Everything was made in readiness late today to take the local boy scouts, number nearly 50, to Camp Cascan, located on the south fork of the Santiam river near Cascade. The boys leave for camp early Saturday morning, and will be taken there by local automobile owners. None of the members of troop 4, one local boy scout unit, were registered on arrival yesterday but it has been stated that a number of them may go for the second camp which begins at the close of the first, two weeks from tomorrow. The committee in charge of troop 4 has gone on record as opposing a separate boy scout camp, which was the original intention. A site has been selected at Fish Lake. A plan to take troop 4 with the local YMCA encampment was also abandoned yesterday.

"The mind of nearly every salesman is divided into two parts, one is thinking about what he did last night and the other is thinking about what he is going to do tonight," said John C. Pritz, Pacific coast representative of the National Cash Register company.

making a speech before the Salem Lions club this noon. He used a chart to illustrate the points made in the speech, which was given over to a discussion of salesmanship and salesmanship methods. It is much more important in salesmanship, he stated, to appeal to the human element in a customer than to appeal to his brain. He recommended the use of short, simple words and stated that the customer should be given something to look at as well as being talked to.

"Variety Is the Spice of Life"

Leake's Orchestral Entertainers Scheduled for Chautauqua.

Distinct novelty is introduced in the excellent program of Leake's Orchestral Entertainers coming to Chautauqua this season, without sacrificing the artistic in any degree. The result is one of entire musical satisfaction and distinct entertainment.

If J. Leake, who has been connected for many seasons with prominent concert bands, orchestral combinations, and with leading Chautauqua and Lyceum companies, has been on the Keith Vandeville Circuit and with the A. G. Fields Minstrel Company. In addition to being an exceptional musician, he does novel musical numbers, an acknowledged master of drums, xylophone, marimbaphone, saxophone, a whistler, a monologist, and a polyphonic imitator. His inimitable reproductions of animal and bird sounds is one of the outstanding features of the Leake program.

Beth Woodward-Leake, soprano, marimbaphone and piano artist, is also a distinct attraction of this organization. Other artists employ violin, cornet and similar instruments. The Leake Orchestral Entertainers offer a happy combination of personality and musicianship with a proper blend of dignity and merriment.

ENGLISH SHOW KEEN INTEREST IN SCOPES CASE

London, July 10.—(A. P.)—It has been a long time since any occurrence in the United States has attracted here an amount of attention such as that of the trial of John T. Scopes at Dayton, Tenn., for teaching the theory of evolution in violation of a state law.

The incident has already been the subject of numerous eulogical stories and mailed articles and with the opening of the trial today the papers feature it with remarkable prominence. Some of the long detailed special articles from their correspondents in the United States and others display the news agency reports, while most of the front pages bear pictures of Scopes and William Jennings Bryan.

No sympathizers with the anti-evolution standpoint have expressed themselves publicly thus far and all the editorial comments either treat the case in a humorous vein or professional amazement that the fundamentalist view is seriously held by men of Mr. Bryan's position and attainments.

This, however is not to say that believers in the literal text of the Bible do not exist in England, but the view of the ordinary Englishman is probably correctly gauged in the Daily Mail editorial today, which says:

"In this country, where free expression of opinion has been so long a recognized right, and where the doctrine of evolution is treated as a purely scientific question, having nothing to do with religion, the idea of prosecuting a man for preaching Darwinism would appear to be fantastic."

"To English eyes there is something comic in this storm in a teacup, but it has a serious aspect. The attempt to stifle liberty of thought and speech is doubtless doomed to ultimate failure."

EQUADORIAN REVOLT OUSTS GOVERNMENT

Lima, Peru, July 10.—(A. P.)—23 Comera's correspondent at Guayaquil, Ecuador, reports the overthrow of the Ecuadorian government at Quito by a bloodless military movement. It is not known whether the movement was directed only against the cabinet or also against President Godoy.

The dispatch says government officials at Quito were imprisoned and that the movement is believed to have been widespread in Ecuador.

FIRST DELEGATION OF ELKS REACHES OREGON

Portland, July 10.—(A. P.)—The Jackson, Mich., delegation arrived today to attend the annual national convention of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. SHENANDOAH'S BATTLE VALUE WILL BE TESTED

Washington, July 10.—(AP)—Maneuvers to be conducted probably soon after July 15 by the dirigible Shenandoah with the battleship Texas, and airship Tender Patoka off the Atlantic coast will be made with a view of determining the best means of employing rigid airships in naval war operations.

"It is to be remembered," said a Navy department statement today, "that the Shenandoah was designed as a naval airship and the exercises are for the purpose of aiding the navy department in reaching a policy in recommending future expenditures on this type of aircraft."

The objects, it was said were in general to connect:

"Tests of the radio and communication facilities of the Shenandoah with a view toward perfecting them.

"Tests to determine the viability of rigid airships from surface ships and vice versa, under varying atmospheric conditions.

"Tests to determine the type and position of the defense armament that should be carried by rigid airships in time of war.

"Tests to determine the feasibility of overseas patrol by rigid airships in time of war."

The last exercise will be a search problem in which the Shenandoah will proceed several hundred miles to sea in an effort to locate the Texas.

TENT IS PACKED OPENING NIGHT OF CHAUTAUQUA

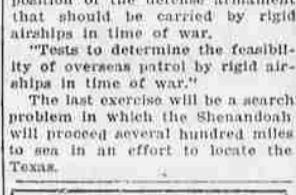

The tent sheltering the crowd which gathered last night to hear the opening number of the Ellsworth White Chautauqua was filled to capacity. Alton Packard, professional entertainer, kept the audience amused throughout the evening long with his combination of wit, sketches and songs.

The junior chautauqua was organized this morning. This afternoon's program was provided by Leake's Orchestral Entertainers, who gave a concert beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The same orchestra will give the prelude to this evening's entertainment. They will be followed by Captain Sigurd K. Gudmundson, who will give a lecture on the subject "Back from Russia." The program begins at 8 p. m.

Tomorrow's program for the morning and afternoon includes a meeting of the junior chautauqua at 9 a. m., and a program beginning at 2:30 p. m. The prelude for the afternoon's program will be given by the Baughman-Peterson duo. A lecture, "In the Other Fellow's Shoes," will be given by Oney Fret Sweet.

NUGGET VALUED AT $85 FOUND NEAR MEDFORD

Medford, Ore., July 10.—A miniature gold nugget from Rogue river is not improbable as the result of the announcement in the village of Rogue River today that Truman Spott, a visitor from Iowa, yesterday turned out a four-ounce gold nugget which he values at $85. Mr. Spott has been a frequent visitor to Rogue River in the summer and has persistently maintained there are great stores of free gold in the gravel of the famous trout stream. He claims to have made wages before, but today's find was the first one of sensational proportions.
