Elaborate Affairs Mark Week

Sunday was never more welcomed by society matrons for the success it offers from the whirl of affairs than will be the morning. The past week has made demands upon Salem matrons that have kept them almost constantly and into each day was crammed an amount of pleasure that rivaled the one preceding. Luncheons, teas and dinners—delightful small gatherings for several hours of bridge—elaborate bridge parties—dances—all these and many more have made the week one of the most enjoyable of the entire season.

The return of the younger girls from schools in the east and the west is always the occasion of delightful family reunions and as a natural sequence follow plans for entertaining. Road mats are an object of particular scrutiny and parents are discussing the "pro and con" value of summer camps for younger members of their families.

Mrs. Milton Meyers' bridge luncheon on Monday complimenting Mrs. Earl Egeel of Honolulu, was a fitting opening for a week of brilliant events. On Tuesday Mrs. Helen Lupton entertained seven tables of bridge players in her home and Wednesday afternoon was marked by two delightful events. Mrs. A. C. Marsh of Portland, the house guest of Mrs. J. Shelley Saurman was honored at an attractive bridge tea in the Saurman home. The presence of a number of well known guests from Portland, Dallas and Silverton added to the interest of the occasion. On the same afternoon several hundred Salem women called at the home of Mrs. J. H. Lauterman on north Summer street where Mrs. Lauterman and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks were hostesses at tea. Mrs. G. E. Schuneman entertained at luncheon and tea on Thursday and at a bridge tea on Friday.

A group of Salem matrons who have been prominent here for a number of years were particularly interested on Thursday afternoon in the "at home" at which Mrs. E. T. Barnes and Mrs. A. A. Lee entertained for Mrs. Luella Kimball. That evening all society was agog with interest over the informal dance at the Hileee country clubhouse where Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts were entertaining for Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Sargent of San Francisco. Yesterday Mrs. Curle Cross' home on the Heights was the mecca during the tea hours for Salem matrons and maids, and last night a number of Salem people motored to Albany where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Mason at a dance at Tumble Inn.

Plans for the week end are as yet a bit hazy. The intermittent showers discourage elaborate plans for trips to the beach or the mountains and indications point to quiet days at home—possibly a rest before again taking up the activities of the week to come.

Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, Mrs. Harry J. Wiedmer, Mrs. W. E. Kirk and Mrs. W. F. Fargo returned last night from Marshfield where they attended the annual convention of the Oregon State Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. J. A. Churchill returned yesterday morning and Mrs. Seymour Jones and Mrs. W. H. Byrd arrived in Salem at noon today. All report a most harmonious and successful convention.

Mrs. Percy Meila of Spokane, who is the guest for the summer of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith, is spending the week end at Corvallis and attending the commencement exercises on the O. A. C. campus. Mrs. Meila is a guest at the Beta Kappa house of which she is a member and at Waiolo hall with her sister, Miss Margaret Smith. She is an O. A. C. Graduate.

Miss Helen Beverley Roberts has as her home guest over the week end Miss Virginia Coke of Portland.

Mrs. Gus Hixon is hostess at a two table bridge party in her home today. Her guests are Mrs. Oris Fry, Mrs. Richard Slater, Mrs. Dwight Quisenberry, Mrs. Allan Carson, Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Mrs. Clifton Irwin and Mrs. Frederick Deckbach.

Mrs. J. H. Lauterman and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks were hostesses at a charming twelve cover dinner in the Lauterman home last night. Snappers and blue delphinium and blue candles in silver holders centered the table with covers laid for Mr. and Mrs. Breyman Botes, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Becke, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Carson, Mrs. Frank Suedecor, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks and Mrs. J. H. Lauterman.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Sargent left yesterday for their home in San Francisco after spending several days in Salem. They were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley. A number of delightful affairs were given for them during their brief stay here.

The picnic which was planned for tomorrow by members of the Thursday bridge luncheon club has been postponed for one week because of unfavorable weather conditions. According to present plans club members and their families will meet at a picnic a week from tomorrow in the Rickreall grove.

TO TAKE TRIP ABROAD

Miss Bruce Putnam, talented young pianist, who leaves Tuesday for an indefinite stay in Germany, France and Italy.

