CUBE BUTTER UP TO 47 CENTS AND MARKET STRONG

Portland, June 25—Cube butter again advanced on the local exchange with extras now posted at 47 cents. The market is strong with eager demand for all available offerings. That a corresponding advance in prints and butterfat prices cannot be avoided much longer is the general feeling among the trade and some have already increased their orders.

No change in prints were announced by local creamerymen during the forenoon although there was some discussion as to the merits of an advance at this time.

Good butter is very scarce here, in fact there is very little of any grade of butter loose in this market.

Egg values rule firm with a brisk demand for the moderate offerings. Pullets are a cent higher on the exchange at 34 cents. All other grades unchanged.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE FRUITS BY HEAT THUS FAR

What effect the heat spell would have on the fruit crop was the insistent subject of speculation of fruit row today as the mercury contipue to sour throughout the day with indicati ns that old sol was intent on establishing a new record. Generally; the conclusion was that unless the heat continued for several days or was accompanied by hot winds, the damage to cherries and logans would not be considerable. But a four or five day repetition of yesterday is too unhappy a thought; they don't want to speculate on it.

Reports from growers this morning indicated that the hot wind yesterday had wilted some of the fruit to a noticeable extent, especially in orchards where the fruit was completely ripe. Receipts at the canneries showed that many growers had picked throughout the afternoon with the result that the heat had done considerable to mar the looks of the fruit.

Cherry buyers say that a steady hot spell would do little damage beyond sunburn to some of the fruit exposed in the top of the trees, but fear a warm hot wind which would cut the stem. They recommend that growers do not attempt picking during the worst heat of the day if the present temperature continues. The warm weather will hasten considerably the ripening of the fruit.

TO MOVE FIRST CHERRIES FRIDAY

First of the black cherry lots came in to the Young and Wells packing house today and company officials expressed the opinion that their first car would leave here tomorrow night. In case a full car is not ready by that time the fruit will be packed and trucked to their plant at Vancouver where a car is scheduled to leave tomorrow.

Charles Anderson, warehouse foreman for the Young and Wells packing plant here, arrived on the job this morning from Lewiston where he has handled the deal for his firm there. About fifty people will be employed in handling the fruit during the rush at the plant here.

WILL FURNISH BOXES AT COST

Young and Wells will furnish apple boxes to their growers this season at car-load lot prices and with a saving of from two to four cents per box over the price that many growers paid last year, it was announced this morning by W. L. Wells. Most of the apple growers bought their own boxes in small lots last year and paid what Wells declares was a price several cents higher than if they had been bought by the car load.

The Young and Wells firm will send about 50 cars from Salem this year in their apple deal, Wells declared. Operations will begin about September 1 with the possibility that a few cars of early apples may be out before that time There is a possibility, he added, that they will pack a few lots of peaches.

The Spokane firm will do all of its own packing throughout the season at the old Salem Fruit Union plant.

NEED OF PICKERS HERE IS URGENT

Hot weather has produced an acute labor situation in cherry orchards and loganberry yards here due to the rapid ripening of the fruit. A hurry-up call has been sent out for 150 additional cherry pickers and 100 loganberry pickers. An effort is being made to procure the pickers in Portland, but it is said the demand cannot be entirely filled from that city. From one and a half to 3 cents a pound is offered for cherry pickers, depending on the quality and quantity of the fruit, and the wage for loganberry pickers averages about 1½ cents.

START PULLING FLAX ON MONDAY

Flax harvesting begins Monday, the earliest ever known, when Ball Brothers start their pulling machine on the Brown farm, three miles southeast of Salem. The crop is the finest ever grown in the Willamette valley and as there are but thirteen flax-pulling machines to harvest 4000 or so acres planted to flax this year, or a third more acreage than the machines can handle, flax farmers face a serious situation, and possible loss. Due warning of the situation was given the public by flax experts here, but the warnings were disregarded by the growers.

Notices of decrease in capital were filed by the following: Portland Flour Mills company, $2,000,000 to $10,000. Bonenoro Orchard company, Hood River, $100,000 to $24,000.

Notice of dissolution was filed by the Henry Veale Auto company of Portland.
