Miss Turner Married Yesterday

The first Methodist church was the scene last night of one of the most beautiful weddings Salem has ever seen when Miss Joy Turner became the bride of William Edward Moses, Rev. R. L. Putnam of the Court Street Christian church, performed the ceremony, with Rev. Fred Taylor, of the First church, assisting.

The church was beautiful. The chancel, the pillars and the organ in the background, were almost completely hidden with palms, ferns and countless baskets filled with flowers of pink and white. Smilax was entwined through the organ pipes, seven tall baskets filled with pink gladioli and pink snapdragons with Shasta daisies and baby breath were placed in a semi-circle in the background. Long baskets of Shasta daisies, white carnations and Dorothy Perkins roses were lovely over the archways and the pillars were almost completely hidden with pink snapdragons and white carnations. Tall pink candles were used in silver candleholders. Half hidden in the greenery and flowers were two tiny cupids, little Teona and Wilona Putnam, who stood poised with silver bows and arrows during the ceremony.

Prof. Frank E. Churchill presided at the organ. Mrs. W. Carlton Smith sang "Sweet and Holy." The wedding march from Lohengrin with four violins accompanying was played as the bridal party entered. The violinists were Miss Mildred Scott of Monmouth, Harold Rupert, Donald Siegmund and Miss Margaret Egge. As a violin solo Miss Scott played Dvorak's "Song to the Sea" and "Taught Me," Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the recessional.

The bride was a picture of loveliness in a gown of satin back ed crepe with a full length train and veil. It was made with a panel effect, with old point lace which has been in the family for more than four generations. It was embroidered with pearls. Her only ornament was a heavy string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her shower bouquet was of Ophelia roses and orchids. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Rex A. Turner.

Mrs. Rex A. Turner was matron of honor. She wore an attractive frock of delicate orange satin backed crepe and a picture hat. She carried an arm bouquet of old fashioned flowers.

Two bridesmaids, Mrs. George Warner of San Francisco, and Mrs. Charles Niemeyer of Seattle, wore frocks of honey dew georgette with hats to match. Two of the bridesmaids, Mrs. Clara Vibbert and Mrs. Ivan Martin were lovely in dainty green frocks. They wore large green flowered hats. All carried arm bouquets.

The tiny flower girl, Barbara Bunnell of Independence, and the ring bearer, Patricia Murray of Eugene, wore little befrilled frocks of pink.

The bride's train was carried by two diminutive pages, Adair Birtcher and Madeline Knowles, each just thirty six inches high. They wore little white satin capes slung from their shoulders. The capes were like the death green. David R. Moses, of Gervais, was his brother's best man. The ushers were Dr. Chester Downs, Clara Vibbert, Jack Vincent, Ken

Wedding At Marshall Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Marshall near Gervais was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday when their daughter, Miss Katherine Marshall, became the bride of John Jelderks. The ceremony took place at four o'clock in the afternoon under a canopy of roses and ferns erected in the living room of the Marshall home. Rev. Matthews of the Gervais Presbyterian church officiated.

The living room was attractively decked in pink and white roses and sweet peas and the same color plan was followed throughout.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white crepe backed satin. It was simply and most effectively made with point lace. Her veil was full length and fastened with a bandeau of lace. Her shower bouquet was of roses and sweet peas. Mr. Marshall gave his daughter in marriage.

The only attendant was the bride's matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Donald Mars. She wore an attractive frock of pink georgette made with lace.

Before the ceremony Miss Alla Kirshner sang "Oh Promise me," Mrs. Robert Harper sang "Because I Love You Truly," and Miss Ione Luehrs, a Xi Beta sorority sister of the bride, played the wedding march from the "Midsommer Night's Dream."

A reception followed the ceremony. More than sixty friends and relatives of the young couple were present. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Catherine Jones, also a sorority sister of the bride.

The bride's going away costume was a brown crepe ensemble with a small hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Jelderks will spend several weeks at one of the Oregon beaches and will then return to Salem, where Mr. Jelderks is connected with the insurance business, to make their home.

Mrs. Jelderks is well known both in Salem and in Corvallis where she was in college for four years. She was graduated from Salem high school in 1920 and from O. A. C. with the class of '24. She is a member of Xi Beta