Miss Putnam To Study In Europe

Miss Bruce Putnam will leave Salem on Tuesday for New York on the first part of her journey to Germany, France and Italy, where she will remain for an indefinite length of time both studying and sightseeing. In New York, Miss Putnam will join her mother and small brother and together they will sail on the Deutschland on June 25 for Europe.

Although yet very young Miss Putnam has done creditable composing. One of her songs, "The Boating Song," was accepted by Schirmer's last year, and a number of her children's songs have been published. One of her most recent compositions, "The End of the Trail," was introduced before a Salem audience recently. She is an accomplished pianist and organist and during the past year has filled the position of organist at a Portland theater. Miss Putnam plans to continue with her composing while she is abroad.

A number of attractive dinners preceded the informal dance at the Hileee country club on Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts entertained for Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Sargent of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spears were hosts at an eighteen cover dinner in their home on Cheneketa street on Thursday evening with the guests and their hosts motoring out to the club later in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Carson had as their dinner guests on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Mollie Huntington, Miss Margaret Rodgers and Carl Gabrielson.

Another six cover dinner which preceded the dance was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Irwin. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendricks.

From the Pacific coast rescue and protective society has come a plea to its friends to remember the girls of the Louisa Home and the babies of the Albertina Kerr nursery home when canning fruit and vegetables this year.

The Louisa Home and Albertina Kerr nursery cared for last year respectively two hundred four unfortunate girls and two hundred thirteen homeless babies and youngsters. The babies and girls were committed from twenty eight counties of the state.

A note stating how many jars will be filled so that the freight may be prepaid and arrangements made to pay the freight for the return of the fruit should be addressed to the general office, 195 Burnside street, Portland, Oregon.

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Findley will entertain the active members of Delta Phi sorority in their home this evening. Miss Mary and Miss Genevieve Findley are alumnae members of Delta Phi and Miss Louise Findley is active in the sorority this year. About thirty girls will be included in the guest group. The evening will be spent informally with music and games.

Mrs. Joseph H. Albert, Mrs. J. C. Griffith and Miss Mary Jane Albert motored to Portland on Wednesday and on their return on Thursday they were accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Krause of Portland, who will be the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Albert, until Monday. Yesterday Mrs. Albert, Mrs. Krause and Mrs. Griffith motored to Mehama to spend the day at the Albert summer home on the Santiam.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sundin have as their guest for several days, Mrs. Donald Germond of Reedsport.

Mrs. Kimball Honor Guest On Thursday

Mrs. Luella Kimball, one of Salem's distinguished guests during the past week, was honored at a delightful afternoon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. T. Barnes when Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. A. A. Lee entertained for Mrs. Kimball, whose husband was the first president of Kimball school of theology lived in Salem for a number of years and a group of her former friends gathered to greet her again.

Attractive early summer flowers were arranged about the rooms of the Barnes home for the occasion. Tea was served in the dining room. Mrs. Kimball cut the ring room. Mrs. Charles A. Park presided at the urns. Assisting about the room were Mrs. Frank Power, Mrs. F. L. Utter, Mrs. Lola Belle Bellinger, Miss Lorence Power, Miss Claudia Lewis, Miss Deloris Williams and Miss Margaret Townsend.

Mrs. Kimball left this morning for Portland to visit for several months with her mother, Samuel Dunlap, at his ranch home near Eatacoda. She was a guest this week at the commencement exercises at the Kimball school.

Judge and Mrs. O. P. Coshow will spend next week in Portland where they will be guests at the Multnomah Hotel. Judge Coshow will give an address before the meeting of the grand chapter of the Eastern Star which will be in session there next week.

The 'Mikado' Success at High School

One of the, if not the, most successful operas ever given by local high school students was given in the high school auditorium last night when a group of more than fifty students of the music department, under the direction of Miss Lena Belle Tartar, presented "The Mikado".

The chorus work was well balanced, the stage setting was beautiful, the young people went thru their lines with an exuberance and enthusiasm that made the evening a distinct pleasure for the audience which crowded the auditorium.

