RELIEF PLANS PREMATURE IS NANSEN CLAIM

New York, May 29.—(A. P.)—Months of waiting are justified when considering an expedition for the relief of the Amundsen-Elsworth polar flier in the opinion of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, noted Arctic explorer.

Berlin dispatches show that Dr. Nansen is among those who believe that a relief expedition is premature now, only a little more than a week after Amundsen's departure from Spitzbergen.

Commander B. MacMillan, however, reiterates that if no word is heard from Amundsen and his five companions within three weeks, when MacMillan's all American expedition leaves for the Arctic he will devote himself to a search for the missing explorers.

At this season the American explorer declared, the polar sea is a moving mass of water with a slight coating of ice sharp enough to cut to ribbons such a canvas boat as carried by Amundsen in his plans. He recalled that Peary, when leaving on the voyage which culminated in his discovery of the pole, remarked that if he did not return by the end of May he would never come back.

WAR ROMANCE OF HEIRESS ENDED

New York, May 29.—(A. P.)—The romance of Mrs. Alicia DuPont Glendinning, 22, heiress to the DuPont millions, and Harold Sanford Glendinning, son of a rural postman, who was a Rhodes scholar when they married, has ended.

The granting of a writ of habeas corpus at Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday, giving Mrs. Glendinning custody of her two-year-old son, was the first intimation to other than intimate friends of a marital disagreement.

When the world broke out, Glendinning left Dartmouth college to work in the DuPont munitions factories at Wilmington, Del., where he met Alicia DuPont, step-daughter of Alfred I. E. DuPont, in 1920 after being graduated from Dartmouth. Glendinning went to England as a Rhodes scholar in Oxford and on shipboard he again met Miss DuPont who was going abroad to study music.

Two years later, June 25, 1922, with the approval of both families, they were married at St. Paul's, London.

BRITISH, FRENCH AGREED ON PACT

Paris, May 30.—(A. P.)—The French and British governments have reached an accord on all essential points concerning the western European security pact proposed by Germany, it was stated in official circles today.

The British note to the French government detailing the British attitude delivered yesterday by Lord Crewe, the British ambassador, marks real progress toward the point where actual negotiations of the pact itself may begin, officials believe.

A few minor points remain to be thrashed out by Franco-British negotiations for the French reply to the German security pact proposal will be sent to Berlin. However, if the optimism prevailing today at the French foreign office is fully justified, active negotiations may be expected within a month or six weeks.

The Presbytery voted unanimously to allow the disputation, expressing regret at the same time. Dr. Wallace H. Lee, president of Albany college, was authorized to preach the morning sermon on June 28, declaring the pulpit officially vacant at that time. The formality is one essential in the Presbyterian church.

LATIN CLUB WINS IN VAUDEVILLE SKIT CONTEST

The Latin club of Salem high school, presenting the skit entitled "Very Tragical Mirth," was awarded first place in the vaudeville contest held at the Salem high school auditorium last night.

Other acts presented were also received with hearty applause, and indications were that some members of the audience believed other skits to be truly as good or better than that receiving first place.

As a result of last night's decision the Latin club will be given silver cup secured by the high student council a year ago.

The trophy will be allowed to remain in possession of the Latin club for one year, the rules requiring that it be won three times before it comes into permanent possession of any organization.

The high school vaudeville night is an annual affair. Second place in last night's contest went to the Skitrop Dramatic society, who presented a skit entitled "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Phoenix club, presenting "As the Story Goes," placed third. "Memories," given by the K. C. club, an organization of girls who won the cup last year, was well received.

"Good Old School Days," and "Moonlight Frolic," skits by the G. A. R. and T. N. T. clubs, also stood out as attractive productions.

Judges were Miss C. Dibble, Miss M. Robertson and Miss Clara Pomeroy.

ROCKEFELLER VAULTS REMAIN UNDISTURBED

New York, May 29.—(A. P.)—The vaults in which the Rockefeller fortune is believed to be kept, in the form of securities of the Standard Oil company, may remain undisturbed for another 40 years under a supreme court decision today.

The vaults beneath the Produce Exchange building are said to be the only ones in New York which came to be immediately flooded with water in case of fire.

The lease on the vaults made to the company which maintains them in 1887 by the Produce Exchange expired on May 1. The safe deposit company claimed it had the right to another 40-year term, but the exchange disagreed.

Settlement Sidelined

NATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEAR HEROES

Stripes today were placed on the graves of all American war dead in this country. Memorial day services were conducted at every war cemetery in France where American soldiers lie. The party of American gold star mothers now visiting joined in the French and American services at Eurasium cemetery near Paris, where American Ambassador Herick spoke.

