Officers will investigate a report that Mrs. Orton Hilliker, living on the Silverton road, may be able to identify the James Allen, who was killed in Phoenix, Ariz., July 13. It is understood Mrs. Hilliker stated that her father, whose name was Allen, was born in Nevada and lived in Salem and Dallas. This fits the description of the man reported killed in Phoenix. But she stated her father's name was not James and he was over 45 years of age. It is considered possible that the Phoenix officers may have been mistaken in the age and first name of the man whose body is being held at Phoenix.

WILKINSON NEW CHAMPION RIDER

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 25.—(AP)—Billy Wilkinson of Horse Creek, Wyo., is world's champion bucking horse rider, as far as Cheyenne and the Rocky mountain regions are concerned. He won the title yesterday by "atting" on an untamed mustang, "He'lla Maria Dawes" in the presence of the vice president of the United States himself.

Gene Krieg, a 16 year old Holly, Colo., miss, won the cowgirls' bucking contest by riding "Blue Dog," another "untamable" mount. The Cheyenne competition was Miss Krieg's first.

Ed L. Herlihan of Antroek, Neb., won a leg on the Roosevelt trophy, emblematic of world's champion all around cowboy when he took first in the bulldozing contest with an average time with two steers of 19 1-3 seconds. He will defend his leg in the trophy at Keno, Oregon, later in the summer.

Joe Rude, Mangum, Okla., won the two calf roping with an average time of 24 3-5 seconds.

Tad Lucas, Douglas, Wyo., girl, and Buck Stuart, Fort Worth, Texas, shared honors in the trick riding and roping.

Fred Lowry, Lenap, Okla., won the two-steer roping event, with an average time of 26 7-15 seconds.

Sam Garrett, Burbank, Cal., carried away honors in the trick and fancy roping events.

WITTNER STRICT ATHEIST, CLAIM

Washington, July 25.—(A. P.)—While Loren M. Wittner and his counsel are quietly preparing to press his suit here to throw the evolution issue in the federal courts, the spotlight of publicity is relentlessly pursuing the champion of science into the precincts of his government employment. In addition to bringing to light that Wittner, an avowed atheist, has on three occasions struck out the phrase "so help me God," in taking the oath as a government employe and thus raising a question as to the legal status of his employment, the notoriety has caused complications in his efforts to do work at the treasury.

Wittner's superior in the office at first took a liberal attitude toward the deluge of newspaper photographs and other callers that descended upon him when he leaped into the limelight by filing his injunction suit to test a provision of the District of Columbia appropriation bill against teaching "disrespect to the Holy Bible."

BRITISH STRIKE LOOMS SERIOUS

London, July 25.—(A. P.)—The possibilities of the threatened strike of coal miners became more serious today when a conference of the transportation and railway unions decided to take steps to prevent the movement of coal in event the miners strike.

It has been decided to call a conference in London Thursday of the executives of all trade unions to decide what strike action, if any, shall be taken by the unions generally.

The present working agreement between miners and owners expires July 31. The miners have called a strike for fullness on that date as a result of failure of the two sides to agree upon new working terms.

The executive committee of the Amalgamated Union of Building Trade Workers today adopted unanimously a resolution called upon the general council of the trades union congress to establish "a council of action that will insure that every atom of strength of the organized working class be utilized—in support of the miners' present crisis."

trials for a desperate legal battle to have Scott committed to an asylum.

That the fight will be bitter has been indicated by prosecutors who believe Scott is as sane now as when the killing of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, in a holdup, for which Scott was condemned, occurred. They will not relent in their efforts to have the death sentence carried out. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, has been summoned from his vacation in northern Wisconsin to lead the state's effort.

It was Scott himself, said his attorney, who thought out the insanity plea. When the lawyer at first insisted to confer with him, Scott stated that he was sane. Later he said he believed he was "stir crazy." Previously Scott told newspapermen that he thought "there must be something wrong with me to go and do the things I did. Maybe the liquor affected my brain. I was drunk at the time, and then the months in here."

An offer to take Scott's place was made to Governor Small by C. C. McGraw of Washington, D. C., who said he made it in an effort to bring about abolition of capital punishment.

the new arrangement effective but a further delay is possible. The boundaries of the new districts as originally announced have been the subject of considerable criticism from various sources, but Mr. Andrews insisted today that the changes decided on were dictated solely by a desire to do with efficiency.

Under the revised, South Dakota, previously joined with Minnesota and North Dakota now is a part of the Nebraska-Iowa district, with headquarters in Omaha.

Kansas previously in the same district with Nebraska and Iowa, will be linked instead with Missouri and the southern counties of the eastern judicial district of Illinois, with headquarters at St. Louis.