Miss Esther Burch as Yum-Yum, Thelma Davis and Helen Pemberton as Petti-ting and Peep-Bo, Nanki-Poo played by Ronald Craven, and Arlie Anderson and Earle Riggs as Pook-Pook and Pish-Tosh were well suited for their parts and both in solos and in chorus work showed the results of their excellent training. The real hit of the evening, however, was Gerald Mero who was a Ko-Ko, a lord high executioner of Titipu, that will long be remembered. With an originality and a freshness that made the part alive and interesting a hundred laughs that were mostly his own idea evolved on the spur of the moment, young Mero convinced his audience each time he appeared. Ably supporting him was Helen Marcus who took the part of Katisha most satisfactorily. Their work, almost burlesque in "Tit-willow" could well be envied by professionals.

Mero gave "The Flowers that bloom in the spring," probably the best known of all the "Mikado" melodies in a manner that made it a "perfect scream." Each response to an encore was surprisingly different and original. Paul Lee played the part of the Mikado himself in an able manner.

The accompaniments were played well following the members of the high school orchestra: piano, Truth Hueston; drums, Donald Hargreave; violins, Peter Poelck, Margaret Carston; flute, Donald Ponzajo and Avie Hicks.

In charge of the arrangements were the following: faculty manager, Miss Elizabeth Hong; general manager, Homer Richards; stage manager, Martin Redden; stage decorating, Eva Franklin; mistress of the wardrobe, Genevieve Campbell; head usher, Koia McClellan.

Between acts the four cups won by the music department of the high school at a recent state tournament in Forest Grove were presented to the student body. A short tribute of appreciation of the work done by Miss Lena Belle Tartar, head of the music school, was voiced in the speech of presentation.

Rev. and Mrs. Ray Vincent, evangelists, cartoonists and musicians, will assist in the services at the Baptist church Sunday evening. Three people were in the Baptist church on election night last November and delighted everybody that fine program with Hawaiian guitars, piano and vocal selections. Mr. Vincent sings as he produces the drawings to Mrs. Vincent's accompaniment. On Sunday evening he will draw a picture of the Crucifixion while singing "Calvary." Other pictures will be drawn. The pictures have a remarkably fine program which is evangelistic from first to last. They are entering the theological school at Chicago in the fall for more training in religious work.

A group of the younger matrons were the guests at luncheon and bridge of Mrs. Donald Young on Thursday when she entertained her club at their final meeting of the year. Attractive old fashioned nosegays centered the luncheon table. Seated about were Mrs. John H. Carson, Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mrs. Hollis Huntington, Mrs. Allan Carson, Mrs. Clifton Irwin, Mrs. Oris Fry, Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Mrs. Homer Egan and the hostess, Mrs. Young.

High honors at bridge were won by Mrs. Clifford Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lamport left today for their summer home at Neekowin.

An interesting program has been arranged for the annual Children's day at the First Congregational church tomorrow evening at 7:30. The program called "The Lamp of Life" is in the nature of a pageant depicting the work of the church at home and in foreign fields.

Miss Laura Morris as Religion in appropriate costume, in the central figure of the pageant. Each department of the Sunday school comes before her and at the close of the work of each division the beautiful candle lighting service is used. The primary and intermediate sections show the work at home, while the junior department dressed in the costume of far away India, Japan, China and Africa show the missionary endeavors in foreign fields.

The last number is a beautiful pantomime put on by seven high school girls of the "Friendly Girls class" with Mrs. John J. Roberts singing the solo.

The quartet of the church will give a special number during the evening, with Mrs. Frank Zinn at the organ.

Mrs. Paul H. Hauser was a charming hostess yesterday when she entertained members of the Kensington club in her home. The rooms were attractively decked with Canterbury bells and roses and the afternoon was spent in sewing and conversation. Mrs. J. A. Krebs was a special guest. During the tea hour Mrs. Hauser was assisted by Mrs. Krebs.

In the member group were Mrs. F. S. Anusson, Mrs. George P. Griffith, Mrs. C. E. Crandall, Mrs. Herbert Hauser, Mrs. Frank Power, Mrs. N. C. Kafoury, Mrs. George M. King and the hostess, Mrs. Paul H. Hauser.

