NEW BUSINESS CENTER RISING ALONG HIGHWAY

Woodburn, Ore., June 8.—With improvements by way of an ice factory and ice cream station, additions to auto camps, service stations, garages and general stores, the section of highway bordering east Woodburn and west of the east and Cleveland streets is beginning to assume the appearance of a city thoroughfare.

C. Nelson is completing a new ice factory and ice cream station at the junction of Hardcastle street and the highway. It is modern and up to date throughout, and is surrounded by an acre and a half of land, which is being used for a drawing card for tourists. The most complete equipment, including a set of shower baths, and a service station, is to be added to the attractions of the grove.

The Webfoot service station, at the corner of Lincoln and the highway, operated by R. L. Patton, has recently been remodeled. The "Geo-Bee", a modern tourist grocery, has been established by Gervais Ballo within the past few months for the benefit of East Woodburn and tourist trade.

Immediately south of Ballo's store Oscar Allen has opened a garage and service station. Adjacent to Mr. Allen's establishment is S. W. Maupin's auto park, which has been equipped with running water and electric lights. The park was first opened last July. Dale Maupin is camp manager at the present time. The Arch store and auto terminal, owned by Mr. Smith, has been established within the past year.

A large garage and service station, measuring 69 by 40 feet, and of the most modern stucco construction, has been opened on the opposite side of Young street from the Arch store. It is operated by Rex T. Gibbons. Gibbons also has a confectionery shop on the highway.