Aeting Secretary Winston of the organization said today the reorganization would be put into effect simultaneously throughout the country "about September 1."

"The selection of the 24 administrators," he continued, "is a matter of the greatest importance. The department is giving all recommendations earnest consideration and is making a thorough survey of the field with a view of the selection of the best available material."

The changes in district lines, he declared, had been made "upon the recommendation of Commissioner Blair who was absent through illness when the districts were first determined."

The letter sent by Mr. Andrews to the field agents informed them that some of those now in the service would be retained, and "even promoted in the new organization," but that selections would be based on "merit only."

He added that the regional administrators would have a free hand in selecting personnel.

early session of the grand jury. Owen was named in two counts, charging conspiracy to extort, and to violate the prohibition law.

A statement by William Goldstein, attorney for Owen, said that he is "innocent of the charges in this indictment" and that "at the proper time and place he is certain he will establish his innocence."

The attorneys charged the indictments were based upon the uncorroborated testimony of "criminals and bootleggers," and that Major Owen was denied the right to a grand jury to submit to questioning.

Leo Klein, assistant district attorney, in charge of the investigation, said Owen, Bennett and Rumpus were parties to a conspiracy to aid the illegal withdrawal of 500,000 gallons of sacramental wine, through which they sought to extort $200,000. Stone, in charge with having collected up wards of $30,000 in cash most of which was turned over to Owen.

He will take the place of Professor Timothy Cloran, who was recently demoted from the head of the department to a professorship, by the action of the board of regents.

Mr. Bowen holds three college degrees, his A. B. from Harvard, and his A. M. and Ph. D. from Cornell. His travels have been extensive, and he has studied in France, Italy and Spain.

2 HUGE LUMBER MILLS BUILT IN WASHINGTON

Bremerton, Wash., July 25.—Two of the largest and most modern sawmills in the country will be erected at Port Gamble and Port Ludlow, it was announced yesterday by Edgar G. Ames, vice-president of the Puget Mill company.

The new mills will rival those of the Long-Bell and Weyerhaeuser mills at Longview, Wash., Ames said. The McCormick Steamship company of California has been given a renewed option on the Puget Mill company's properties on condition that they construct two new mills at the two ports. If the renewed option is not exercised the Puget Mill company will carry out the construction plans, Ames declared.

dredge, be placed in operation on the river and that additional men be engaged for the Montecello, government dredge which has been operating for a number of months. It is hoped to run two shifts of 8 hours each on the Montecello. There are now 11 men working on the boat for a single shift of eight hours.

That the government project of clearing the channel has not been progressing as rapidly as it would progress if those doing the work were in private employ has become talk among rivermen. It has been suggested, although without hope of success, that there should be some method of paying by the job rather than by the day.

navigable by the use of wing dams. Now that the pile driver and equipment are on hand it will be a comparatively easy matter to build more dams. The places where the dams are most needed are Metheny's bar and Lincoln bar, he indicated.

It was estimated yesterday that there are between 3,000 and 4,000 feet of river bottom to be dredged here and there between Lone Tree bar, where the Montecello now is, up to and including Lincoln bar, some 6 miles down the river from Salem. Lone tree bar is located opposite the Simons hop yard, 11 miles down the river from Salem.

At the present rate of work it is expected that the dredge will take 6 weeks or longer to do the work. The Dayton, a private dredge, was engaged this week to dredge the river channel from Brentano, farthest point up stream available to river shipping at present, up to and including the upper Weston bar. Estimates place the length of time necessary for the Dayton to do its work at four weeks.

NEWPORT IN GALATHEA SOCIETY WEDDING

Airplane, yacht, motor and train brought guests for the reception that will be held at Beachwood, after the ceremony at the palatial villa which looks out over the harbor that sparkles with the color of flag bedecked craft. Details of the reception are being withheld by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, II, the bride's mother, but it was rumored that 500 invitations had been sent.

A small number was invited to the ceremony itself, the guests being limited to immediate members of the Vanderbilt and Church families and a few intimate friends. There were reports that Miss Vanderbilt would be given away by her father, William K. Vanderbilt, II, and that her sister, Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, would be maid of honor.

Miss Vanderbilt's wedding gown was selected by her mother in Paris recently. It will be white, the bride's favorite color.

Mr. Church's best man came from Japan to attend the wedding and arrived in Newport yesterday. He is Robert G. Payne of Boston, a classmate of the bridegroom at Harvard.

Miss Vanderbilt who is 25 years old is the heiress to a large fortune. She is a great grand-daughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and the grand-daughter of James Graham Fair, who after immigrating from Ireland to Chicago, went to California in 1849 and later removed to Nevada where he amassed wealth.
