Bynon of Portland, the guest of her parents. Colonel and Mrs. E. Hofer, has been delightfully feted and has herself been a hostess during the past week. The Brassfields of Berkeley, the guests of Mrs. E. C. Small and Mrs. T. C. Hopkins, have also been honored at a number of affairs.

One of the most attractive afternoon affairs of the entire season was given at the Woman's clubhouse on Tuesday when Mrs. Harry J. Wiedmer and Mrs. A. L. Wallace were hostesses at bridge and tea to more than a hundred of their friends. It was on Tuesday also that Miss Jennelle Vandevort announced the date which she has chosen for her wedding to Ronald F. Randall. The announcement was made at a tea at which Mrs. H. H. Vandevort entertained for her daughter.

Numerous luncheons, dinners and teas, and several informal dancing parties have made the past week an extremely active one for the matrons and maids of the capitol city.

Wrapped In Glory

Their shrouds of Old Glory may be mouldered in the graves but in our hearts and our memory their flag flaunts proudly; their deeds glow brightly and their sacrifice spurs us on to nobler things and thoughts.

Surely it is fit that this one day be consecrated to them that our own patriotism may be stirred; that the future generations may profit by their heroism and that we may be reminded that there are greater things in the goal of life than material gain and greed, work and waste, self-interest and self-satisfaction.