Among the members of the Salem club of the Daughters of the Nile who are planning to go to Portland on Monday to attend the coronation which Nydia Temple will hold in the Pythian Temple are Mrs. John R. Sileo, Mrs. T. S. Meach, Mrs. G. Crater, Mrs. G. O. Miles, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. William M. Glick, Mr. C. J. Green, G. L. Newton and Mrs. C. J. Green. A number of Salem matrons will be initiated into the order at this time.

The annual spring exhibit will be given at the state institution of the ferrie milled on Wednesday. The exhibit will be open to the public from ten in the morning until five in the afternoon and beginning at eight o'clock in the evening a spring festival program consisting of songs and dances and short skit will be given in the school auditorium.

Miss Beatrice Shelton and William Wallace Graham will present two of their pupils, Miss Ruth Bedford, pianist, and Mary Talange, violinist, violinist, in recital in the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday, June 16. Both Miss Bedford and Mrs. Bedford are among the best known and best loved of the Salem musicians and the opportunity of hearing them in concert is being welcomed by Salem music lovers.

The Gunnell Robb studio will be hosts at a dance in the studio on Friday evening. The evening members of the February and June graduating classes of Salem high school. During the evening the high school quartet will give several selections and Miss Helen Marcus will sing.

Patrons of the affair will be Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Nelson, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Hazel Patten, Mr. and Mrs. C. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mintz.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyers entertained as their dinner guests last night, Mr. and Mrs. George Dorcas, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lamport and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lamport.

Miss Dorothy Livesley, Miss Nancy Thibelen, Miss Mildred Roberts and Wesley Thibelen left this afternoon to spend the week end in Portland. They will be the house guests of Miss Peggy Cannon and will be guests at the dancing party at which Miss Cannon and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn.

Among those motoring down to Albany last night for the dance at Tumble Inn at which Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Mason were hosts were Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Colonel W. B. Bartram, Miss Dorothy Livesley, Miss Nancy Thibelen, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Thibelen and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn.

Mrs. J. R. Pollock and son, Jack, spent the week visiting in Springfield and Eugene. They were the guests in Eugene for several days of Miss Helen Pollock at Susan Campbell hall.

Mrs. R. E. Derby and her three daughters, Ruby, Adah and Grace, are the house guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Lane.

Baltimore, Md.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along with other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have now daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1375 N. Gilmor St., Baltimore, Maryland.

GRANGE ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS IN HEATED SESSION

Dallas, Ore., June 6.—The great of resolutions of the legislative committee, and the debates they aroused upon the floor, choked down the speed of the State Grange convention here Friday afternoon when it resumed work after a county tour. Child labor, state salaries, electric power development and salmon fishing regulation were chief among the subjects discussed.

Hydro-electric development took shape in a resolution authorizing State Grange Master Palmer to appoint a committee to draft a bill to go on the next general election ballot. The proposed legislative action in the state or municipalities to develop and operate hydro-electric plants and to distribute power and light at cost.

A suggested indorsement of the child labor amendment touched off the orators present and for over an hour the assembly witnessed a spirited debate. When put to a vote the indorsement of the measure carried easily.

A move to abolish fish wheels, and probably initiated in the Columbia river was initiated in the authorization of an Oregon grange committee to act with a similar Washington committee to seek legislative action in outlawing fish wheels. This measure had the sanction of overnor Pierce.

The session, at the suggestion of the legislative committee, memorialized congress to abolish profiteering in food products. It also asked that the legislature prohibit the advertising of cigarettes in public places by bill boards and similar methods. The principal of no increase in state salaries during the incumbency of officials who held office at the time of passage was indorsed.

A resolution which included the matter of old age pensions was referred back to the subordinate granges for one year.

Baker won the selection for the 1925 session by unanimous vote. So persistently had the eastern Oregon backers worked that no rival raised a voice to lure the session elsewhere. The Baker Junkies will be the furthest contenders for that the Oregon Grange has ever made. The Bend session a few years ago and the Dallas last year are the only eastern Oregon sessions ever held by the state body.

Portland, Or., June 6.—While the first of the delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs were arriving here the western district young artists' contest under the auspices of the federation was being held here. Winners of state contents of California, Arizona, Washington and Oregon were participating in the district contest today.
