

STATE BOARD TO MAKE SURVEY OF TUMALO PROJECT

Members of the state irrigation securities commission will make a trip of inspection over the Tumalo Irrigation district before they decide what action to take in regard to an appeal for various concessions that was made by representatives of the district yesterday.

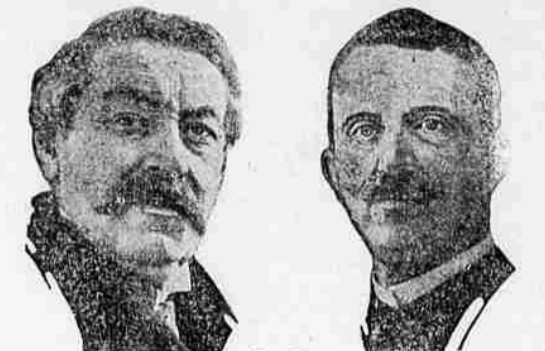

Most important the district wants an additional two years' interest guarantee on its $650,000 bond issue. Also it asks the state to release liens on unfulfilled contracts. These liens aggregate around $45,000.

The district offers to reciprocate by settling who bought water under the Carey act agreeing to pay 40 instead of 25 per cent for additional water necessary in development work. Should these concessions be granted by the state it is claimed the price of lands in the district would be reduced from $75 to $51 an acre and that consequently more settlers would be attracted.

An agreement has been reached for the consolidation of the Jordan Valley and the North Side Irrigation districts, said a report from Jordan Valley representatives yesterday. It is said this will increase the irrigable area to 15,000 acres and will not increase reclamation costs. Claims aggregating $107,000 will be eliminated, it was said.

The commission certified a bond issue of $5000 for the Klamath Falls drainage district and a $6500 issue for the Pine Grove Irrigation district. Both are in Klamath county.

LOVE LETTERS OF M'CLINTOCK ARE GIVEN TO PRESS

Chicago, June 18.—(A. P.)—The Chicago Tribune today printed a series of love letters written by the late young William Nelson McClintock to his fiancée, Isabelle Pope. Miss Pope yesterday completed her testimony in the trial of William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of his foster son, McClintock, by administering typhoid germs.

The letters were written in 1924, while McClintock was a student at Dartmouth college, and all were expressive of deep love for the girl who had promised to be his wife. One throws some light on the writer's feelings toward his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd. It was written in May, 1924, in part as follows: "I haven't heard from the folks (the Shepherds) in weeks. I suppose I have committed some frightful boner or something, but really I can't bother to find out until they write. I really think they will both be happier if they have their little farm or home in Florida and don't bother about me. I wonder what they will have to say when I announce my revised plans for the care of what properties I have. I don't care much, for I am at last sure of myself."

Another letter about the same time in part read: "Sweetheart, it will be so very wonderful to have you wearing my ring and everyone with full knowledge of the fact of our love and intention to marry as soon as we can. You know, darling, I will really consider it wonderful if we don't up and get married next summer. Other letters which Miss Pope wrote to "Billy" were made public by the defense. One read in part: "My dearest: Three, one, two, three—letters from you today. Oh, how happy I am to have such a wonderful, faithful boy in love with me. Whatever have I done to deserve you."

BURGHDOFF ASKS FOR STRICTER HUNTING BAN

Spokane, Wn., June 18.—Stricter rules on hunting of upland birds alone will prevent the extermination of special species, A. E. ### LEGION TOSSERS CAPTURE SIXTH GAME OF SERIES

The Legion nine of the twilight league series won their sixth straight game last night when they defeated the Valley Motor team on the Oxford park diamond by a score of 7 to 3. The Ford team played their best game of the season but were unable to hit when they meant runs. This win almost clinches the championship for the Legion nine, who have won the championship for the last three years.

The losers started hitting the Legion twirler in the second inning when they scored all three of their runs. The Legion nine tightened up, however, and blanked them for the rest of the game. Hooper started on the mound for the Legionaires, but was taken out for Jenkins. Pearma was behind the bat the whole game. Fractor, hurler for the losers, pitched a good game but was not given the proper support although they played better ball than they have been displaying. Macy caught for the Valley Motor team.

Both teams were unable to hit at the stride they have earlier in the season and they showed poor base running. This loss puts the Valley Motor team further in the cellar with five losses and one win.

The Papermakers of the sun-down league will meet the Eagles on the Oxford park diamond. Both of these teams are about evenly matched although the Papermakers are leading the league with three wins and no losses while the Eagles are trailing close behind with two wins and one loss. A win for the Eagles would tie them for first place.

Friday evening the Grotto and the Bankers will cross bats on the local diamond. This game was postponed some time ago on account of rain.
