2406 DOGS IN COUNTY LICENSED FIRST 6 MONTHS

With a penalty attached to delinquent dog licenses from now on to the end of the year, yesterday, the last day to pay without a penalty, brought an avalanche of 129 applications for licenses, $158 being collected in fees.

This brought the total of licenses issued for the year up to 2406, the largest number ever issued in the county. It is estimated there still are about 600 unlicensed dogs in the county.

Sheriff Bower and County Clerk Boyer conferred this morning on the proposition of getting in the delinquents. As a result a check will be made of the lists of dog owners as turned in by deputy assessors against the licenses issued, and the sheriff will be given a list showing the names of all dog owners not yet having paid their licenses. He will then start on a general roundup.

Under the law a delinquent may be hauled into court and fined $10 for non-payment of his license. It is probable that this step will be followed, and it is expected that a fine of two will result in the balance of the delinquent dog owners getting busy. Licenses from now on will cost $1 more for males and $2 for female dogs.

COMMISSION TO PROBE RAILROAD EXTENSIONS

Proposed railroad development in Lake and Klamath counties will be examined in detail by members of the public service commission, attorneys and engineers, who left here today for that part of the state. The party will make a survey of the tributary traffic.

The commission declares that the railroad building proposed is a direct result of a campaign started by the commission a few years ago. H. H. Corey, chairman of the commission, filed the original development complaint. Besides Mr. Corey the party will include J. P. Newell, engineer of Portland, Hal E. Wiggins, rate and traffic expert, and William P. Ellis, attorney for the commission.

SENATORS PLAY LUCKENBACK AT SALEM SUNDAY

Tomorrow afternoon the Salem Senators are to cross bats with the fast Luckenbach nine on the Oxford park diamond, weather permitting, in the crucial game of the season. The locals have two chances to win the Interstate league pennant. If they win tomorrow they are champions. If they lose they still have a chance of Albany defeating Luckenbach next week, in that case the Senators will be champions. If the shipbuilders win both contests the two teams will be tied for the top position and a play-off will be necessary.

Much interest is being taken in the coming game as the locals are working hard to get a victory over the visitors. The shipbuilders got off to a bad start but have been doing like wildcats since and have taken the locals into camp in both games played so far. One of their wins came due to the stellar pitching of Rudy Kallio, Salt Lake hurler of the Pacific Coast league, who has won three straight games since going back with them. The other win was a slugfest with the shipmen hammering the offerings of Barham and Proctor freely. Ashby was on the sick list at that time.

According to Edwards, Ashby will start on the mound for the locals, although it is not definitely decided as yet. Barham will more than likely be on the bench in case he is needed. He is feeling a little better since last week when he was hit over the right eye by a piece of a bat. The other Interstate league games will both be hard fought and a fast close of the season is promised. This will be the last game of the season for the Senators unless a play-off is required. The regular season was supposed to end the 19th but postponed games have made it necessary to stretch the season until next week when most of the teams will have finished their schedules.

Notice of a decrease in capital from $50,000 to $35,000 was filed by the Wells-Malone Logging company of Astoria.

NEW CHAIN STORE TO OPEN HERE ON SEPTEMBER 5

H. H. Grady, general manager of the Cosmopolitan stores, left Salem for Eugene today, and will move the general headquarters for the chain from Eugene to Salem Monday. The store at Salem, being built on the site of the old Liberty theater, will be the fourth of a chain established in the Willamette valley, with the avowed intention of eventually expanding to every sizable town in Oregon and Washington. Headquarters for the entire chain will be at Salem for a number of years, and if ambitious of company officials are realized Salem will become the permanent location of headquarters for a unit of the chain.

Reasons for Coming

Commenting on his reasons for establishing headquarters at Salem, Mr. Grady yesterday declared that the city has advantages as a shipping center enjoyed by no other city in the Willamette valley, due to the fact that there is a water line running from Portland as far as Salem. Salem will be used as a distributing center for Cosmopolitan stores throughout the valley, he said. Most of the goods used by the company comes north up the coast by boat, some from San Francisco and some through the Panama canal. As an indication of how rail and water rates compare, Grady stated that goods can be shipped from San Francisco direct to Salem by water at a lower rate than the same goods can be shipped from Portland to Salem by rail.

The plan of the Cosmopolitan stores is in many ways similar to that of the H. S. Cross and the Kroeger companies, who are well established in the east and are known to be reaching west, the Cross company having already made its appearance on the Pacific coast, and the Kroeger company being known to have made inquiries in the west, including Salem.

Twenty Three Departments

The Cosmopolitan stores have 23 departments, taking in a list of nearly every staple line sold, including groceries. They are sometimes called junior department stores. Present prices range from five cents to a dollar per piece for goods, but it is tentatively planned to raise the maximum to five dollars.

At present the company is capitalized at $250,000. It was organized about a year ago. The first store opened for business at McMinnville last April. Since April stores have been opened at Corvallis and Independence.

The store at Salem will be opened for business on Saturday, September 5.

The company plans to add one more store to its chain this year, which will make a total of five. Attempts are being made to secure a site in Eugene.

Last of the Frontier

Commenting on his reason for establishing a system of chain stores in the northwest rather than elsewhere Mr. Grady stated yesterday, "Oregon is the last of the frontier. Every country is bound to expand into Oregon and Washington for the reason that there is no other place to go. California has had its boom, and is now on the toboggan." Grady comes from California, having been connected with a chain system there.

"I am not saying this for the sake of publicity," he said, "or for any other reason than that I believe it, but I think this Willamette valley is the cream of Oregon, if not the northwest. During the next 10 years I am convinced that it is bound to see a wonderful development. Other chain stores are bound to be on the field in competition with us in a few years—you can't keep them out, but we aim to get in on the ground floor. At present there is no other chain store of our type here."

"We want our headquarters at Salem because of its shipping facilities, and because it is the heart of the Willamette valley."

LOCAL PHEASANTS GO TO ADJOINING STATES

Silverton, Or., Aug. 1.—Carl Benson, who owns a pheasant farm near here, shipped 1000 birds to California this week. The birds were added to a shipment sent from Yakima, Wash., E. H. Lewis of that city having sent a shipment of 1000 to California. Indications are that the market for pheasant in the northwest is very poor, growers of the birds having to ship their product south for a sale.

The shipment sent by Mr. Benson was kept standing here for 24 hours after being received by the railroad authorities, he declares. Benson states that the long wait is apt to prove harmful to the birds, and that he gave the railway men two weeks' notice that they were to be shipped.

DEMPESEY GETS RID OF KEARNS AS A MANAGER

New York, Aug. 1.—(A. P.)—According to his own admission in a telegram to the New York state athletic commission, Jack Dempsey today is his own manager. "An air mail letter to the board," Dempsey wired, "best explains conditions of clearing up my affairs with Jack Kearns." The telegram also said: "Mr. Kearns knows that hereafter I will act myself for my professional engagements." Dempsey's frank admission of casting Kearns aside after his statement here recently that his manager's contract had still another year to run and his allusion in the telegram to a "lot of money being involved" gave basis for speculation as to whether the heavyweight champion was compelled to "dip deeply in his purse in order to shake off Kearns."

Dempsey declared he had not yet agreed to fight any one but Willis and asked the indulgence of the commission in the matter of his delayed appearance before it, but he failed to set forth his willingness to fight Willis next July 4 as announced by his press agent in Los Angeles.

Official action on the Dempsey case is expected to be taken by the board next Tuesday. If default information showing that steps have been taken to bring about the Willis-Dempsey fight is not present at this meeting the board may vote to recognize Dempsey no longer as champion and order an elimination series for the title.
