

BLACK CHERRY DEAL IS CONCLUDED HERE TODAY

17 CARS SHIPPED FROM SALEM NET GROWERS PROFIT

The black cherry association morning with a few odds and ends that are going into the local market and the association packing machinery was dismantled, thus closing up the black cherry deal as far as Salem is concerned this year.

A check shows that a total of 17 cars were shipped out of here this season, rather than 24 as based on first statements from shippers, it being discovered that the shippers lapped over on each other in making statements on a number of combination cars that went out loaded with some cherries from each one of the shippers. All told 18 cars were loaded here, one of these being from McMinnville.

It seems as though to come in on some of the cars shipped, the association yesterday received telegraphic advice from School & Day on a car which was sold in New York by that firm for the association, with the Lamberts going at $2.97 and the Black Republicans at $2.15. The car crossed $1693.

The telegram stated that this price exceeded any sales from Yakima or Wenatchee by from 50 cents to $1 and was 30 cents better than any sales made previously on any Oregon car. Supplies are diminishing and there is a better feeling, the telegram related.

Young & Wells has received returns on a car sold for the association in Chicago which went at $2.90 for the Lamberts and $2.45 for Black Republicans. The firm figures that the Lambert price at $2.90 in Chicago is virtually as good as the $3.02 sale in New York as there is approximately a 5 cent differential in the rate between the two cities.

No returns have been received on the three cars sent out shippers worrying some about those cars as to the condition in which they might arrive, as cherries were giving indications of softening some at the time the cars were shipped.

MARKET FOR HOPS STRENGTHENING

With 1229 bales estimated left in the growers hands in Oregon of the 1924 crop and none in the hands of dealers indications are that growers now holding hops will get the money for them.

John Tweedy of Woodburn has recently sold 80 bales to McNeff for 16 cents and James R. Linn recently bought 109 bales in Grants Pass district for 14 cents.

Reports from California are to the effect that hops there are advancing and that Sacramento, which a month ago were selling cheap, have been bringing 16 cents recently.

Wheat Advances 8 Cents Valley Farmers Look for Prosperity This Season

Chicago, July 11.—Sensational upturn in the price of wheat were witnessed today, as much as eight cents a bushel in some cases. A heavy wave threatening big increases in crop damage from black rust in the spring wheat belt was largely responsible. The market closed excited at the topmost figures reached, July 11.54 to 11.54 1/2.

Wheat threshing will begin in the valley next week with every indication of a bumper crop. Skyrocketing of the wheat market in Chicago is joyous news to the valley farmers, as indications look good for him to get something for his crop unless a smash comes.

Merle LaFollette has just brought in some wonderful looking heads of white winter wheat grown on the Aleck LaFollette place in Mission bottom. The heads are fully six inches long on the stalks brought in and he states that they were taken at random from the field.

LOGANS HOLDING OUT WELL; PACK NEAR TO NORMAL

Loganberries are holding up far better than anticipated and there is every indication now that all of the canneries will get their estimated tonnage. The loganberry deliveries promise to continue all of next week and part of the following but this will be the heaviest week of the remaining part of the harvest.

The berries coming in now are of superior quality as the picking has got around to the under side of the vines, the top picking being pretty well finished, and the finest berries come from under the vines.

This has been one of the few seasons where the logans have held up good right through to the end of the picking. All effects from the heat wave have vanished and throughout the crop is producing a wonderful looking lot of berries.

HUNT TO OPEN MARKET ON 12TH STREET MONDAY

Guy W. Hunt, resident of Salem for the past 25 years, announced today that he has purchased the equipment for the meat market of D. L. Shrode and will open a meat market on South 12th street, one door south of Shrode's store. The new market will open for business Monday.

Mr. Hunt has engaged in the meat business for over 20 years and has spent that length of time in the immediate vicinity of the place where his new store is located.

When he came to purchase equipment for his new plant he was impressed with the fact that times have changed since he first started in the meat business. Mr. Hunt has said what in the old days a few dollars were enough to buy for all the equipment needed, the modern butcher is forced to spend hundreds. Mr. Hunt has a new cold storage plant and new equipment throughout the shop.

He has sold out his interest in the Hunt & Schiller market on North Commercial street.

Washington, D. C.—The department of agriculture forecast an enormous corn crop with wheat prospects fair and potatoes and fruit less favorable.

DAIRY PRODUCE CLOSES HIGHER; EGGS ADVANCED

Portland, July 11.—Dairy produce closed higher today in all lines after showing an erratic trend in butter and eggs during the week. Country dressed meats and poultry were in moderate supply at all times and values were well maintained, working higher on calves and hogs during the last few days.

Very few country dressed veals arrived along the coast this week and the market advanced from 13 1/2 cents on Monday to 15 1/2 cents today. Real fancy veal brought as high as 16 cents in some instances.

Choice light hogs, heavy delivered, were in small supply during the week and prices held firm at 19 to 19 1/2 cents. Live poultry has moved out well during the week with the demand at all times sufficient to take care of the moderate arrivals. Ducks alone are in poor demand at 20 cents. Heavy hens closed at 23 to 24 cents, light hens 17 cents, colored 20 to 25 cents and white 18 to 19 cents.

Federation

"To form a more perfect union" was the animating thought of the statesmen who met to draft America's constitution. Their problem was to weld the sections they represented into a political entity that would function most efficiently and enduringly in the service of the people.

A similar problem was presented nearly a century later to the organizers of America's telephone service. Licenses under the first patents were being granted to isolated companies that were forming to introduce local service. "A more perfect union" of these companies seemed, from the beginning of the telephone's adoption by the people, to be essential, and so the structure of the Bell System was planned.

This organization exists today substantially as it was then conceived—a group of companies, each preserving its individuality and applying local knowledge to local needs, but all federated into a single cohesive union in order that nation-wide, universal service may be provided.
