GIRL ADOPTED BY BROWNING TRIES SUICIDE

girl, for the sake of my own child, I will work out some other solution. If she is 21, the adoption is, of course, void."

By "his own child," it was assumed he meant Dorothy Sunshine Browning.

Bird S. Coler, commissioner of public welfare announced today that he had an appointment to confer on Monday with an attorney representing Mrs. William St. John of Rye, N. Y., who appealed to the commissioner to have Dorothy Sunshine Browning, returned to her custody. Mrs. St. John was foster--mother of the child, adopted by Browning six years ago.

Two bright eyed girls whom Deward Browning has made happy by showering upon them all the luxuries money could buy were on the verge today of returning to the impoverished surroundings whence they came.

Questioned By Authorities

Questioned for hours yesterday by authorities involving the adoption a few days ago of Mary Louise Spas, the millionaire real estate operator appeared worn and pale. His secretary said that Browning was "trying his level best" to find a way out and hoped to send Mary back to her humble Bohemian parents today, but Mr. Browning later insisted the statement was unauthorized.

Mary was convinced that her coach and four must certainly change back to the ignominous pumpkin. "I want to go home," she said.

Commissioner of Public Welfare Bird S. Coler was also investigating the appeal of Mrs. William St. John of Rye, N. Y., foster mother of Dorothy Sunshine Browning that the child be given back to her. Dorothy, 9, the second Cinderalla adopted by Mr. Browning, has been ill at a summer camp at Crystal Lake, Vt. She was adopted six years ago.

A Flapper Cinderalla

"There is no place for a little girl like Dorothy in a home with a flapper Cinderella," Mrs. St. John said. "And we don't want any money either."

"He dyed the clothes that were on the child's back when he took her from me," she said. "That's what he did, and then you get all this talk about hundred and hundreds of dresses he's bought for her."

She further told investigators from Mr. Coler's office that Mr. Browning handed her a roll of bills when he took Dorothy. When she removed the rubber band from the roll later, she said, she found all $1 bills except the one $5 note which was on the outside.

Letter From Mother

In her letter to Mr. Coler, Mrs. St. John wrote:

"I cannot believe that Mr. Browning is a fit guardian and now this disgusting farce of adopting that young woman. Don't you think there is some cause for taking her (Dorothy) away from him?"

Mr. Coler and District Attorney Newcomb said the investigation would not end even after Mary is sent home. Her parents have been requested to appear for questioning today. Conclusive evidence has been found, Mr. Coler said that she was 21 years old, not 16, as she claimed when adopted or 17 as she admitted yesterday. Certain recommendations had been made to Mr. Browning, the commission said, but he declined to state whether they included giving up Mary.

MOONSHINE CAUSE OF WATER'S FLAVOR

The funny, and sometimes annoying taste of Salem drinking water, which has been laid to a lot of things, has at last been traced to its source. It all originates at the office of Justice of the Peace Brazier Small. Small not only admits it, but boasts about it.

Today Judge Small was discovered pouring 67 quarts of beer and 45 bottles of wine into the sewer, and said that he had been in the habit of doing that for some time. The stuff is so powerful, he says, that it runs backwards and gets into the city reservoirs.

The liquor poured out by Small today was taken from John Burnklaw, who was arrested at Mt. Angel some time ago and fined $100.

KLAN OFFICIALS FREED BY COURT

Denver, Colo., Aug. 8—Dr. John Galen Locke, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Colorado; W. F. Pritts and G. A. Kirkling were freed of charges of kidnaping Keith Boehm, high school student today.

The defendants plea of abatement, quashing the information charging kidnaping, was allowed in district court. The grounds of the plea were that Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the juvenile court had no right to transfer the case to the district court.

The charge grew out of the alleged act of the defendants in forcing Boehm to marry Miss Mae Nash here last December.

The state will appeal the case.

MANDAMUS PORTLAND TO REPAY COLLECTION

Paul Frank of Portland yesterday filed in the supreme court a petition for an alternative writ of mandamus against County Clerk Joseph W. Beveridge of Multnomas county, demanding that he pay Frank $3423.83. The petition shows that on May 20, 1923, the circuit court for Multnomah county entered a judgment in favor of Frank for $6014 against John Mattiessen. The execution was issued and the sheriff recovered $3423.83 which he turned over to the county clerk. Frank alleges that the county clerk refused to turn it over to him. While it is not shown in the petition, it is presumed that the county clerk's reason for refusing to turn the money over to Frank was that the case was to be appealed to the supreme court. The appeal, however, has not yet been perfected.

KLAN HOLD BIG PARADE AT CAPITAL

Extra policemen were stationed two or three to the block along the parade route and a guard of marines patrolled the treasury, as is customary during unusual public gatherings. As a further precaution all police reserves in the city were held on duty at their precinct police stations.

Klan sentinels also were posted along the route at frequent intervals. Most of them stood silently on the sidewalks. By the time the parade was underway the spectators were ranged six to eight deep throughout the mile stretch from the capitol to the treasury with larger crowds at favored places.

Washington, Aug. 8.—(A. P.)—The national capital was thronged with Ku Klux Klansmen today and Pennsylvania avenue was roped off for a parade of robed and hooded ranks in which klan leaders expect fifty thousand would march from the capitol to the White House.

Beginning in the early hours of the day, special trains rolled in to add thousands to the influx which set in yesterday. Dusty motor caravans brought in other hundreds to participate in the demonstration which will continue throughout tomorrow night.

Capital police on duty in full force, were under orders to clear Pennsylvania avenue of all traffic 30 minutes before the scheduled start of the parade at 3 p. m. White robed women and children, families of the visiting klansmen, will match strides with their men folk in the parade, with a flank of policemen keeping step.

No Masks Worn.

No masks will be worn by the paraders.

"Keep your eyes on the person in front of you," were final instructions issued to the marchers by klan officials today in cooperating with police precautions against any chance of disorder. Leaders among the large negro element in Washington have given assurance to Police Inspector Grant that members of the race have been cautioned against letting any responsibility for possible disorder rest upon them and pastors have added a word of caution in their sermons. The police force, strategically assigned to watch the day's activities expects no disorder. But it is prepared to squelch the first sign of it.

Breaking of ranks after the parade which if the predicted number materialize will continue well into the night, the visitors will gather in the Sylvan theater in the Mall to hear addresses by klan leaders.

Negroes Refuse to Play

Amplifiers have been erected to throw the voices over a wide expanse of grounds surrounding the Washington monument.

Klan officials have been unsuccessful in their efforts to obtain the service of a negro band to swell the chorus of their own in the parade.

As the parade hour approached Thomas Lavaunt, who was arrested but later released yesterday after distributing handbills assailing the klan announced that he would make a last minute effort to stop the parade by seeking injunction against it.

The visitors will wind up their program tomorrow night with the burning of a fiery cross. An 80-foot tree with a cross piece 30 feet long, oil-soaked for the occasion will provide the spectacle.
