H. S. Bowen is visiting Salem. A pupil of his sister, Mrs. J. T. Anderson, of Moore's apartments, Mr. Bowen is a clothing merchant of Baker and motored to Salem Sunday, making the trip in a day. Like all Baker people he is very enthusiastic about the copper developments in that district. The copper mine of the region, lying about 23 miles from Baker and extending in a northwesterly direction, he declares are the greatest in the world, and carry enough gold and silver with the copper to pay all running expenses. This gives the Baker advance over all competing mines elsewhere. Experts from many places have pronounced the showing phenomenal and it is estimated that the industry will make Baker a bigger city than Battle Mountain.

FOREST STUDY PLAN SUCCESS SAYS GREELEY

Rapid strides, and a work that is highly valuable to the forest industries, are being accomplished by the Pacific Northwest forest experiment station, which United States Senator McNary was largely instrumental in having established.

The office quarters are in Portland in the Lewis building, T. T. Munger, long associated with forest investigations in the northwest, has been appointed director, and has a staff of experienced men.

"The station is now starting upon its second year, and its first full season of field work," writes Colonel Greeley. "Since the end of March the time of practically the entire force has been spent in the woods—the forester's laboratory where most of the forest problems must be studied. Aside from the year long forest eight forestry school boys who have just graduated or who are temporarily out of school have been employed as assistants for the field season."

"To determine what lines of investigation should be considered by the new station, an investigative committee was formed in the national forest district organization composed of members of the forest service and some cooperating agencies. The committee then recommended to us the program which was approved. This investigative committee within the forest service will be a permanent organization, but to make certain that the advice of the private timberland owners and operators, or of those interested in forest work is obtained, it is planned to ask the secretary of agriculture to appoint a research advisory committee of representative interests. This advisory committee should consider the research program of the station in connection with similar work elsewhere so as to correlate all forest research in the region and to make certain that the field is covered adequately."

Colonel Greeley gives in detail the program of the station as adopted for this year.

MAN DRINKS ACID BEFORE FIRING SHOT

stantly following the shot, for the bullet passed entirely through his brain, nearly passing through the skin an inch behind his left temple.

Action Deliberate

The entire incident shows every sign of having been deliberately and intelligently planned. His clothes had been severed of every mark of identification. Investigation at his room late this morning revealed that his clothes there had also been cut to conceal the man's identity. A laundry mark on a handkerchief he was carrying, thought to be a clue, proved not to be a mark of any Salem laundry.

A few further clues were being run down by police this afternoon, but it was thought that he would have given the same name to everyone with whom he had dealings in the city.

It was only by accident that the body was discovered. Joe Kallstrom of Salem going to cut some willows and happened to reach the corpse. The county coroner and police department were immediately notified.

Burned By Acid

He was severely burned about the mouth by the lye. Decomposition of the body had already set in when it was removed to the office of the coroner. The pistol was still held in the man's hand when the corpse was found.

Inquiries at the Eldridge hotel, where the man had a room, brought to light a few facts concerning him. He had told Mrs. E. L. Van Allen, who has charge of the hotel, that he had one son living in San Francisco. He had told Mrs. J. C. Colvin, Mrs. Van Allen's niece, that his son at San Francisco is married and has two children. No names were mentioned.

Sullivan, the only name by which the suicide was known in Salem, was described as an intelligent man, and pleasant except for his seemingly morose mood. He stated that he was a butcher.

He had never made mention of his wife.

He was first missed from the hotel the night of last Friday, the same evening that a shot was heard by residents near the spot where the tragedy occurred. His absence was particularly noticeable due to the fact that he had been a man of regular habits, and had never stayed away from his room at night.

Sullivan was a man measuring 6 feet 7 inches in height. He had iron gray, wavy hair. Nearly all of his upper back teeth were missing. He had bluish brown eyes, and wore a black suit of clothes and black shoes.

60 RAINLESS DAYS MARKED UP ON RECORD

A drop of moisture with the exception of traces, not entering into official complications, on June 13 and June 21st. With an official prediction by the weather man that the weather will continue fair, little hope is held for an immediate break in the dry spell.

Between 1911 and the present year the nearest approach to the record established this summer occurred in 1922, when there was no rain between June 22 and August 11.

So far as temperature is concerned, with a new record reached in June and the high mark for August already only two short of a new mark, it is declared that there has never been a period in the history of Salem with such sustained heat. The high mark of the year came on June 24, with a maximum of 100 on that day, the former June record of 98 was smashed, and a record of 98 was not been equalled again this year.

The second hottest day came on June 25, with a maximum of 99. The third hottest day came Saturday, with its maximum of 97.

There have been 14 days this summer when the mercury climbed up into the nineties. The days were at no particular period, but scattered here and there through the season.

Eugene, Or., Aug. 10.—Though smoke and haze still hung over Eugene today, there was relief from the oppressive heat of the past three days. Yesterday the maximum temperature was 93 degrees, but the atmosphere was sticky and dense.

Today there are clouds to aid, and it is much cooler, though there is some indication that the sun may break through. This is the 58th day without rain here.

Turns On Browning

When Mr. Browning made up his mind she must leave Saturday night, Mary and her maids were sent to the home of Robert H. Lunnet to escape publicity. Mr. Browning said the "literary agent" found her there.

"He's my best friend," Mary said of the agent. "The world has been making me suffer and now I'm going to get even and make them suffer. I haven't any money, but (pointing to Mr. Browning), I will fight him."

The disillusioned fairy godfather was not so resigned about attempt to take little Dorothy Sunshine from him. Byrd S. Coler, commissioner of public welfare, was to confer today with Dorothy's foster mother, Mrs. Anna St. John of Rye, N. Y., who had complained that Browning's adoption of a 21 year old girl was evidence that he was not a fit guardian for Dorothy.

FIGHTER FLEES ON EVE OF BOUT

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The unexplained disappearance of Billy Wells, English welterweight champion, who was to have met Mickey Walker, world's champion, in a 10-round go at East Chicago, Ind., tonight, will be taken before the New York and California boxing commissions in an effort to have Wells barred, his manager, Charles Harvey, said today.

James Muller, promoter of the contest, called Wells' disappearance "a plain case of run-out" as he called off the contest, declining to name a substitute and directed the return of advance receipts of $30,000 to ticket purchasers. Wells' $500 for forfeit was claimed by Walker.

Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, was angry at the cancellations, asserting that he was willing to send the champion against any available substitute and that he would hold Hollen responsible for Walker's guarantee of $10,000.

Little green timber was damaged by this fire.

Haze Obscures Fires

Eugene, Ore., Aug. 10.—Haze which hung low and dense over the forest areas of Lane county yesterday prevented all determination of location of fires by lookouts, according to information at the headquarters of the Cascade and Siuslaw national forests. Lookouts were unable to see very little and could distinguish no fires as far as their vision carried, it was said.

One of the forest air patrol planes stationed here hopped off yesterday for a trip over the district but the pilot was unable to get above the smoke and returned to the landing field to report to be unable to get fire information until smoke clears more than at present.
