

OLD GRADUATE TELLS OF GROWTH OF WILLAMETTE

The drastic changes that have taken place in Salem since 1872, when he left Willamette university, where he was a student, were described yesterday by Judge Charles S. Cutting, now a prominent Chicago attorney, who came from Chicago to Salem to deliver the commencement address at Willamette university.

"When I landed in Salem the shriek of no locomotive disturbed the quietude of its slumber, and I well recall that one of my fellow students when the railway first entered this city was astounded to find that the cars rode on top of the rail held in place by a flange instead of following a groove in a trough-life rail," he said. Changes that have been accomplished since that day, he stated, "would, if predicted, have been considered the wild dream of an enthusiast. The streets and highways were bad in those earlier days and even in the city the wagon of the farmer was hauled by splashing animals through a sea of liquid mud."

He mentioned the coming of the airplane, the radio, the telephone, and declared, "I will deny nothing as a possibility for the future. In fact, I believe that the possibilities of today will become the necessities of tomorrow."

Taking a stand in favor of conservative, constitutional government, Judge Cutting maintained, "Unwisdom, boring from within, there are silent influences at work to undermine, modify, change and disrupt the fundamental principles of our government." He declared that the hobby rider, taking a narrow point of view, often desired to evade the constitution merely because it got in his way.

The First Methodist church, where the commencement exercises were held, was packed for the occasion.

FRENCH SILENT UPON TERMS OF SECURITY PACT

Paris, June 11.—(By Associated Press)—Apparently moved by the utterances of British Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, the French newspapers are withholding comment on the Anglo-French security pact plan until Foreign Minister Briand returns and the terms are given out for publication.

Mr. Chamberlain in a diplomatically worded communique issued at Geneva yesterday attacked the publication of what he termed misleading statements about the proposed allied note in response to Germany's security pact proposals. M. Briand and he had agreed he said, not to divulge the contents of the note until its delivery to Berlin, but one sided and misleading accounts had appeared in print in some countries.

He added that no reflection was intended upon M. Briand, who is now on his way home by automobile, or his conference. The chief French objection, say Geneva dispatches is that the erroneous accounts failed to make clear that the proposed security pact would be mutual as to operation among the participating powers.

The Echo De Paris, commenting on Premier Baldwin's statement before the British house of commons, says the premier means that the projected treaty of guarantee on which Mr. Chamberlain and M. Briand reached agreement must not be regarded as something fixed and unchangeable; that its text will be definitely established with Berlin. Thus, the paper thinks, the Germans will be allowed to produce amendments. The British guarantee is strict-ly bilateral—"England promises to join the attack against the attack-er, that is all."

Un-superstitious pedestrians often do this —Proving that a post can divide two people without splitting their friendship. In the same way experienced motorists have proved to their complete satisfaction that Zerolene, a western oil, will lubricate the modern automobile engine as well or a little better than any oil they can buy, although it costs less than eastern lubricants.

The anti-western oil superstition succumbs to experience

Zerolene is successfully lubricating more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—low and high priced cars alike. The most advanced refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process, during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 15 positive checks for quality. Zerolene's special filtration through 40 tons of Florida Fuller's Earth gives you an oil of absolute purity—a better oil if it does cost less!

Less carbon—better fuel mileage

Zerolene will increase the power and gasoline mileage of your car, reduce carbon accumulation in the cylinders and lengthen the working life of the engine.

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Insist on ZEROLENE even if it does COST LESS