As these American mothers of soldiers who had died in the World war were held besides the graves of their sons, French troops stood at salute, bugles sounded and little children of France orphaned by the war scattered flowers upon the American graves.

SPEAKER AGAIN LEADING HITTER

Chicago, May 30.—(A. P.)—Traveling at a pace which nine years ago made him champion batter of the American league, Ty Cobb, gray haired leader of the Cleveland Indians, today is back in that coveted spot with the batting average of .405.

Since the Tigers have taken a brace Cobb has locked himself into a tie with Marjory McManus of the Browns for the scoring honors. Each has registered 32 times.

Ken Williams of the Browns is leading total bases with 29, his 54 blows including 16 doubles, one triple and nine home runs.

Bob Meusel, slugging outfielder of the Yankees, batted two homers during the week, and cracked the tie shared by Ken Williams a week ago. Meusel now has ten homers.

Johnny Mostil, white Sox fly chaser continues to set the pace among the base stealers with 15 thefts. Other leading batters for 20 or more games:

Simmons, Philadelphia .359; Slier, St. Louis .385; Wingo, Detroit .328; Burns, Cleveland .378; Wheelman, Detroit .374; Vacho, Boston, .365; Boone, Boston .359.

Crashing out eleven hits in his last six games, Earl Smith, catcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has leapt to the top of the National league batters with a mark of .407.

Smith's spurt has given him a five point edge over Hawkes, young first baseman of the Phillies, who slumped after leading the procession a week ago with an average of .429. Today Hawkes is the runnerup with .402, closely pressed by Dave Bancroft, leader of the Braves, who is hitting an even .400.

DEPAOLO LEADS SPEED KINGS AT HALF WAY MARK

Palma was forced into the pits after speeding forty miles to adjust a shock absorber with the result that he lost two laps.

De Paolo was clinging to the lead at 100 miles with Cooper, second, Hartz third, and Phil Shafer fourth. Less than three quarters of a mile separated this quartet. The time was 74:44:54, an average of 103.58 miles per hour.

By sensational driving Shafer caught De Paolo at 137 miles and was leading at 150 miles with De Paolo second, and Cooper third and Hartz fourth. The time was 1:26:22, an average of 104.29 miles per hour.

When the 200 mile mark was reached, Harry Hartz was in the lead with De Paolo second, Lewis third, and Cooper fourth. Time 1:55:56.59, an average of 103.79 miles per hour.

Shafer, who led for 200 miles, was forced back into lap prison, having set the pace from the start. De Palma was 10 miles behind the flying leaders at 200 miles.

The spectators at the north turn of the course were brought to their feet with a gasp when a car driven by Herbert Jones of Indianapolis smashed into the retaining wall and caught fire.

A rear tire exploded. The car veered around three times but Jones escaped without serious injury although he had to be carried to the field hospital.

UNIVERSITY HEADS WINK AT PHYSICAL EDUCATION COSTS

Three classes and doing "executive work." Both the men's and women's departments employ stenographers.

Paid to Keep Peace
Another executive job, which might better be termed a diplomatic position, is that held by Virgil D. Earl, at a salary of $3600 a year. Earl's official title is Professor of Physical Education and Director of the Department of Athletics, but he is actually an arbitrator between Dean Board and the athletic coaches, and there is an inside story connected with his employment by the regents.

During the war period Dean Board, who was then a science teacher in the university, was designated as physical education officer of the university battalion. He had ambitious ideas as to what should constitute a complete course in physical training, and during the war period and immediately after proceeded to put them into force. He was elevated to head of the department of physical education, and immediately launched the university upon an extensive and expensive campaign of expansion, including widespread extension of the system of intra-mural athletics. His program and the program for intercollegiate athletics sponsored by the coaches of various activities soon grew into direct conflict, and the university soon faced the prospect of losing all of its coaches, who were also instructors in physical education, if Board was maintained in authority.

More money was spent to conduct the physical education departments in 1923-24 than was spent on the combined departments of mathematics, history, economics and political science, and over $6000 more was spent on physical education than on instruction in all classes in English language and literature.

Compared with the $41,711.55 spent for physical education the cost of these fundamental departments was as follows:

English	$35,154.28
Mathematics	10,544.58
History	12,909.20
Economics	6,081.53
Political Science	3,392.90

Another practice which adds much to the expense of the department of physical education is that of using athletic coaches as instructors in physical education and paying part of their salaries out of public funds. Their employment is generally nothing more than a matter of form and the work they do as physical education instructors is nil.

Memorial Day

Thru the hushed music of our devotions today comes the faint clamor off forgotten guns.

Those guns once menaced our country, our homes, ourselves, but heroes stood between.

Young lives laid down at Gettysburg, on San Juan Hill and in the Argonne, paid for our peace and liberty—

This is the day for remembering.
